Hall of the House of Representatives
Des Moines, Iowa, Monday, January 9, 1967

Pursuant to the law, the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly of Iowa convened at 10:00 a.m., Monday, January 9, 1967.

The House was called to order by the Honorable Ray C. Cunningham from Story County.

The following prayer was offered by the Reverend Richard B. Emery, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, Oelwein, Iowa:

O Eternal God, we beseech Thee to bless this House on this day of new beginnings. Bless the men and women whom Thou hast chosen to serve their community in this State.

Give to them courage with wisdom, convictions which evidence intelligence and faith in the democratic process.

Save them from restricted vision, parochial self-interest and undue consideration of limited interests.

Enlarge their goals that they may seek the best interest of the citizens of this state.

Grant that the laws which are inaugurated may not compound the complexity of life - but may free the spirit of man to achieve Thy will.

Grace this House with Thy presence now and through all its days of labor. In the name of Christ. Amen.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Wood of Scott presented the name of the Honorable Maurice E. Baringer of Fayette County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

Mr. Chairman:

I place in nomination for Speaker of the Iowa House of Representatives the name of Maurice E. Baringer from Fayette County. Our fourth estate has communicated to you the many qualifications of this man, and I do not propose to burden you with matters which may properly be considered as common knowledge. This is also my way of emphasizing a single conviction which I consider important.

You see, it is my belief that this man, by giving the best of himself, can obtain from us the best that is in ourselves - and this shall be our mutual gift to the Great State of Iowa.

Miller of Page seconded the nomination of Maurice E. Baringer for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is my honor and privilege at this time to second the nomination of the Honorable Maurice Baringer of Fayette County for the office of Speaker of the House of the Sixty-second General Assembly of the Great State of Iowa.

Mr. Baringer has had eighteen years experience in the commercial feed industry in Iowa and is director of nutrition of Occo Feeds, Oelwein, Iowa. He is a director and past president of the National Feed Ingredients Association. He has served three sessions and one special session as a member of this honorable body. He is well qualified and I have always found him to be industrious, an excellent organizer and extremely fair, with a broad understanding and knowledge of the many state problems. I therefore consider it a great honor to second the nomination of the Honorable Mr. Maurice Baringer of Fayette County, Iowa, as your Speaker of the House of Representatives for the Sixty-second General Assembly.

Gannon of Jasper seconded the nomination and moved that the Acting Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly for the Honorable Maurice E. Baringer as Speaker of the House.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Acting Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable Maurice E. Baringer as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly. The Honorable Maurice E. Baringer of Fayette County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

Vetter of Washington moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Vetter of Washington and Langland of Winneshiek.

PRESENTATION OF SPEAKER

The Honorable Maurice E. Baringer was escorted to the Speaker's station and, upon being sworn by the Acting Chief Clerk, assumed the chair. Temporary Speaker Cunningham presented Speaker Baringer with the gavel, and congratulated him on his unanimous election. Speaker Baringer thanked the House for the honor bestowed upon him and offered the following remarks:

Of all that is good, Iowa truly does afford the best. You represent all the people of Iowa, each one of you. They have placed in your hands for two years the Iowa portion of their American heritage. Husband it well.

With each of the two major political parties in control of one of the houses of this General Assembly, we have a unique opportunity to build a base for Iowa growth and development. We also have an opportunity to fail dismally if we become mired down in a partisan struggle for selfish political advantage.

A study of history shows that good government is good politics. If we legislate well, the people of Iowa will respond in kind.

We will make mistakes. The only ones who don't make mistakes are those who do nothing. These, too, the people will let us know about, as they have in the past.

We must use the committee system if we are to handle the legislation that is proposed. All 124 members cannot possibly study in detail each bill and resolution.

If we could, we would work as a committee of the whole. Each member must concentrate his efforts in the areas of his committee assignments, particularly during these first few weeks, but not to the neglect of all other legislation.

I suggest that members who have time available attend as many committee meetings as possible as observers. You may soon find little time left to do this and still meet your own work schedule.

I will not review here the legislation to be considered. You know the issues fully as well as I.

I pledge to you a full measure of the leadership and responsibility you have entrusted to me. I do not expect you to agree with me all of the time, but I hope you will find me always willing to listen to reason and my decisions fair.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Hicklin of Louisa placed in nomination the Honorable Lester L. Kluever of Cass County as candidate for Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly, preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

The man that I am about to nominate as Speaker Pro Tempore is no stranger to most of us, and a long time personal acquaintance of mine.

He is a graduate of the S. U. I. School of Business Administration, and graduate of S. U. I. Law School.

He is a veteran of World War II and a veteran of this House of Representatives where he is commencing his 6th term.

He is a practicing lawyer in Atlantic, Iowa, of unquestionable integrity and well qualified for the position to be served.

It is with great personal pleasure and high honor that I place in nomination the Honorable Lester L. Kluever of Cass County for the office of Speaker Pro Tempore of this House of Representatives for the 62nd General Assembly.

Nielsen of Shelby seconded the nomination of Lester L. Kluever as Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

Mr. Speaker:

It is my honor to second the nomination of Lester Kluever of Cass County for Speaker Pro Tempore.

Mr. Kluever has served in five sessions and the 60th Extra session of the General Assembly.

He has served as chairman of the elections and political and judicial districts, judiciary 2, and state planning and development committees of the House.

He is co-operative and has the best interests of his community and the state of Iowa at heart.

I therefore second the nomination of Lester Kluever for Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives.

Gannon of Jasper seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly for the Honorable Lester L. Kluever as Speaker Pro Tempore of the House.

Kluever as Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly. The Honorable Lester L. Kluever of Cass County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

Moffitt of Appanoose moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the Speaker Pro Tempore to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed:

Moffitt of Appanoose and Shaw of Scott.

Mr. Kluever was escorted to the chair and, after taking the oath of office, offered the following remarks:

Ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, my remarks will be brief. After the fine remarks of our Speaker, whatever I say would be anticlimactic. Our Speaker can direct and lead, but it takes the work and cooperation of each and every one of you in order to resolve the problems and issues that will be before us.

We come from different communities and have different backgrounds, education and business interests. This makes for an outstanding House of Representatives. It also means that we will not think alike and agree on everything. If we did all agree on everything, the Session would be short but the legislation probably would be inferior. The best legislation is a result of a full discussion of the differing viewpoints, and thus contains the best thinking of everyone.

We have the responsibility to resolve the issues and problems before us. With the full co-operation of each and every one of us and a lot of hard work, I am sure the Sixty-second General Assembly will be the best ever. Thank you.

Hanson of Mitchell offered the following resolution, asked and received unanimous consent for its immediate consideration, and moved its adoption:

STATE-OF-THE-STATE-MESSAGE of the

Sixty-Second General Assembly

HONORABLE HAROLD E. HUGHES, GOVERNOR OF IOWA

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-Second General Assembly:

Article IV, Section 12 of the Constitution of the State of Iowa specifies as one of the duties of the Chief Executive that "he shall communicate, by message, to the General Assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient."

This message, traditionally known as the "State of the State" message, affords me a welcome opportunity at this early hour of the session to welcome the new members of the General Assembly and to renew my friendship with those of you who have served before.

With three major messages scheduled within a period of a few days, I must warn you that you are in for a heavy diet of gubernatorial speech-making concentrated in a short space of time. It is something like the marathon of televised bowl games on New Year's Day -- only without the compensating glamor.

There is, of course, good reason for transmitting these three messages -- the State of the State, the Inaugural and the Budget Message -- to you as soon as possible after the session convenes. Our legislative process, by its nature, calls for clear and timely communication between the Executive Department and the General Assembly. Taken together, the three messages really comprise one comprehensive report on the activities of state government in the biennium drawing to a close, together with recommendations for future action.

Communication in public affairs, especially between the three branches of government, is always important but seldom easy. It is like the difficulty we all have these days in communicating with the younger generation. I think of the father who said to his son who was departing for a party; "Have a good time, son." The boy answered; "Don't tell me what to do."

No one appreciates more fully than I do the magnitude and the volume of the tasks you have ahead of you in this Sixty-Second Session of the Iowa Legislature. I applaud your obvious determination to get at the mainline chores with the least possible delay, and I pledge to you my full, friendly and continuing cooperation throughout the session.

The scope of the state government is unbelievably vast and far-flung. I could not conceivably cover every phase of the state's activities in any three speeches of finite length, nor will it be possible to discuss the operation of any of the various departments in depth. The intent will be to give you a reasonably objective overview of the position of the state today, the distance we have traveled in the past two years and the problems that lie ahead.

At best, the three messages will of necessity be lengthy because of the sheer volume of the subjects to be touched upon. For reasons of mercy and good sense, I will be as brief as possible.

I am sure that every Governor who has delivered a State of the State message has asked himself these questions: "What are the precise ingredients that determine the 'state of the state' at any given time in history? How can we define it or measure it?"

Clearly the state of the state is more than the balance in the state treasury or the condition of the state's economy, although these factors are of obvious importance. We know that the quality of the services that the state provides in meeting many kinds of human needs is a relevant factor. These services that contribute to our health, security, equality of opportunity and general well-being have a lot to do with the state of our state. But beyond these factors, there is an intangible quotient that is an essential determinant of the true state of the state.

I refer to the spiritual temper of the people -- their morale, their idealism, their receptiveness to new ideas, their commitment to progress, their concern for their fellow man, their faith in the future, and their willingness to contribute to, as well as to benefit from, the blessings of a free society.

On the basis of these criteria, both qualitative as well as quantitative, I believe the state of our state as of January 10, 1967, is one of robust good health and glowing promise for the future.

Iowans of all walks of life, of all creeds and political faith, have a right to be proud of the breakthroughs for better government and a better society that have been achieved in the past few years.

The credit for this phenomenal advancement belongs to no individual or group, but to the people of Iowa.

As a people, we have a right to count our blessings and to savor the good things we have in Iowa today.

Our appreciation of what we have should not, in any sense, blind us to the imperfections that still exist in our society and in our government or lead us into minimizing the great problems that remain before us. As a matter of fact, the very fact that we have made progress brings with it ever greater problems to be met and more exacting work to be done.

But I have faith that the zest of achievement we have tasted in recent years and the comparative well-being we are enjoying today will strengthen us to go on to greater goals for the benefit of generations of Iowans to come.

This is the substance of the message that I bring to you today.

IOWA'S ECONOMIC AWAKENING

Man does not live by bread alone, but he also doesn't live very long -- or at least very well -- without it. It is therefore fitting, as well as customary, to begin a report on the state of the state with some reference to the state's economy and the current fiscal position of the state government.

As we all know, the nation as a whole has been experiencing a record run of economic growth that has been fueled to a large extent by the heavy expenditures for national defense and by the inflationary spiral. It is natural that economic conditions in Iowa would reflect this national trend.

However, even when considered in the context of the nation's expanding economy, the special dynamism of Iowa's economic development has been something for the record books. By comparison with the states around us, the national average, and especially by comparison with our own past, the vitality of our economic growth has been phenomenal.

In 1965, Iowa's rate of increase in personal income was 11.9 per cent as compared with the increase for the nation of 6.5 per cent. In the early months of 1966, Iowa led all of the states in the rate of gain in per capita income. For the entire year of 1966, our increase was 9.4 per cent, while the nation as whole was showing a 7.5 per cent increase.

It is now predicted that Iowa's per capita income for 1966 will exceed the national average, or at least equal it, for the first time in nearly two decades.

Iowa's rate of economic growth, as measured by state revenue figures in the Midwest, has run well ahead of the states around us.

Our renowned agriculture, our productive labor force, our constantly expanding manufacturing, our high literacy rate and our high standards of education -- all of these have contributed to the development gains of the past two years.

Agriculture has shown its muscle as Iowa's basic industry in this period, as it has throughout our history. The upturn in farm income was the most important single factor in the remarkable growth of our economy.

Total net farm income in 1965 was 46 per cent over that of 1964. Although the official estimates on 1966 net farm income have not yet been released, a further substantial increase is foreseen.

The Iowa farmer, the world's finest producer of food and fiber, carved new records for agricultural production in the two-year period. In 1966, he produced the greatest corn crop in history and his greatest soybean harvest. Once again, Iowa leads the nation in total corn production and in average yield per acre.

I might point out that one of the results of this outstanding production of agricultural products is that the average American housewife spends only 18 per cent of her husband's paycheck for food -- the lowest percentage of any country in the world!

Farm production steadily increased despite the decrease in the number of workers directly employed in agricultural operations. But the importance of farming to Iowa's industrial development may be seen by the fact that more than half of the total labor force were employed in enterprises related to agriculture. Food processing and other industries dependent upon agriculture account for a large part of Iowa's growing industrial strength.

One of the most promising phases of Iowa's agricultural development in the past two years was the growth in the export of farm and farm-related products. Iowa led the states in this area in total exports of farm commodities in 1965 with a total volume of $430 million.

Industrial development, so essential to providing the requisite-balance in our economy, moved forward in Iowa in 1965 and 1966 at an unprecedented pace. A total of 600 industrial developments were registered in the two year period, including new industries, branch plants and expansions of existing industry, the last-named being the most important element of our industrial growth. We can count nearly 27,000 new job opportunities created by these developments, a total of investment of more than $446 million and new payrolls exceeding $162 million.

Iowa experienced in 1966 the fourth consecutive year in which all previous records were shattered for industrial developments, for new jobs created and for capital investments in plants and equipment.

Some idea of the growing pace of our industrial growth may be seen from a comparison of the 1965 and 1966 figures. In 1966, the number of developments was 312, as compared to 288 in 1965; the total of new jobs created was 15,466, compared to 11,534 in the previous year, and the total capital investment was $237 million -- $27 million more than in 1965.

Major credit for promoting this industrial growth should go to the Iowa Development Commission and to many groups and individuals, working at both state and local levels in cooperation with the commission. Among these are some 250 local development commissions, city councils, chambers of commerce, county boards of supervisors, and area development committees. Credit should also go to our universities, to farm and labor organizations, to existing industries in the state, and to the financial and business leaders who serve on the state Economic Advisory Council. Finally, credit should be given to the General Assembly for enacting wise and workable legislation to provide the development groups with needed tools for industrial development.

Because Iowa consistently produces more than its nearly three million residents can consume or use, export to other states and to other nations is vital to our manufacturing industry as well as to our agriculture. Under the sponsorship of the Iowa Development Commission, successful trade missions to Europe and to the Far East were undertaken by leading Iowa citizens in the fields of industry, commerce, agriculture and finance. More than 10 million dollars in sales of Iowa products resulted from these missions, and valuable contacts were established for future sales.

In this country, hundreds of business and financial leaders in New York, San Francisco, the Twin Cities and Chicago were made aware of Iowa's many assets by civic-minded Iowa businessmen who participated in the Development Commission's "Sell Iowa" trips to those centers of commerce.

The impact of the "Sell Iowa" trips and the foreign Trade Missions continues to be felt. But perhaps their greatest value was to dramatize the assets and potentials of Iowa to our own people. We had to discover the image of the New Iowa in our own hearts before we could project it to the rest of the world.

In the last biennium, a tourism division was established in the Development Commission to organize tourism promotional activities on a state-wide basis and to acquaint residents of other areas with the scenic, historic and recreational attractions of our state. Encouraging progress has been made in organizing regional associations to promote the travel industry in conjunction with the Iowa Development Commission and in making the state tourism-conscious. Tourism surveys made for the Commission in 1966 estimated that tourist traffic brought in more than $380 million in income to the state's travel-related businesses.

Strong cases have been made through the Development Commission and the state universities to persuade the U. S. government to locate certain important installations in Iowa.

The planning division of the Commission worked with some 250 Iowa cities and towns, counties and metropolitan areas in comprehensive planning programs. Research and feasibility studies were conducted under the Commission's program for agricultural products utilization on such subjects as the future of the meat packing industry in the state, the possibility of establishing a meat irradiation industry within our borders and the potential for soybean processing plants in various locations.

Manufacturing employment in Iowa reached an average of 200,000 per month for the first time in 1966. This was the fifth successive year to show an increase in non-farm employment. The total work force in the state rose to an average of 1,150,000.

FISCAL CONDITION OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT

The dramatic economic growth of the state during the past two years is reflected in the strong current fiscal condition of the state government. At the end of the present biennium, on June 30, 1967, it is estimated that there will be an unencumbered balance in the state treasury in excess of $80 million.

While part of this surplus is accounted for by the collection of two years' individual income taxes in one year under the new state withholding system and certain other non-recurring revenues, the big factor was economic growth. The growth rates in sales and income tax revenues proved to be far in excess of what had been expected.

State finances will, of course, be discussed in greater detail in my Budget Message next week. In the meantime, suffice it to say that we have continued our tradition of sound, pay-as-you-go, virtually debt-free state government operation during the past two years and the present financial position of the state is strong by any measure you can take. It is well that it should be. Those who consider our present surplus an embarrassment of riches have not yet had the opportunity to try to balance our substantial revenues against our compelling needs for the future.

As the state has progressed economically and otherwise, so have its vital public needs. Such is the price of progress and most of us would agree that it is worth it.

In terms of economic growth and industrial development, Iowa is on the move in dramatic fashion, with excellent prospects for the continuation of these healthy trends.

ADMINISTRATION

The administration of the elective state offices--the Treasurer, the Auditor, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Agriculture and the Attorney General--was marked by significant organizational changes within the departments and by the effort to provide a wider range of services to the political subdivisions over which these offices have regulatory powers.

The Treasurer instituted an orderly program for the investment of public funds and engaged a professional investment consultant to head this new division. A substantial increase in the interest earnings of the state has resulted.

The Treasurer also reorganized the fuel tax collection division for greater efficiency, another move that resulted in increased state revenues.

The Auditor's office instituted changes in accounting procedures, engaged certified public accountants as division heads in the department, and pointed the way to local governments to make better use of their funds.

In the Department of Agriculture, a strong meat inspection program was instituted; a Dairy Trade Practices Act was put into operation; enforcement of accurate weight and measures at both consumer and wholesale levels was accelerated; and registration of brands for livestock under the new state branding law was initiated, to name only a few of the activities of this department in the past two years.

Office procedures in the office of Secretary of State were streamlined and the filing system modernized.

The newly established Consumer Protection Division in the office of the Attorney General was an innovation in Iowa that was watched by other states as a standard to follow. More than 500 complaints have been processed by this new division during the past two years.

In addition to the established functions of the Governor's office in the past two years, three massive and historic studies were undertaken under the direction of this office, pursuant to acts of the General Assembly.

These were the State Government Reorganization Study, the State Tax Study, and the design study for the development of a long-range, comprehensive state plan. These matters will all be the subjects of further communication from me to the General Assembly.

A $200,000 federal grant has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to get this comprehensive planning program under way.

An office of state planning has been created to implement the preliminary stages of this large undertaking and we have been fortunate in securing the services of a qualified director to head the operation.

The decisions that relate to the operation of State Government have become increasingly complex and will require informed, long-range planning for the future. The new planning agency will be able to provide all branches of the State Government with the kind of accurate, in-depth information on which such far-reaching decisions should be based.

One of the forward-looking acts of the last General Assembly was to provide for the entire Code of Iowa to be placed on magnetic tape for use in computer operations. This means that the Code can be searched for existing legislation in a matter of minutes--even seconds--so that legislation can be properly drafted without omissions or inconsistencies. This innovation will greatly assist the Legislature and will simplify the work of the Legislative Research Bureau and Code Editor.

A number of physical improvements have been made or commenced in the State Office Building complex to provide desperately needed space for more efficient government operation.

A new state office building is under construction at this time. Departments that formerly occupied office space on the second and third floors of the Capitol building have been moved to make this space available for the Legislature. Rear entrance rooms have been provided in both Legislative Chambers in areas formerly used as cloak rooms. Space behind the third floor on both sides has been used for the installation of elevators for members of both Houses.

Other long-needed improvements in the Capitol Building are completed for in process. The Governor's Office space has been expanded through remodeling; steam and water pipes have been replaced; the interior of the Capitol dome has been repainted and repaired, and Phase I of the Capitol air conditioning system has been submitted for bids.

The Personnel Office was strengthened, and a new pay and classification plan for state employees was instituted in July of 1965. The new plan, based on information from questionnaires submitted to state agencies, resulted in the reduction of many job titles and salary ranges. A salary increase for state employees, consisting of an adjustment to the next higher step, plus an additional step, was also instituted.

One of the significant developments in the past two years was the creation of the position of Coordinator of Federal Funds to work initially under the State Comptroller. Millions of dollars in grants-in-aid programs are received annually by various departments of the State Government. The function of the Coordinator is to see that the State is properly accepting and taking part in those programs which meet the State's needs, and to provide information and assistance to local government units regarding federal projects. The Coordinator of Federal Funds ultimately will be an integral part of the state planning process.

COMMERCE COMMISSION

The newest division of the Iowa State Commerce Commission, the Public Utilities Division, has had a busy and constructive schedule in carrying out its responsibilities to regulate public utilities in the State.

Although no formal rate case has yet come to hearing before the Utilities Division, the influence of the Commission and the Legislation that created it have had an obvious and beneficial effect on utility operation in the State so far as the consumers are concerned.

In the past two years, more than $8 million has been saved Iowa consumers through reductions in rates and additional refunds from privately owned gas, electric and telephone companies. Two years ago, this figure was $5,982,423 and at the end of the most recent two-year period, it was $8,154,390. This adds up to a total of $14,136,813 since the Utilities Division was established in 1963.

STATE TAX COMMISSION

The Iowa State Tax Commission was faced with some new problems in the two-year period just concluded as a result of the institution of the withholding system for the individual State Income Tax. Withholding schedules and other policies were worked out with the benefit of the counsel of an advisory committee composed of representatives from various industrial and professional groups and from the universities.

The Commission has utilized a central bank deposit system to insure that withholding receipts received from the withholding agents are deposited the same day they are received. Iowa is the leader in this field. This has made it possible for the State to earn more interest on its deposits in the General Fund and has been beneficial to the remitter in having checks cancelled and returned promptly.

The withholding system has not only increased state revenue, but it has better equalized the tax burden by compelling former non-filers to pay their fair share of Iowa's taxes.

The Tax Commission is presently operating at a cost-of-collection ratio of approximately 1.5 per cent, which is one of the best ratios among the states.

Through combined efforts of the Tax Commission, local assessors and others, real estate valuation between the counties and cities, while not perfect, is better equalized than at any other time in the history of Iowa.

Constructive steps have been taken towards the more efficient equalization of industrial property assessments. The 1965 Legislature provided funds for the employment of a professional staff to deal with this problem. This staff has been hired and the program is well under way.

In-service training has been strongly emphasized in all major divisions of the Tax Commission. For training purposes, the Tax Commission has made use of various schools conducted by the University of Iowa, Iowa State University and night school classes conducted by the Des Moines Adult Education Department.

PUBLIC SAFETY

In the last two years, the Department of Public Safety has leveled an intensive attack against the rising personal injury, death and property damage on our streets and highways.

New laws enacted by the Sixty-first General Assembly which require driver education for most new drivers, establish the temporary drivers permit, prohibit drag racing, require installation of seat belts, and authorized reflectorized license plates for safety and identification purposes, have been put into effect. An increase of 100 highway patrolmen has provided 24-hour enforcement on Iowa's expansive interstate system and better service to the public in other important areas.

Iowa has been actively participating in the Vehicle Equipment Safety Compact and the Drivers License Compact. This provides for sharing of driver records by states and assures that a violator's record will count, regardless of where the violation occurred.

Enforcement, engineering, education, efficient administration of licensing laws, and continuing cooperation between state and local authorities remain the guideposts to traffic safety. Cooperation with the Highway Commission and the county engineers has assured the efficient collection and sharing of data processing information for accident investigation and evaluation. The Public Safety Department and the Iowa Medical Society have established a medical advisory board for reviewing physical and mental incompetencies of drivers. Community conferences and the Governor's Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee have continued as important tools in the safety program, and an effective Women's Traffic Conference has been formulated.

Preventive education has been a key in Public Safety's fight against crime, fire, and traffic problems. The Highway Patrol has formed a new arm of uniformed safety officers who are working with schools, private groups and organizations to augment our existing safety education program.

The Fire Marshal, with additional inspectors has contributed toward a more effective fire prevention program and has assured up-to-date school and nursing home inspection. In every public contact, the agents of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation has emphasized the prevention of crime, rather than exclusive emphasis on enforcement.

As constitutional court decisions have become more restrictive in regard to the taking of verbal testimony, the need for proper collection and preservation of physical evidence has become more obvious. The Bureau of Criminal Investigation has equipped a mobile crime laboratory which will allow quick and efficient processing of evidence at the scene of the crime.

Iowa has one of the most advanced and comprehensive programs of traffic safety among the states. Notwithstanding this fact, as the explosive increase in traffic on our highways continues, the traffic accident toll continues to mount with it. The crisis is the same in other states.

We are convinced that there is no single, magic formula for traffic safety. We must continue using all of the proven methods we have been using in enforcement, safety education and modern traffic engineering. And then we must seek new approaches to add and redouble our efforts on all fronts.

EDUCATION

One of the outstanding characteristics of Iowans as a people is their determination to provide the finest in education at all levels for our children and youth. The last session of the General Assembly appropriated far more funds than ever before in history for public schools and our state institutions of higher learning. It is clear that substantially more will be needed in the years ahead to meet our growing needs.

When I delivered the State of the State message two years ago, there were about 1,100 elementary and secondary school districts in the state. Today there are about 500, and almost all of the school districts are attached to high schools. The high schools of the state, I would venture to say, are twice as good as they were ten years ago, and many are perhaps better than that. Our rural youth are beginning to get an even opportunity for quality education with their urban cousins, and we must continue to work to this end.

In addition to advancements made in our public school system in school organization, teaching standards and modern facilities, significant progress was made in various types of special education offered by the state.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the Department of Public Instruction, for example, placed 77 per cent more handicapped people in jobs successfully this past year than in the preceding year.

We now have 15 multi-county districts organized for Area Vocational Schools and Area Community Colleges. Of the 15, ten are now approved to operate community colleges and five to operate vocational-technical schools. Fourteen merged areas have appointed their superintendents. It will be seen from this that we have entered a new era of post-high school education in Iowa.

One of the important needs of our time, as I see it, is to provide means for young people who want to attend college and are qualified for higher education but who lack the means.

The last session of the Legislature took a commendable step towards meeting this need by providing $500,000 for scholarships. A substantial increase will be requested of this session to keep this valuable program going. These state scholarships are administered through the Higher Education Facilities Commission, a highly qualified body made up of public and private school administrators.

During the past two years, 11,791 young people have received degrees from our three state institutions of higher learning. These included an impressive number of master's degrees and Ph.D.'s, as well as professional degrees in such fields as medicine, law, veterinary medicine and dentistry.

In this same two-year period, twelve major academic buildings have been started on the campuses of these three institutions under the Board of Regents. Many other major buildings are under construction, including dormitory facilities to accommodate more than 4,000 students.

In appraising our facilities, present and future, for higher education in Iowa, consideration should be given to the important role of our private colleges and universities in the overall picture.

The total of students in the three state institutions this year is about 40,000. The total number of students in all institutions of higher education is about 100,000. It may well reach as many as 150,000 by 1980.

This poses serious questions for the future if we are to sustain our objective of providing reasonably priced higher education for all of those students who are qualified for it.

There are many other activities along educational and cultural lines that have been initiated in Iowa in the past two years. Under Title I of the Higher Education Act, a series of educational programs to energize community action in various public categories has been commenced in the past year. Under these programs, the educational resources of our public and private universities are put to work to assist local governments and civic groups.

In an area of education which benefits all of our people, the government has established a State Arts Council. The Council is currently funded with federal money to make surveys of the arts and to prepare a state plan for the arts in Iowa. As I have stated before, the development that Iowa is experiencing these days is intellectual and cultural as well as economic.

TRANSPORTATION

The past two years have been a period of unprecedented achievement for the Iowa State Highway Commission on all of its far-flung fronts. The most spectacular single accomplishment was the completion and opening to traffic of 100.4 miles of Interstate highway, bringing the total mileage in Iowa to 426 miles. It is now possible to cross Iowa from east to west on the Interstate and this is the longest continuous stretch of completed Interstate construction in the country. With approximately 60 per cent of its Interstate completed, Iowa is at the forefront among the states in percentage completed.

An analysis of the 1966 non-interstate construction program showed that 65 per cent of the construction expenditure is directly attributable to improved safety. This is as it should be considering the rising toll of traffic accidents on all of the nation's roadways. Safety construction work included elimination of curves, improved passing opportunity, widened bridges, better intersections including lighting and signing, wider shoulders and so on.

During the past two years, 189 miles of 18-foot-wide pavement on Iowa's primary system was reconstructed or replaced. A total of 249 narrow bridges were replaced or widened, and it is proposed to replace or widen 415 more during the next five years. During 1965 and 1966, 19 rural primary intersections were relighted for safety and 130 will be taken care of during the next four years.

In addition, the Highway Commission is augmenting our Interstate system with urban freeway systems to aid the flow of traffic in our important centers of commerce and metropolitan areas. Studies are now under way on an expanded expressway system to upgrade at least 1,240 miles of existing primary road to four-lane expressway standards.

The Highway Commission has engaged a professional administrator as chief executive, and the Commission has recently effected a top-level realignment of personnel to achieve greater efficiency of this most vital state agency.

As our highways are constantly being improved, so are the facilities for air travel within our state. The Iowa Aeronautics Commission developed a program resulting in 62 separate projects at 41 Iowa communities and representing an outlay of more than $3 million. Iowa ranks twenty-third in population among the states, but it is fifteenth in number of civil aircraft, and fourteenth in the number of airports. The number of aircraft owned by Iowans has increased by 10 per cent since 1964. Last year we were fifth in the nation in the number of lighted airports, and sixth in the number of paved runways.

CONSERVATION

More than nine million people visited Iowa's state parks in 1965 as compared to five million in Nebraska, 3,300,00 in Minnesota and 4,400,400 in South Dakota. Last year, nearly 10 million visited Iowa's state parks.

These figures attest to the keen interest of Iowans in out door recreation and point up the need of the state to accelerate its program of providing parks, artificial lakes and other outdoor recreation facilities.

Among all of the states, Iowa has the smallest percentage of its land devoted to state parks and recreational areas. There are now more than 30,000 acres of parks and 56 camping areas which have to accommodate about 50,000 more campers each year. We now have about 23,000 acres of forest areas.

In addition to sustaining an extensive program of construction, maintenance and improvement work in the past two years, the Conservation Commission reorganized its entire departmental operation, installed a Business Administrator, and expanded its planning division. A comprehensive state plan enabling Iowa to qualify for federal aid under the Land and Waters Act was completed.

HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

Board of Control

The institutions under the State Board of Control, including mental hospitals, schools for the retarded, correctional institutions, training schools and juvenile homes have been strengthened with needed increases in funds for staff and programs during the past two years. The correctional institutions have added professional staff in areas of medicine, psychiatry, education, vocational training and personal adjustment counseling.

A forward-looking pre-release center was opened in December of 1965 utilizing the new dormitory on the Newton farm site. The Division of Corrections and the Parole Board have worked closely to assure the success of the center. To date 502 men have benefited from the six-week 're-entry' program designed to help them successfully return to home and community.

The Iowa Security Medical Facility is under construction at Oakdale. This modern mental health hospital will provide diagnosis, evaluation and treatment for those in our correctional institutions and others who require security and mental health treatment. Thus a shameful blot on Iowa's conscience -- the long period when human beings were imprisoned like animals in the ward for the criminally insane at Anamosa -- will be removed when this modern security hospital is completed.

The mental health center at the Training School for Boys at Eldora is being expanded to include a modern infirmary and evaluation area. This unit will provide essential evaluation for many of the emotionally ill boys who are committed to the school.

Juvenile parole and child welfare field staffs have been combined in an effort to decrease travel and conserve staff time, and the total number of workers has been increased to more nearly meet the mounting need for supervision of young people from the two training schools. Increased foster home placements have reduced the populations of the Iowa Annie Wittenmyer Home and Toledo Children's Home, and approximately 150 more children are out on home placement now than were on placement in 1964.

New programs for the blind or deaf retarded are providing new hope for these forgotten children while innovative vocational training is preparing retardates for economic independence.

Federal funds have been obtained to match the $500,000 appropriated for the infirmary addition at the Marshalltown Soldiers' Home.

Alcoholism

Human Resource Development must sometimes concern itself with the treatment of diseases which prohibit the individual from realizing his full potential. One of the serious problems facing Iowa and many other states is combating alcoholism and its latent effects on our society.

One-fourth of the patients in our Mental Health Institutes are alcoholics. We have an estimated 50,000 alcoholics in Iowa and some 80,000 Iowa children have at least one alcoholic parent. Yet, these figures do not adequately reflect the toll that alcoholism takes in terms of accidents, crime, divorce, family disintegration, social deprivation, and other forms of human tragedy.

In a cooperative effort between the University of Iowa and the Board of Control to combat this growing social problem, we have established a 50-bed alcoholic treatment and research center at Oakdale.

Iowa is also the first state in the nation to undertake a coordinated statewide program directed at rehabilitation of the alcoholic regardless of his economic status. The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, the State Board of Control, and the Office of Economic Opportunity have cooperated in the launching of this $500,000 program for a total assault on alcoholism.

The first visible results of this program will be seen within the next few weeks with the opening of Halfway Houses in Des Moines and Sioux City and Community Service Centers for Alcoholism in at least seven major Iowa communities.

Public Health

A major contribution to the health needs of Iowans has been the unique program for reorientation and retraining of inactive registered nurses throughout the state. This program, carried out cooperatively between the State Health Department and the Health Occupations Education activity of the University of Iowa, has brought this training to the state's inactive nurses in their home communities. This makes it possible for approximately 300 nurses to re-enter the field of nursing practice. This program is going to be continued and expanded to meet our growing needs.

Another major job of the Health Department has been certification of hospitals for participation in the Medicare program -- all but 13 of the hospitals surveyed were certified on the first round.

The federal Hill-Burton program has brought about $7 million to Iowa for hospital and construction projects, and mental retardation programs have brought in about $4 million for new construction.

By way of reorganization to meet current and future needs, the Health Department has established an Office for Planning and Coordination. This provides for the necessary function of comprehensive health planning for the people of this state.

With technical assistance from the staff of the State Department of Health, the Water Pollution Control Commission created by the 1965 Legislature has developed water quality standards in compliance with the Federal Water Quality Act. Seven public hearings on the proposed standards have been held throughout the state and, when approved, these standards will provide an effective basis for the control of water pollution in Iowa.

Labor

Our human conservation and development programs include the activities of the Iowa State Employment Security Commission. During the past two years, this agency has replaced the dependency provision for determining the weekly benefit amount of unemployment insurance with a realistic formula based upon 50 per cent of the average weekly wage in covered employment. The average unemployment insurance payroll tax rate paid by the employer has been reduced from 8/10ths of one per cent to one-half of one per cent -- and I am pleased to say that this is the lowest rate in the United States.

There are a number of important changes in legislation passed by the last General Assembly which benefit the labor force of Iowa. Unemployment compensation for employees was raised 30 per cent without any tax increase to the employer. In workers compensation, there has been an average increase in weekly benefits for both temporary and permanent disability. The range was increased from an average of $37 to $47 for permanent disabilities -- and from a range of $34 to $50 per week to $40 to $56 per week for temporary disabilities. The Bureau of Labor, through the Employment Safety Commission created by the Sixty-first General Assembly, now has the authority to adopt reasonable rules and regulations that require an employer to maintain adequate protection for the lives, health, and safety of all persons employed in this state.

Senior Citizens

For the benefit of our aging citizens, a Commission on the Aging was created in 1965 when I signed a bill authorizing a commission of thirteen members. Fifty-thousand dollars was appropriated for the first biennium. Four different committees have since been appointed to deal with the different problems of the aging. And a proposal has been made through federal channels to establish at an Iowa university a center for retirement planning.

Manpower

One of the key agencies in the development of human resources in Iowa has been the Iowa State Manpower Development Council. This agency is financed by federal funds, under the Manpower Development and Training Act, and is unique in the United States. The Manpower Development Council is organized to further skill development of all Iowans, and has been funded beyond the experimental termination date because of its success. The State of Iowa is looked to by a great many other states in this area of skill development, and coordination of skill development agencies already in existence.

One of the most successful projects of the Manpower Development Council has been its On-The-Job-Training project, the first state-wide on-the-job-training program in the United States. Very simply, this program reimburses employers for training people on the job. The majority of those trained under this program came from welfare rolls, and this means that these Iowans have once again become taxpayers, and they are supporting families in the majority of instances. This is an area in which the federal government and the state join hands to help people help themselves. Almost 500 Iowans found jobs under this program, and the cost to the federal government was the lowest in this federal region. This program is a stop-gap measure designed to help people who lack marketable job skills until our area vocational schools become functional.

Beyond this program, the Manpower Development Council, in concert with the Employment Service, has established 16 area coordinating teams around the state to make sure that maximum use is being made of all our resources -- state and federal, public and private -- and that job training is geared to the needs of individuals rather than simply to the needs of industry in the area.

Economic Opportunity

In another special area of human resource development, the State Office of Economic Opportunity has contributed to an often forgotten element of our society. Without using the fancy words of the sociologists, I will just refer to these people as being poor -- by and large through no fault of their own.

Operation Headstart which provides pre-school exposure to youngsters who may not have had the same advantages as yours and mine, has served about 4,000 youngsters in Iowa. Next year the figure will jump to 7,000. This is the first, and perhaps, most important step, in starting to develop equal opportunities for all of our children.

Another valuable program under the Office of Economic Opportunity has been Project Upward Bound. Upward Bound affords college experiences to those who are high school drop-outs, or those who may be potential high-school drop outs. Last year Iowa received nearly $600,000 for this program for five different institutions of higher learning. This year it is anticipated that we will be able to serve even more disadvantaged youngsters through this project.

Human Rights

The year 1965 saw the creation of the first Iowa Human Rights Commission, established by an act of the Sixty-first General Assembly. More than 220 matters came before the Commission in the past two years involving alleged discrimination in employment, public accommodation and other areas.

Many of the cases were referred to other agencies with more specific jurisdiction; others were conciliated; some were dropped by the persons bringing the charges. But the Commission is a going concern and is a strong influence against illegal discriminatory practices in our state.

Public Assistance

The growth in case loads in the Public Assistance programs administered by the Department of Social Welfare reminds us that the current prosperity of the state does not extend to all of our citizens.

In the past two years, the food stamp program for welfare recipients was inaugurated and accepted in 43 counties.

A community work and training program to increase the employability of welfare recipients is successfully under way in more than 40 counties.

An Advisory Committee on Title XIX of the Social Security Act, dealing with medical aid to welfare recipients, was appointed by the Board of Social Welfare. This Committee, composed of professional and civic leaders, will recommend legislation in this area to the General Assembly.

A couple of dairy cows were grazing in a field near a roadside when a milk delivery truck passed by.

On the side of the truck in big red letters was the legend: "Sweetbriar Milk --Pasteurized, homogenized, standardized and vitamins added."

One of the cows shook her head sadly and said to her companion:

"Makes you feel sort of inadequate, doesn't it?"

I feel a bit inadequate myself, at the moment.

I have recited to you a great many facts about your state and your state government's activities in the past two years. But I realize how difficult it is to put these diverse pieces together to make the big picture.

There are also many things I have left out that have left their imprint on us in the past two years.

There was the tornado that leveled Belmond, the brave response of the townspeople, and the generosity of Iowans who wanted to help; there was the concern of parents for sons fighting in Vietnam; there were the Amish and their school problem; there was the excitement of a $60 million industry coming to Clinton; there was the destruction of thousands of our shade trees by the elm blight; there was a second billion dollar corn crop; and there was the tragedy of the lonely teen-age girl who hanged herself in a jail cell.

The state of our minds . . . and the charity or bitterness in our hearts have a great deal to do with the true state of the state.

In my State of the State message two years ago, I expressed my belief that we Iowans had begun to free ourselves from the prejudices of neighbor against neighbor that cramped our spirit and retarded our progress in the past.

I still believe and devoutly hope that this is true for it is the most important single component we need for a serene and healthy state of the state.

There are disturbing signs of the backlash in the world today.

The backlash is nothing new under the sun; nor is it confined to racial prejudice alone.

The backlash is simply a convenient vehicle of rationalization that permits our conscience to tolerate a prejudice we always knew was wrong and unworthy.

But we seize upon some isolated incident to justify the prejudice we secretly carried in our hearts all the time.

The backlash can be anti-welfare, anti-progress, anti-business, anti-labor, anti-education or anti-racial or religious minority.

The extremist backlash is emerging in many places, but it has no defensible reason to exist in Iowa.

One thing is certain.

Iowa, in this January of 1967, is a peaceful and prosperous garden spot on a troubled globe.

We have much to be thankful for -- and the causes that should unite us are infinitely greater than the misunderstandings that sometimes divide us.

Our future is in unity and understanding of neighbor towards neighbor. And given these, our future is unlimited.

SUGGESTED CHANGES

JOINT STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE

Rule 4

When a bill shall have passed both houses it shall be duly enrolled and the fact of its origin shall be certified by the endorsement of the secretary or clerk thereof.

Rule 12

Bills and joint resolutions shall be printed on good paper of pages 8 1/2 by 11 inches in size with type not less than 10 point in size and in form as provided by law and by rule. A substitute for a bill offered by a member or by a committee, where it is entirely or substantially a complete substitute for the particular bill, unless otherwise ordered, shall be printed as a substitute for the original bill and the caption shall so indicate, giving the substitute the same number as the original bill, but reciting 'Senate (or House) substitute for Senate (or House) File _____', and such substitute bill shall, by the file clerk, be included in the bill file next to the original bill, and such substitute bill shall not be printed in the journals.

Legalizing acts of a local or private nature shall not be printed in the journal, but are to be printed in bill form only when the cost of such printing shall be deposited with the superintendent of printing at the rate of which shall be fixed under the current contract for legislative printing for the bills, and the newspaper publication of such bill shall be without expense to the state, and same shall not be published until the cost of same has been paid to the secretary of state.

Rule 14

All bills and joint resolutions introduced shall be of type-written copy with titles, enacting clause and body of the bill as directed by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House. Only copy of each bill shall be presented securely fastened in a bill cover and be accompanied by three correct copies thereof and by three copies of the title alone, on separate sheets.

Rule 19

The Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House are hereby authorized and directed to prepare a daily clip sheet covering all amendments filed or offered to any House or Senate bill. The written or printed lines of an amendment, except the last line of each paragraph, shall contain in spaces, characters, and letters approximately sixty (60) . All amendments shall be arranged and numbered by line so as to compare exactly with the original copy of the amendment proposed.

SUGGESTED CHANGES

STANDING RULES OF THE HOUSE

Rule 26

Every house bill shall be introduced by one or more members, by any standing or specially authorized committee of the house, or by the legislative Research Committee. All bills and joint resolutions introduced shall be of typewritten copy with title, enacting clause, and body of bill as directed by the Chief Clerk of the House. One copy of each bill shall be presented in a bill cover and be accompanied by three correct copies thereof, and by three copies of the title alone on separate sheets of paper. No bill shall be introduced nor shall the Chief Clerk accept the same unless an adequate explanation thereof is included at the end of each bill; this provision shall not apply to appropriation bills for any agency or department of the state government.

Rule 29

All bills and joint resolutions to be introduced in the House shall be typed into proper form by the Legislative Research Bureau and shall be filed with the Chief Clerk not later than 4 o'clock on the preceding legislative day. When the time for introducing bills is reached in the regular order of business, the Chief Clerk will proceed in the same manner as if the bills were introduced from the floor. This rule does not deny a member the right to introduce a bill from the floor if the bill has previously been typed in proper form by the Research Bureau.

Every bill shall receive two readings but no bill shall receive its first and last readings on the same day.

Rule 30

Upon a first reading of the bill, the Speaker shall state that it is ready for commitment or amendment; and the Speaker shall commit it to the standing or select committee, or to a committee of the whole House. If to a committee of the whole House, the House shall determine on what day.

All amendments offered to bills on file or on the calender shall be accompanied by three carbon or correct copies and shall be filed with the Chief Clerk.

Such amendments shall give the number of the bill sought to amend and the Chief Clerk shall designate each such amendment thus: Amendment to House File _____, or Senate File _____, by _____.

A new bill proposed by a standing committee of the House shall go directly to the Calender unless it covers subject matter more properly within the jurisdiction of some other standing committee, in which case the Speaker shall commit it to such committee. However, it shall require two-thirds of the committee present and voting to authorize the introduction of a committee bill, except in the case of the appropriations committee.

Bills and joint resolutions shall be printed in form as provided by law and by rule. Each house may direct the printing of an additional number of its own bills. A substitute for a bill offered by a member or by a committee, where it is entirely or substantially a complete substitute for the particular bill, unless otherwise ordered, shall be printed as a substitute for the original bill (and the caption shall so indicate, giving the substitute the same number as the original bill, but reciting "substitute for" such bill), and such substitute bill shall by the File Clerk be included in the bill file next to the original bill and such substitute bill shall not be printed in the Journals.

Legalizing bills of a local or private nature shall be printed in bill form and placed in the files of the members the same as other bills, in the order of their introduction. The cost of such printing shall be deposited with the superintendent of printing, in advance at a rate to be fixed by him, and the newspaper publication of the same shall be without cost to the state and the same shall not be published until the cost of same shall be paid to the Secretary of State. No legalizing act may be introduced until all of the provisions of law shall have been complied with.

INAUGURAL MESSAGE

to the

SIXTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY

HONORABLE HAROLD E. HUGHES, GOVERNOR OF IOWA

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-second General Assembly, State Officials, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It was four years ago, less five days, that I first came to this rostrum to address a joint session of the General Assembly. I felt a little like the Lone Ranger at the time. The people of Iowa had done me the honor of electing me their Governor the previous November, but for reasons best known to themselves, they had not bestowed similar favors on any of the Democratic candidates for other state offices or on very many Democratic candidates for the General Assembly. As a consequence, there were in January of 1963 commanding Republican majorities in both houses of the Legislature and a four-to-one Republican majority on the State Executive Council.

Frank Miller, the great cartoonist of the Des Moines Register, immortalized the humor of the situation with a cartoon showing a long banquet table at which the diners were all scowling, disgruntled elephants except for one solitary, jubilant donkey in the middle.

Some of the political commentators at the time made dire predictions about the disharmony and stalemate that was sure to come from having a Democratic governor and a Republican-controlled Assembly. The record book will show that the Sixtieth General Assembly was not a stalemate at all, but went on to enact a number of important and forwardlooking items of legislation which were not vetoed by the donkey in the cartoon. I deeply appreciated the cooperation I received from the members of both parties in that session and in the Special Session on Reapportionment that followed a year later.

When I delivered my inaugural in 1965, however, the political complexion of the state government had undergone a drastic change. The Executive Council was Democratic and both houses of the Assembly were under Democratic control, a happy inadvetence that seems to occur only about once every thirty years in Iowa.

That year, some of the pundits predicted that the session would be ineffectual because the Legislature would simply be a rubber stamp. I can assure you it did not turn out to be a rubber stamp--and I have the bruises to show for it. But once again, the members of both parties cooperated on the big issues and an impressive number of public interest measures were enacted into law.

This time we have a yet different situation, with the House Republican by a wide margin and the Senate Democratic by a whisker. Once again, I have every confidence that we can work together constructively in the interests of the people of Iowa.

We have the advantage of seasoned and talented legislative leadership in both parties. You have chosen well and I commend you for it.

As in previous sessions, I will be available to confer with any member of the Assembly at all times, save when I am hemmed in by administrative duties that must be fulfilled.

I will respect, as in the past, the prerogatives of the Legislature and the heavy responsibilities and workload that you bear. The Chief Executive has certain important constitutional responsibilities in the legislative process, but the big job is yours. To the greatest extent possible, it is my intention to work with you, not against you or around you.

I am pleased to see that we have some ladies in the Assembly again. Not only do you grace the Legislature with your presence, Ladies, but you impart to the lawmaking a special kind of wisdom that it needs. We have had some very able women in the Iowa Legislature in recent years and they have commanded the respect of the male members because they earned that respect.

Occasionally you may find some grudging holdout against woman's rights, but sooner or later these men get their comeuppance.

Like the grouchy husband who complained bitterly to his wife that the country was going to the dogs because of women getting into public affairs . . .

"If you're really worried about it, dear," his wife said sweetly, "why don't you pray to God. Maybe she will help you."

Above all, throughout this session, I will do my utmost to communicate with you clearly on the issues. This is my duty and this is my nature. The stakes are too high to let the lines of communication between the Executive and Legislature lapse.

I daresay that there has never been an Iowa Legislature in our history that has been faced with such a unique combination of heavy responsibility and golden opportunity.

We have the opportunity to make certain basic reforms in our state government that will lift the state ahead by a quarter of a century and assure our continuing progress.

As you all know, the economic health of the state is phenomenally good. There is a balance in the state treasury that makes many things possible. There is a growing public awareness of the need for making the basic reforms, rather than temporizing.

The stage is set. The timing is right. The circumstances are opportune for getting the job done.

If we succeed, we will benefit generations to come. If we falter, we will have defaulted on the greatest opportunity for constructive legislation that any session has had in modern Iowa history.

The big issues before us, such as government reorganization, tax revision, apportionment and capital improvements for our universities and state institutions, are not partisan matters. Their need has been recognized by leaders of both parties for decades.

If we fail, therefore, it will not be the Republican party or the Democratic party that will suffer--but our two-party system itself.

The two-party system cannot survive on the shallow concept of "our side against your side," regardless of the issues. It can only survive if, in dealing with the big public-interest issues, the people of both parties are willing to set aside their partisanship for the common good.

Recently, thoughtful commentators have raised the question of whether or not political parties as they have existed through the years are relevant to present-day conditions.

In the session ahead, I believe we have a proving ground on which we can demonstrate to the people of Iowa the validity of two-party government.

Each of us was elected by people of Iowa, whether it was by the entire state or one particular district. Each of us feels that he has a mandate with which to keep faith. I sincerely hope there will be a broad base of agreement in our interpretation of what the people expect of us.

I will tell you what the legislative leaders of my party and I believe is expected of us by the people who returned us to office.

We believe they want us to go cleanly and clearly down the line for the long-needed improvements and reforms in Iowa government that we have stood for in the past four years.

We believe they want us to be ready for constructive compromise at any or all times.

But to surrender the great goals that are now within reach?

To turn back from the paths of progress that we have, at long last, found?

No. This is not what we construe the will of the people to be.

If we have interpreted our mandate incorrectly, I will be disappointed, but we will have to go with what we believe is right for the state, anyway.

The point I am making, of course, is that the greatest number of votes does not invariably determine what is right or wrong.

In the majority of instances and in the long run, you can count on the judgment of the people.

But sometimes issues get to the point when a decision must be made before Paul Revere has had time to make his appointed rounds.

It is then that men must put their necks on the block, regardless, and do what they believe is right, regardless of the consequences.

Personally, I would rather see our party a minority of six people with program and principle than a majority of 600,000 without dedication or direction.

If I offend anyone with my bluntness, I am sorry. I do not mean to do this. I feel nothing but good will toward any of you and I respect the integrity of your purpose whether we agree or differ on any issue.

But as I said earlier, I feel a deep and compulsive duty to communicate--and I intend to carry it out.

It may surprise you to hear me say this, but I couldn't care less about my own political future beyond this present term of office...and I couldn't care more about what we have the opportunity to do here for the future of Iowa.

The Inaugural Message, as I see it, is a much more personal and subjective kind of communication than the State of the State message you heard earlier this week. The State of the State is primarily a factual report on the status of the state and the state government and an accounting of developments that have taken place in the past two years.

The Inaugural Message, while it is primarily devoted to the Governor's legislative recommendations to the Assembly, affords opportunity for comment on administrative policy, philosophy of government and aspirations of the future of the state.

It will be readily seen that the preparation of the budget, which I will transmit to you next week, posed some unique problems this year. Two of the major issues before this session are government reorganization and tax revision. It is my hope that you will meet both of these challenges head-on. Of course, any decisive action taken by the Legislature in these areas may require some adjustments in the details of the budget. But I assure you that this does not present any insurmountable problems and that it will be promptly taken care of when the need arises.

In the meantime, I am submitting in my budgetary and legislative recommendations two initial steps towards tax reform as you will hear later in this message today. These two steps are within practical reach of our existing revenue capabilities.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The dramatic economic development that Iowa has experienced in recent years has not been a matter of happenstance.

The operation of the Iowa Development Commission has been greatly improved and expanded. Local development commissions, city and county governments, chambers of commerce and other groups have energetically and imaginatively sought new industry. The Legislature has wisely provided state and local governments with effective tools to aid in development.

The thirteen recommendations I made in the area of economic development in my 1963 and 1965 inaugural messages have been implemented either fully or in part. Among these proposals were legislation to permit communities to issue revenue bonds to finance industrial sites and buildings, a statewide system of area vocational-technical training, the development of a tourist and travel promotion program in the Development Commission and the enactment of the Uniform Commercial Code.

In the biennium ahead, I believe that the operation of the Development Commission should be further strengthened with special emphasis on the Tourism Division; the effort to obtain a fair share of federal government contracts and research contracts should be stepped up; and the highly successful "Sell Iowa" trips and foreign Trade Missions should be continued. The industrial revenue bond law that has worked out so well for many Iowa cities should be amended to permit expansions of plants on existing bond issues and to remove the present limitations on the number of issues that may be outstanding in a community at any one time. The present statute permits only two issues in a community of 5,000 population and one more for each 10,000 additional or major fraction thereof.

As we all know, one of the urgent problems of our cities these days is what to do about the deterioration of their downtown business districts. I believe the Legislature should give this problem some study and consider the possibility of permitting municipalities to issue revenue bonds to rehabilitate downtown areas.

GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION

The organizational genius of modern American business is one of the marvels of our age. Unfortunately, far too little of it has rubbed off on government.

The cumbersome, archaic, overlapping structure of our state government would not be tolerated by a private corporation for an instant. The first move by the board of directors would be to reorganize the obsolescent structure in order to establish executive responsibility down the line and to eliminate duplications of effort.

There is an urgent, long-standing need to overhaul the obsolescent machinery of our state government and to streamline, modernize and consolidate the more than 120 separate agencies, boards and commissions into an efficient, logically arranged structure.

The Public Administration Service report submitted to you earlier this week provides a sound, basic framework for reorganization. As I stated before, the plan can be changed to some degree without losing its effectiveness. It was expected that the Legislature would make some changes.

However, I would urge you, with whatever powers of persuasion I have, not to reject the entire proposition for reorganization because of disagreement with some of its details.

I know that you will be under tremendous pressure from well-meaning people connected with the state government who oppose the reorganization either out of misunderstanding or because they feel that it would diminish their own role or that of their agency.

However, if we don't come to grips with this longstanding need now, it may be another twenty years before there is an opportune time again.

I ask you, therefore, to meet this vital need head on and open mindedly.

If you will do this, I am sure that we can agree on a reorganization plan that will meet the needs of the late twentieth century and will immensely improve the efficiency and economy of the state government operation.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS FOR REORGANIZATION

As you know, a number of other proposed constitutional amendments were passed by the 1965 Legislature providing for organizational changes in both the executive and legislative branches of the state government. These included: annual sessions of the Legislature; authorizing the Governor to exercise item veto of appropriations bills; increasing the term of the office of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor from two years to four years and requiring that they be of the same political party by specifying that voters cast a single ballot for both; making the Secretary of State, the Treasurer, and Attorney General appointive officers, appointed by the Governor with the consent of two-thirds of the Senate; and making the Auditor an appointive officer, appointed by the General Assembly and serving at its pleasure.

These proposed constitutional changes are incorporated in the government reorganization plan you received on Monday. In the interests of good government in the years ahead, I urge you to approve these amendments.

REAPPORTIONMENT AND SUBDISTRICTING

In my 1965 inaugural message, I said: "As I have stated before, I favor sub-districting in legislative districts in which there are a number of representatives elected to one house." I followed up this statement by giving strong support to sub-districting during the Sixty-first Legislative session. Now subdistricting is the law of the state as a result of the Iowa Supreme Court ruling and some action to implement it will be required by this session.

The 1965 Legislature passed a proposal for a constitutional amendment to provide permanent reapportionment guidelines that I consider excellent constitutional law. I strongly urge you to approve this proposal for the second time and commit it to the vote of the people.

It is true that this proposal makes subdistricting permissive rather than mandatory. However, this is now an academic point since the Supreme Court has ruled subdistricting to be the law.

The proposed amendment would reduce the Senate from 61 to 50 members and the House from 124 to 100. Leaders of both parties, as well as outside authorities on government, have agreed that a reduction in the size of the Legislature is needed for more efficient operation.

I understand there is some hesitancy developing about endorsing the proposed amendment now because it could result in reduction of the size of the Legislature by 1968. I can only say that if the job needs to be done, it should be done now, and not two or more years from now.

I also understand there will be an effort made again in this session to marshal support for the Dirksen Amendment which calls for a departure in the U.S. Constitution from the one-man, one-vote principle. I cannot see the consistency of espousing the cause of one man, one vote in local subdistricting and at the same time seeking to corrupt it at the federal level. I will strongly oppose any endorsement of the Dirksen Amendment.

MUNICIPAL HOME RULE

The number one legislative goal of cities and towns for many years has been the quest for home rule in local affairs. Contrary to the misconception of some, home rule does not mean complete independence of the cities from the control of the Legislature. It is simply a sensible delegation of powers to local communities to act in purely local matters that are not in violation of state laws of general application.

For many years, municipal governments have been able to take only those actions that are specifically authorized in state law. If there is no authorization in the law, the city is stymied.

As a consequence, each session of the Legislature is required to deal with scores of matters of local government housekeeping that could better be handled by city and town councils.

The last session of the Legislature passed a proposed constitutional amendment for home rule with only two dissenting votes.

I strongly urge your support of this amendment in its second submission to the Legislature.

TAX REVISION

As a preliminary step to more extensive tax revision, I recommend that the personal property tax on household goods should be repealed at once and that the revenues it brings in--more than $5 million annually--which are presently distributed to local government, should be replaced out of general tax revenues. It has long been recognized that this "nuisance" tax, which is costly to administer in proportion to the revenues it yields, should be repealed. However, in former years, the state funds to replace this revenue were not available. Today they are, thanks to the state's remarkable economic growth.

I also recommend an effective plan for property tax relief to the elderly to be provided within the general framework of the existing homestead credit. As you know, the present homestead credit amounts to a maximum of $62.50, but has no age or income requirement.

I propose a plan of tax relief up to another $62.50 for citizens 65 and over based on need. To be eligible for the maximum additional tax credit, a family's income from all sources should be less than $3,000 and the assessed value of the property should not exceed $2,500. As income and assessed value go up, the tax credit would scale down. I propose that this tax credit also be extended to renters, as well as property owners, on the generally accepted estimate that 25 per cent of gross rents go for property tax purposes.

EDUCATION

There is no investment that is more important to our continuing advancement and well being than the investment in education. I am convinced that the vast majority of our people recognize this and are willing to do what is required to support first-class education in Iowa. This means paying competitive teachers' salaries, improving pension systems and providing the best modern school facilities.

We must look ahead. I have been criticized for suggesting that new schools should be air conditioned. I make no apology for this. In the long range, this will prove an economy measure--economy in the full and efficient use of our physical facilities and of our human resources as well.

State Aid to Schools

The 1965 session of the Legislature voted more than 50 per cent more school aid than ever before in the history of this state. It is abundantly clear that we need a further substantial increase for the biennium ahead.

Although I regard no service of the state as a higher priority than education, I do not want to sail under false colors. The needs in such areas as public safety, hospitals, highway construction, industrial development, welfare and conservation--to name only a few--are vital and cannot be neglected. But I can think of nothing more important to our future than education--from the elementary school to the university graduate school levels.

This is no time to retrench in this vital area.

As in the past, I emphatically oppose the proposal for paying larger amounts of state aid as a reward to school districts which hold local taxes below a specified level.

The goal of cutting out unnecessary school costs is one in which all taxpayers have common cause. But to adopt this "penalty clause" system of denying state school aid to those districts who do the most locally to support their school systems would be to deal a death blow to quality education in Iowa.

Educational TV and Communications

In addition to recommending increased state aid for public schools, I recommend as a high priority for public school education the establishment of a communication service network embracing educational radio and television for Iowa. It is obvious that this would help us obtain the maximum use of our teaching talent and would literally make available our educational resources to all of the people of the state.

Such an investment could serve the people of Iowa in many other ways as well as in education. I am talking about an intergrated statewide communications system capable of handling the total service and emergency needs of the state on a dedicated system basis. The long-range capacity and flexibility of the system would take into account satisfaction of educational radio and television requirements and it would also take care of the communications requirements of various state agencies including long distance telephone, teletypewriter, radio and data transmission.

Area Schools

One of the most encouraging parts of the public education picture in Iowa today is the rapidity with which the Area Vocational School and Area Community College districts have been set up. I predict that within five years we will have over 50,000 students in these schools. This part of our educational system, so vital to the state's industrial development, will require a sharp increase in funds in the biennium ahead.

School Bus Issue

I reiterate my recommendation of four and two years ago that private school pupils should be allowed to ride public school buses to and from the public school destination. To me, children are children, regardless of race, color or creed, and the safety and well being of all children should be the concern of all citizens.

Amish School Problem

As you all know, one of the most sensitive school problems we have in the state relates to providing certified teachers to instruct the children of the Old Line Amish in the Hazleton area. In February of last year, a temporary solution to the problem was worked out between the Amish fathers and the Oelwein School Board to the great credit of all concerned. Under terms of the temporary agreement now in effect, the two rural schools of the Amish have been placed under the jurisdiction of the Oelwein public school system with certified teachers doing the instructing. These teachers, under the temporary arrangement, are being paid out of non-tax funds furnished to the school board by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, a private foundation devoted to education causes.

At the time the temporary agreement was reached, I pledged that I would propose and support legislation in the 1967 Legislature for a permanent solution to this sensitive situation. I am now honoring this pledge.

The arrangement I recommend is that a state fund be provided to be administered by the State Department of Public Instruction. This would be used as a supplemental aid to a school district in which such a school was "deemed to be necessary and in the public interest." The supplemental aid would be used for the same purposes as the private funds are being used for under the present temporary arrangements.

I realize that there is a deep difference of opinion on this matter and that the solution I recommend involves a departure from our iniform handling of school matters. I also acknowledge the logic and equity in the opposing viewpoint. However, I sincerely hope that you will not take a hard line on this, but will consider the problem with care and compassion. One of the most precious parts of our American heritage has been our willingness to go more than half way to assure minority groups freedom of conscience. In my book, it is a tradition infinitely worth preserving.

Higher Education

The fact that Iowa has great universities and research facilities, as well as good schools, has been one of the top contributing factors to our recent economic awakening.

President Howard Bowen of the University of Iowa has graphically pointed out the close relationship of quality in higher education to economic growth.

"The concept of education as the motive power for economic growth," he says, "suggests that expenditures for education may be regarded as investment in people, comparable to investment in factories and machines. The evidence is quite clear that investments in people currently yield higher economic returns than investments in things."

In the past two decades, the number of students enrolled in junior and four-year colleges and universities in Iowa has jumped from 17,000 to 84,000.

The amount of money spent per year on research at our three state-supported institutions has gone from a little over one and a half million to almost $26 million. The total amount spent on capital improvement at the three institutions in this period has amounted to $75 million.

Comparatively large appropriations for operating costs and capital improvements were made by the Sixtieth and Sixty-first General Assemblies, but enrollments continue to increase and costs of quality education continue to rise.

I will recommend in my budget message that operating costs be further increased within the limitations of our capabilities and that substantial funds from the surplus be used for capital improvements. I believe the time has come to meet the need for a long-range program for capital improvements for our institutions of higher learning, and I recommend that favorable consideration be given to the capital financing plan which will be submitted to this session by the Board of Regents.

Looking to the future and to a possible 150,000 total college enrollment in our public and private institutions by 1980, I believe we must plan carefully to insure that tuition costs for higher education are not priced out of reach for people of modest means. The concept of providing reasonably priced higher education facilities for all of our students who desire it and can qualify for it is too precious an asset of Iowa to relinquish.

I favor designating the State College of Iowa a University as requested by the Board of Regents.

HUMAN RESOURCE PROGRAMS

Public Assistance

Efficient, well-administered welfare programs that help people who really need help are the moral imperative and sound investment of a civilized society.

The basic objective of our welfare program is to help people to help themselves so that they can assume a useful and non-dependent role in our society. It is my conviction that half-hearted, inadequate administration of public assistance that demeans the recipient and falls short of meeting minimum needs is a waste of tax money--because it doesn't get the essential job done.

The Social Security Act now permit recipients in the categorical assistance programs to receive modest amounts of monthly income without reduction in their allotments. I recommend that state laws governing Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Disabled and Aid to the Blind be modified to correspond with the liberalized provisions of the Social Security Act.

I strongly recommend that adequate appropriations be provided to assure that dependent children under our Aid to Dependent Children program receive monthly grants computed on full subsistence needs instead of the 75 per cent they are receiving today. A great deal of publicity has been given to a small percentage of the ADC mothers who have abused and grants they receive. I know there are occasional abuses in this and other assistance programs and I do not condone them for a moment. But the big picture is the 35,000 children who depend upon this program for their chance to grow up and become valuable, healthy and educated members of our society. They should not be denied the standard of living provided for other categories of welfare recipients.

Legislation will be needed in this session to implement Title XIX of the Social Security Act to provide medical aid to welfare recipients. This proposed legislation will be submitted by a special committee of professional people and other leading citizens known as the Iowa Medical Task Force. I recommend that it receive favorable consideration.

Crime and Corrections

In the field of corrections, I recommend that a statute be enacted authorizing the establishment of a 'work release' program to permit inmates, on a selective basis to secure employment or education prior to release or parole from our correctional institutions.

I recommend that consideration be given to the adoption of a 'Model Sentencing Act', along the lines of the act prepared by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. Such a system of sentencing would greatly simplify an almost bewildering array of alternative sentences now provided in the Iowa Criminal Code, and would accomplish the dual purpose of assuring quality of sentencing while at the same time affording the public a substantially greater degree of protection from the dangerous offender. It would, I believe, provide an outstanding improvement in the administration of justice in Iowa.

I also recommend that the General Assembly give consideration to a state system of indemnification for innocent victims of violent crimes.

A child who is orphaned, a woman who is widowed or a wage earner who is incapacitated and deprived of his means of livelihood by simply being in the path of some crime of violence deserve some public consideration. While California is the only state that has such a law at present, other states are awakening to the need. Special consideration should be given in instances where persons are injured or killed in going to the assistance of individuals who are being attacked.

In the state corrections system, the emphasis continues to be on strengthening the programs of rehabilitation and education and on modernization of ancient and out-moded prison facilities.

I recommend that preliminary work be commenced on a modern, intermediate security corrections institution to replace the century-old reformatory at Anamosa. Provision for this item will be included in my budget.

Public Health

One of the most constructive achievements of the Sixty-first General Assembly was the reorganization of the State Department of Health.

The functions of the Health Department in serving local communities and regions is, however, severely hampered by inadequate and obsolescent laws relating to local health services contained in Chapters 137 and 138 of the 1966 Code of Iowa.

I strongly recommend that favorable consideration be given to the Local Health Services bill which is requested by the Health Department and the State Board of Health.

Human Rights

In my Budget Message next week, I will recommend a more adequate staff and budget for the Iowa Human Rights Commission, which was created by the Sixty-first General Assembly in 1965 and which has already become a strong influence against illegal discriminatory practices in our state.

Emotionally Disturbed Teen-Agers

We have come a long way in recent years in Iowa in advancement in mental health, special education and programs of treatment and training for disturbed and retarded juveniles. But I find that there are certain gaps in our system that need to be filled.

One of the big gaps, as I see it, is the urgent need for state programs of education, treatment and counseling for emotionally disturbed teen-agers. The age bracket from sixteen to adulthood is the one that concerns me the most.

With all of our modern services, we have virtually nothing to offer to meet this problem. And it is one of the most pressing problems of our time.

These disturbed young people, often among the brightest in their age groups, need more medical attention and special counseling than we are currently equipped to provide them. They need schools of a special type that we presently lack in our educational system. If helped over the hump, many of them can be saved to live useful lives -- and they are infinitely worth saving.

We have been concerned, and rightly concerned, about dropouts from school. The youngsters to whom I refer are dropouts from life -- unless we take the necessary measures to prevent this from happening.

I am asking a group of doctors, educators, professional welfare people and other citizens to recommend what we can do to meet this problem with the resources of the state government.

If legislative action is required to implement their recommendations, this will be the subject of further communication to you.

EMPLOYMENT

I recommend the following legislation in the area of employment: a change in the existing workmen's compensation law to extend workmen's compensation coverage to all employees; increases in workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation benefits; and enactment of a state minimum wage law.

I reiterate my belief that the section of the 1947 Iowa law which prohibits various types of union-management contract provisions and is generally known as "the right-to-work law" should be modified to eliminate the statutory prohibition of union shop contracts between employers and employees when the contract is agreed upon by both parties.

As I have stated in the past, I also favor legislation to prohibit secondary boycotts; to limit the use of injunctions without a hearing in labor disputes; and to provide a state Mediation and Conciliation Service that would plug a vital gap in our present legal structure governing labor-management relations.

I believe the Iowa Public Employees Retirement System law should be modified by (1) Removing the ceiling on salaries subject to the system, and (2) By raising the contribution rate for both employees and employers to 3.75 per cent.

These proposed changes will, on an actuarially sound basis provide higher pensions for those retiring in the future and also provide funds to increase pensions of those presently retired under the system.

CIVIL SERVICE

From the beginning of my connection with state government, I have strongly advocated the establishment of a state civil service system. An effective civil service system is one of the main planks of the government reorganization plan that has been submitted to you.

If only one governmental reorganization measure were to be enacted in this session, I would attach the highest priority to the institution of a system to take state employment out of politics.

NATURAL RESOURCES

I strongly favor continuing negotiations between the two states toward settlement of the Iowa-Nebraska boundary dispute. This would make possible the settlement of long-pending questions of land ownership and would open up the Western Slope of Iowa to commercial, industrial and recreational development.

I advocate that consideration be given to furnishing free hunting and fishing licenses for persons over 65 of limited means.

The number one priority for the Conservation Commission is the acquisition of more land to meet the rapidly growing demand of Iowa citizens for outdoor recreational facilities. Iowa has the smallest percentage of land for public park purposes of any of the states.

One of the tragedies that has come to Iowa in recent years is the Dutch Elm Disease that has killed thousands upon thousands of our majestic shade trees.

Dutch Elm Disease can be effectively controlled but control measures are costly. It is equally costly -- or perhaps even more -- to allow the disease to take its course.

The principal impact of the Dutch Elm Disease crisis falls on cities and towns, already strapped for revenues and bumping their heads on the 30-mill property tax limit.

I recommend that consideration be given by the General Assembly to providing limited state aid on an incentive basis to local governments grappling with the big problems of Dutch Elm Disease control.

I further recommend that consideration be given to enabling legislation to permit cities and towns to finance municipal Dutch Elm Disease control programs by the issuance of general obligation bonds.

I also recommend that funds be provided Iowa State University for expanded research in Dutch Elm Disease control.

In the past year, the Executive Council approved a small allocation from contingency funds to provide for a central laboratory service on a temporary basis at Iowa State University for culturing specimens of elm trees to determine whether or not they are diseased. This central laboratory service should be continued since most communities do not have the resources or qualified professional staff to set up their own laboratories.

On the administrative level, I have appointed a State Dutch Elm Disease Advisory Committee composed of key officials at all levels of government, scientists, educators, legislators and conservationists. This committee has been very active in developing and disseminating scientific information on the elm blight. The extension service of Iowa State University has cooperated admirably in assisting local governments to combat this problem.

PUBLIC SAFETY

The most important single need in the area of public safety and law enforcement is, unquestionably, to upgrade the standards of our police and other law enforcement officials and to restore the public confidence in our security people.

In recent years, there has been a growing disrespect for law enforcement officers evident in Iowa as well as elsewhere in the nation.

It is not right or accurate to lay this entirely at the door of our restless teenagers. The attitude permeates our entire society.

Too many people regard police officials as uniformed lackeys -- until an emergency arises and we need them.

We need to get at the roots of the problem -- to build up the standards, training and pay of our law enforcement officers to a point commensurate with the great responsibility they carry in our society.

We cannot expect the people to have any real respect for our laws until they have respect for our law officers.

For years, law enforcement officials and other authorities in the field have advocated the establishment of a law enforcement academy in Iowa as an important step towards raising the qualifications of our police.

I strongly support this recommendation.

Other recommendations I would make in public safety include a stepped up program for reexamination of licensed drivers; the establishment of a blood alcohol level of 0.10% as presumption for intoxication in OMVI cases; a further increase in the complement of the highway patrol; and the establishment of statewide motor vehicle inspections by private industry on a fee basis, and the meeting of other major requirements to meet federal minimum highway safety standards.

HIGHWAYS

Toll Bridge Authority

Iowa is unique among all of the states in that it is bordered on the east and west by two large rivers, the Mississippi and Missouri. This is in many ways a great advantage but it also creates some problems. The foremost of these is the fact that the state itself and the local communities on these rivers require bridges across them to aid in the flow of commerce and to carry the various interstate highways to and across this state. Iowa has the most to gain by having adequate river crossings because in most cases the river trade along these two rivers is on the Iowa side.

At the present time, we have 27 of these large river crossings. Many of them need immediate replacement. The total cost of a program aimed at the ultimate replacement of all of them as they become obsolete would be approximately $157 million.

A number of the local communities where replacement of bridges is most urgent, lack sufficient revenue potential to finance the construction.

Various solutions to this problem have been explored with local communities, neighboring states and the federal government. As a result of these studies, it has been determined that this construction can only be accomplished through a state agency.

It is logical that this agency should be the Iowa Highway Commission because the Commission is charged with the responsibility of the primary highways and these bridges are an integral part of the highway system.

I respectfully recommend to the General Assembly consideration of a measure which would authorize the Highway Commission to handle the construction of these bridges. The financing would be by revenue bonds which would constitute an obligation only of the Iowa Highway Commission secured by the toll revenues obtained by the operation of these bridges.

The ultimate goal of this plan is to aid in the construction of bridges across these two rivers wherever necessary and to make them toll free as soon as possible.

Interstate System

The National System of Interstate and Defense Highways is now more than 50 per cent complete in America. It has provided an outstanding record of road-user safety as compared to other highway systems. Indications are that the Interstate System will be essentially completed by 1972.

I respectfully recommend that the General Assembly adopt a resolution urging the Congress to enact at the earliest possible time such legislation as will provide for expansion of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways beyond the currently authorized program.

Highway Beautification

The federal government has passed legislation requiring every state to establish controls over all signs and junkyards located within 660 feet of our interstate and primary highways, both in cities and in rural areas.

I recognize that outdoor signs are a legitimate commercial use of private property adjacent to the public highways, providing a necessary service to the traveling public, and they should be allowed where other business and commercial activities are conducted.

I recommend that the General Assembly enact legislation providing sign and junkyard controls in order to protect the public investment in our highways, to promote the value of public travel, and to preserve the natural beauty of our state, while at the same time providing for a reasonable and orderly display of outdoor signs.

I am not happy about federal legislation which requires a state either to pass legislation or to face the consequence of the loss of federal funds. Nevertheless, I do believe that reasonable control of signs on land adjacent to our highways can be accomplished without ruling out a reasonable and orderly display of signs.

Road Use Tax

The dispute between the cities and towns and the counties over the allocation of the state road use tax fund is an unfortunate situation.

The large and small municipalities of Iowa, far behind in their street programs, hard up for operating revenues, and heavily in debt for street purposes clearly need a larger share of the state road tax fund.

On the other hand, there are many counties where road programs are still lagging, too, and where more, not less, funds are needed.

It has been suggested that the county road funds should be reallocated among the counties with greater emphasis on need than at present. It has also been suggested that a need factor should be applied to the city funds, as well.

I believe the cities and towns are entitled to at least 15 per cent of the state road use tax, as recommended by the professional road study report of 1960. Their request in the current session, as I understand it, is for 20 per cent.

However, I am opposed to the proposal that three cents per gallon of the tax refund the farmer receives for gas used for agricultural purposes should be diverted to secondary road expenditures.

I believe that the principle of supporting highways from highway-user taxes is still the best one to follow.

And I think the farmers are entitled to their exemption from taxation on gas used for agricultural purposes.

AGRICULTURE

Normal growth in the use of Iowa-produced agricultural products, can be expected with the expanding population of the United States. However, this population growth does not begin to require the production which our farms are capable of producing, based on our present availability of fertile land, machinery, fertilizer, agricultural chemicals, and technical knowledge.

If we are to realize the full potential of the agricultural resources of this state, then we must find additional cash markets for our farm production.

In a world where the vast majority of people still go to bed hungry, potential markets outside the continental United States could easily take all of our excess agricultural production.

When compared with the multi-billion dollar agricultural income of this state, funds expended for market expansion are very meager.

Considerable controversy has arisen in past years over the state's support of certain agricultural commodity groups and non-support of other commodity organizations. These organizations have done well with the limited funds available.

I recommend that legislation be passed which will provide the necessary machinery to allow commodity organizations recognized by the General Assembly and the producers of these various commodities to be supported by a semi-voluntary check-off under the supervision of the Agricultural Marketing Division of the Department of Agriculture.

This should provide adequate funds to promote the sale and distribution of the major commodities which we produce in Iowa.

I further recommend that legislation relating to humane slaughtering methods be enacted for application to those establishments subject to the Meat and Poultry Inspection Act.

TREASURER

I recommend that the present limitation on the interest rate on public funds, both state and local, be removed. I am convinced that this action would be in the interest of local banks as well as the taxpayers of Iowa.

STATE OFFICE BUILDING

In government's eternal struggle of trying to stretch available revenues to meet vital needs, nothing is more difficult than to find funds for long-range capital improvements. When hospital or institutional facilities are needed, you can appeal to human compassion for support. But when you are talking about an administrative office building, you have only the unglamorous fact of running out of space to support your cause.

As you know, the construction of a second state office building is now under way. It is as clear as anything can be that by the time this building is ready for occupancy, we will once again be up against a crises for office space.

It has been abundantly proved through the years that renting state office space is both costly and inefficient. The only way to avert this crisis of the future is to take prudent action now. I therefore recommend that preliminary work on another office building be approved and I have made provision in the budget for this need.

Other legislative recommendations that I recommend to you include these: Lowering the legal voting age to 18; liberalizing the residence requirements for voting in presidential elections; setting more realistic limits for spending by candidates in political campaigns and more effective requirements for financial disclosure by political candidates; establishment of a statutory state arts council; authorization for the use of interim funds to assist local governments in time of natural disaster, such as the tornado that struck Belmont last year; and authorization for projects to demonstrate methods of rehabilitating land affected by surface mining.

For the benefit of future administrations in Iowa, I would also recommend that a constitutional amendment be adopted relating to the location of the inauguration ceremonies. The Iowa Constitution specifies that the inauguration must be held in the House Chamber of the State Capitol.

In recent years, this has not been nearly large enough to accommodate the people who wish to attend. I sincerely believe that citizens who wish to watch the inauguration of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor should have the opportunity to do so and I therefore suggest this constitutional change.

I would add to this list another legislative proposal that I consider to be of more importance than is generally recognized.

One of the principle deterrents to persuading qualified persons to take high government positions is the hazard they run in getting unwittingly involved in "conflict of interest" situations. This problem is particularly acute in its application to appointive state officials who serve on important state boards or commissions on a part time basis.

I believe the time has come to develop legislation that will define, as clearly as possible, what constitutes an illegal conflict of interest in state offices. If we had a clear-cut understanding on this point, it would be fairer to the people we ask to serve in these posts at a personal sacrifice and less confusing to the public.

As you will recall, legislation of this kind was passed by the last session of the General Assembly with respect to municipal officials, and while it does not purport to do a perfect job, I am told that it has cleared the atmosphere considerably.

Certainly I believe that the public needs to be protected from genuine conflict of interest situations in government. On the other side of the coin, it should be seen that citizens serving in public office also have a right to be protected from imputations of wrongdoing for which there is no substantive basis.

Ladies and gentlemen, I have covered a lot of territory in these remarks thus far today, and I appreciate your courteous attention through the long voyage.

I have only a few more comments to make and then I will take your leave.

In government and political science circles, no subject is more widely discussed these days than the declining role of state governments in our federal system.

I think that the majority of Iowans of both political parties feel that we need a strong state government.

There are a few people, of course, who feel that our mission in life is simply to siphon all the federal funds we can into our state, whatever the need or method may be.

Some wag has labeled these federal aid programs "Manna from Uncle." I think he is the same fellow who referred to our wrangling with our teen-agers as "The War on Puberty."

On the other hand, there are quite a number of people who would reject all federal programs and who, as a matter of fact, regard the U.S. government as a hostile, alien power.

Most of us, however, are in between these extremes. We simply want our state government to assume its proper and responsible role in our federal system.

How do we go about strengthening the role of the state?

I think we need to pay less attention to state's rights and more attention to state's responsibilities.

In many ways, the states have not been fulfilling responsibilities that should properly be theirs. They have not, for example, been attentive to some of the most pressing needs of local communities.

As a consequence, the federal government has moved in with an ever-growing repertory of grants-in-aid programs to meet these local needs. To an increasing degree, the state governments have found themselves left out in the cold.

What I am saying is that a great deal of the reason for the decline of the state's influence has not been in the stars or in Washington . . . but in ourselves.

In the recommendations for action that I have made in this Inaugural Message, I have visualized the state as a strong, responsible partner in our federal system.

Our state can be strong only if we make it strong.

Those of us who are native to Iowa know it is not legend but truth that on a hot summer night you can literally "hear the corn" grow in this state.

In the past few years, it seems to me that you could literally "hear Iowa grow" . . . in stature, prosperity and human understanding.

We have always had the physical and spiritual resources to excel in any endeavor we might undertake.

In recent years, we have learned to use those resources. We have discovered our own strength and our own pride.

The farmers of Iowa are still the greatest producers of food and fiber the world has known.

We have no intention of surrendering our front rank in agriculture.

In the meantime, we are competing -- and competing in the big leagues -- for new industry.

We are competing -- aggressively -- for new export markets for our farm commodities and manufacturing products.

We are competing, as indeed we must, in the pursuit of knowledge through our schools and universities.

We are competing in intellectual and cultural activities. We are proud of our poets, our painters, our musicians who win prizes in foreign lands.

We will stack up against the best our professional people, our second-to-none labor force, our business leaders, our educators and scholars . . . and most assuredly our great farmers.

We are competing in all of these areas, not because of any sense of narrow chauvinism or false pride, but because the quest for excellence is our heritage and destiny as a people.

So Iowa has crossed over in this era from the quiet ways of its agrarian past into the turbulent, big league competition of an industrialized, urbanized society.

As Iowa has developed in recent years, so have its problems grown in dimension and complexity.

At this early stage of the legislative session I am sure that the problems you have facing you look very awesome indeed . . . and they are.

Yet there isn't a problem ahead that we don't have the resources to meet.

The mistake people sometimes make is to expect neat and final solutions to complex problems of our society. We're not going to find this kind of solution to many problems.

Yet we will continue to move ahead, to plow new furrows and to stem old tides.

Having come so far, I am sure that none of us wants to turn back.

I leave you with these words of Scripture:

"No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." (Luke IX 62)

The benediction was offered by the Right Reverend Gordon V. Smith, Bishop, Diocese of Iowa Episcopal Church, Des Moines, Iowa.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 3

By: Story, Conklin, Bowin and Voorhees, et al

(Lodwick, Rigler and Flatt)

Whereas, the federal government has for many years been returning funds to the states by grants-in-aid programs with conditions attached, and

Whereas, in far too many cases such categorical, specialized federal grants have failed to accomplish their objectives and been very wasteful, and

Whereas, states and local governments could resolve a great many of society's problems if they had the needed resources, and

Whereas, the federal government has usurped the most productive tax resources within the states by federal income taxes, excise taxes, etc., leaving to the states only inadequate sources of revenue, and

Whereas, much of the failure of the federal grants-in-aid programs has been because they ignore local conditions such as transportation, education and skills of workers, etc., which further complicate a problem which may be readily solved in one area but only compounded in another, and

Whereas, if the federal government would return to the states a flat percentage of federal taxes collected within each state with no conditions attached except, perhaps, bloc grants could be specifically earmarked for general categories such as education, Now Therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of the Sixty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa: the Senate concurring:

That, the Legislature of the State of Iowa urges the Congress of the United States to inaugurate a program of tax-sharing with the States whereby the local governments may have the necessary resources to solve local problems unhampered by restrictions imposed by legislators not familiar with the particulars involved in each community.

Be It Further Resolved that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to each of the members of the Iowa delegation in Congress.

Passed on file.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following Senate concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 5, relating to a Joint Convention to hear the Governor's budget message.

AL MEACHAM, Secretary

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 5

By: Coleman

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE HOUSE CONCURRING: That a joint convention of the two houses of the Sixty-second General Assembly be held on Thursday, January 19, 1967, at 2:00 p.m.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That Governor Hughes be invited to read his budget message at this joint convention of the two houses of the General Assembly and that the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House be designated to deliver the invitation to him.

Laid over under Rule 25.

MAJORITY REPORT

OF

BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the members of the Sixty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

The Budget and Financial Control Committee of the Sixty-first General Assembly submits the following report:

At the date of the first meeting, June 24, 1965, the Committee was organized. Several requests were presented to the Committee under the law as it was prior to July 4, 1965. The requests were from the Board of Control, Board of Regents and the matter of a bridge contract between the State Highway Commission and Iowa State University at Ames, all of which were approved.

The employment of the Legislative Fiscal Director and his staff was terminated at the July 16, 1965 meeting. For the period from August 7, 1965 to December 1, 1966 this action reduced the State's payroll by $44,505.25.

The committee started scheduling its visits to the various State Institutions during July, 1965. The minutes record the meetings with the Board of Control, Board of Regents, State Highway Commission, Department of Public Safety, State Conservation Commission, State Fair Board and the Commissioner of Insurance.

At the August 24, 1965 meeting, Senate Resolution 3 was made a part of the Committee's minutes. The Resolution read as follows:

WHEREAS, the cost of caring for mentally ill persons in mental health institutes has increased significantly in recent years, and

WHEREAS, it is reasonable to believe that much of this increase is due to the more intensive psychiatric treatment, and

WHEREAS, it is also reasonable to believe that not all patients in the mental health institute receive the same intensive psychiatric care but instead are treated in at least three categories of care, namely intensive treatment, continued treatment and custodial care, and

WHEREAS, it appears that by averaging the costs of care the custodial patient is subsidizing the intensive care patient, who because of the high cost of intensive care would be pauperized if he had to pay the full costs, and

WHEREAS, it appears that a method other than that of the state general fund being reimbursed by the county and the county being reimbursed by the patient or his relatives, is the method presently used for mentally ill but not for physically ill presently cared for by state and county agencies, and

WHEREAS, the long term mentally ill patient receiving continued care or custodial care is required to shoulder a burden which would be more appropriately carried by all Iowans, and,

Whereas, this problem appears an appropriate subject for legislative study,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE that the Board of Control of State Institutions shall report to the Budget and Financial Control Committee within one year from adjournment of the Sixty-first General Assembly. Such report shall provide costs of care for patients under intensive treatment, patients under continued treatment and patients under custodial care rather than an average cost of care for all patients. Such report shall also contain Board of Control definitions of these terms and the methodology for determining such costs in each category.

ROBERT D. FULTON
President of the Senate

ROBERT G. MOORE
Secretary of the Senate

On September 1, 1965 the Committee inspected the fire loss at the State College of Iowa. After much discussion the Committee concurred with the action of the Executive Council as to reimbursements to the Board of Regents, in accordance with Section 19.7, Code of Iowa.

In January 1966 the Committee continued its schedule of visiting the various State Institution.

On February 10, 1966, pursuant to a request of the Legislative Research Committee, the Committee released $50,000, or so much as may be necessary to finance the project of putting the Code of Iowa and the Constitution on magnetic tape and to enter into a contract therefor.

At the February 22, 1966 meeting at Mitchellville, Marie Carter, Superintendent of the Girls Training School recommended that a portion of paragraph 2 of Section 232.37, Code of Iowa, 1962, be added to the new laws in Chapter 232, "that married women and girls who are pregnant are not to be committed to the training school."

On November 28, 1966 the Committee employed Gerry D. Rankin as Fiscal Director and at the December 8 meeting the office was implemented by setting a budget and authorizing the hiring of an assistant and a secretary.

On December 12, 1966 the report of the Board of Control on Resolution 3 was received and is as follows:

BOARD OF CONTROL OF STATE INSTITUTIONS

DIVISION OF MENTAL HEALTH

TO: BOARD OF CONTROL DATE: December 1, 1966
 from J. O. CROMWELL, M.D., DIRECTOR

SUBJECT: COST OF PATIENT CARE

In April 1, 1966, when I first became Acting Superintendent at Mt. Pleasant Mental Health Institute, it was my intention to try and develop data which could serve as a basis for answering questions like those asked in the Lisle resolution.

As you know, the business managers of our institutions and Doctor Burnett from my office prepared an extensive document to come up with an answer but I, at least, was dissatisfied with the answer they gave me, although it was all they had. Therefore, I immediately started working with the business manager at Mt. Pleasant organizing the hospital so that an answer to the type of service being provided could be obtained from the data available.

In July, when I employed Doctor Fox, I asked him to continue with the reorganization of the hospital and with the analysis of the cost of patient care and to report to me when he thought the report would have some meaning.

The following Report is the first financial report and is based on the reorganized hospital. They state in their report that they feel there are still many inaccuracies but they hope that by January first they can get at least one or two more months of accurate information so that we may report something meaningful to Senator Lisle and to the Legislature.

I want to express my appreciation to Doctor Fox, Superintendent, and to Monte Welker, Business Manager, who have prepared this report. It looks simple but believe me controlling factors that go into a report of this kind is next to impossible, but I am sure they would not make such a report unless they thought they could get into a position to control the factors enough to give a practical answer to the questions asked.

At the final meeting of the Budget and Financial Control Committee on January 6, 1967, Section 16.2 (11), Code of Iowa, 1966, was discussed by the Committee and they recommended that the Printing Board fully comply with this section as set out in the Code.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the members of the Sixty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

We, the undersigned, hereby submit the following minority report of the Budget and Financial Control Committee:

Since the Sixty-first General Assembly saw fit to relieve the Budget and Financial Control Committee of most all of its financial functions and since the majority party members of the committee fired the Fiscal Director in July of 1965, the committee has occupied itself mainly with mere visitations of state institutions. These are important but hardly merit the full time and talent of the committeemen.

We are happy that a New Fiscal Director was hired in November of 1966 and we trust that in the future a qualified director and staff will be retained on a full time basis. Each legislator is urged to read the duties and responsibilities of the committee in Chapter 2 of the Code. We feel that during the interim there is a real need for a legislative committee to perform a 'watchdog' duty covering all state agencies, boards, commissions and institutions. Detailed reports of its investigations should be supplied periodically to members of the General Assembly. This phase of the committee's duties should be greatly expanded in the coming biennium.

This General Assembly may wish to consider the wisdom of the decision made by the Sixty-first General Assembly transferring the contingent funds of the state to control by the executive council.

BUDGET MESSAGE

to the
SIXTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Honorable Harold E. Hughes, Governor of Iowa

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Members of the Sixty-second General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Chapter 8 of the Code of Iowa specifies that "not later than February 1st of the year of each biennial session the Governor shall transmit to the legislature a document to be known as a budget, setting forth his financial program for each of the fiscal years of the ensuing biennium."

The derivation of the word budget is a matter of some interest. It comes from the Latin and French words meaning bag and, in our language, a "budget" formerly meant a "loose bundle."

Whatever else may be said about the budget I am about to submit to you, I assure you it is not a loose bundle. A bundle, perhaps, but not loose.

Copies of the complete text of this message will be distributed to you following this joint convention, together with copies of a not-so-brief set of financial schedules known as the "Budget in Brief." The complete printed budget, showing a detailed breakdown of all proposed expenditures by departments and of all sources of revenue will be transmitted to you within the next few days.

Literally hundreds of individuals have roles in providing the facts and figures that go into this financial plan for the state for the next two years. I acknowledge with gratitude the dedicated cooperation of department heads and other key personnel and the good work of the Comptroller and his able staff.

If a Budget Message has a reason for existence, it should be something more than a deadly recitation of statistics that can be more clearly seen from the actual tabulations.

It should, as I see it, be an expression of a basic philosophy of government. And it should set forth a specific plan for action based on that philosophy together with an analysis of the special needs and conditions of the period involved that are relevant to good financial planning.

The most salient fact about our present condition in Iowa is, of course, our extraordinary economic health. We have had four consecutive years of record industrial development. Farm income has been relatively good and agricultural production has been at high levels. Our rate of general economic growth has been ahead of the national average and ahead of the states around us. We have been at the forefront among the states in the rate of increase in personal income.

I mention these facts not to ring any bells of self congratulation but to emphasize conditions that need to be taken into consideration in our financial planning. It is much easier to identify major social and economic trends in a history book than to recognize what is happening in our own time and place. This is not just another era in Iowa's development; it is one of our finest hours and I believe we have the responsibility to make the best of it.

Most economists agree that our favorable economic growth trend is likely to continue, although probably not at the unprecedented rate of the past few years. Many imponderables will influence the future -- such as weather, federal taxes and the international situation. These factors are beyond our control.

Other factors that will shape the years ahead are within our control and capabilities. If we are to keep our development going in this competitive age, it will be necessary to make the long-range public investments in education, industrial promotion, public safety, public health, conservation and the other vital fields that will provide the necessary foundation for continuing growth. Obviously, this entails some sacrifice of immediate luxury and personal convenience in order to build a better future for ourselves and our children.

The Old Testament prophesy of seven years of plenty and seven years of famine does not literally apply to the Iowa of our times and we can be thankful for that. But the underlying point is valid. History shows that such rapid economic growth as we have been experiencing recently does not continue indefinitely. In a period of comparative affluence, such as the present one, I believe the prudent course is to take care of some basic, long-range needs while we have the resources with which to get the job done.

The most widely discussed factor that enters into our financial planning is the current substantial surplus in the state's general fund.

Part of this surplus, as you know, is non-recurring revenue resulting from the establishment of the withholding system for the individual income tax last year and from the institution of monthly, instead of quarterly reporting, in the method of collecting the sales taxes.

Another very substantial factor in the sharp upturn of revenues from the personal income tax was the fact that the advent of withholding caused thousands of persons to file and pay state income tax who had previously been non-filers. For the first time in history, we had reasonable assurance that all of those who should pay state income tax were, in fact, paying their fair share.

However, the major part of the surplus results, as previously stated, from our economic growth on many fronts.

There are those who advocate the spending of a sizable portion of the state's balance through the immediate distribution of cash refunds to the taxpayers amounting to half of the 1965 personal income tax paid.

I do not question the desirability of any kind of a refund or that there are logical arguments to support the idea. However, I sincerely urge you to reject the proposal. The immense benefits of investing these funds in our future will far outweigh the immediate luxury of a refund that would be modest for most taxpayers.

I would emphasize the fact that the surplus consists entirely of legitimate, once-collected state revenues. No taxpayer has paid any tax twice, although it is true that the 1965 personal income tax was collected in the same year in which wages were withheld for the 1966 taxes.

The present state surplus that looks large at first glance undergoes a rapid shrinkage when you start allocating it to the growing needs of the state that are set forth in this budget. And in the end, no matter how prudently the available funds are expended, we will fall short of meeting the major needs as adequately as we would like. But we will have made a giant stride in that direction.

I would call your attention to the fact that a surplus in the state treasury is not a new or unique phenomenon in Iowa. Many times in the past, our Legislatures have had large surplus funds to work with. In 1949, for example, the surplus was almost identical in dollars with what we have today.

The point is that in each instance, these Legislatures of the past did not elect to invest the available funds in the growing needs of the state. The most tragic part of these earlier decisions was the repeated neglect of capital needs.

As a consequence, we have today, not only our current problems to deal with, but we have a great deal of catching up to do as a result of the omissions of the past.

Responsible budget-making calls for constant reference to the total structure of the governmental function -- the big, over-all picture of our revenues and needs. To the best of my ability, I have recommended departmental expenditures where I felt they were needed the most at this particular time. In some cases, I have sorely regretted the necessary gap between a department's asking and the recommended figure in the budget.

There will, of course, be many differences of opinion on the suggested allocations. But I sincerely hope that we can agree on one basic point -- that we should take advantage of this opportune time to invest in the substantive needs of the state and not to repeat the errors of the past. Only in this way, as I see it, can we keep faith with ourselves and with future generations of Iowans.

REVENUES FROM EXISTING TAX BASE

For the past several years, I have been calling attention to the signs of increased vitality in Iowa's economy. But the amazing thrust of our economic growth during the past two years, as measured by such a reliable economic indicator as the rate of increase in personal income, has far surpassed my most optimistic expectations.

Reflecting this remarkable advancement on many fronts of the state's economy, the state government's revenues have run substantially ahead of our predictions. It was originally estimated that there would be an unencumbered balance in the state treasury -- available to provide a working balance and appropriations for the next biennium -- of approximately $30 million on June 30, 1967, the end of the current biennium.

It is now anticipated that this unencumbered balance or surplus will be $94.4 million.

Originally, the total receipts for the present biennium were estimated at $528.5 million. It is now anticipated that the total receipts will be $601.8 million -- an increase of $73.3 million for the biennium.

The increases have occurred in all revenue sources, but principally in the two taxes which comprise the major source of revenues -- personal income taxes and sales taxes. These are the "backbone" taxes which furnish the bulk of the support for the state's appropriations for the Board of Regents, Board of Control, Social Welfare, School Aids, and other major state functions.

Sales tax receipts totaled $86.2 million in the first year of the current biennium, and it is estimated that they will total $93 million in this, the second year. Both totals are exclusive of the non-recurring revenues received as a result of the institution in 1966 of monthly, instead of quarterly reporting, in the sales tax collection.

Percentage-wise, these totals represent increases of eleven and nine per cent for the first and second years respectively. Making due allowance for inflation, such increases are unprecedented in the history of the state's sales tax revenues.

The fact that Iowa has been a leader among the states in rate of increase in personal income in recent years is reflected in the growth of our receipts from the personal income tax.

For three consecutive years, ending with June 30, 1967, the record will show a gain for each year of 20 per cent or more. This is exclusive of the one-shot revenue gain we had last year as the result of the establishment of the withholding system.

Projecting this growth at a somewhat lesser rate for the biennium ahead, revenues from income taxes are estimated to total in excess of $115 million for the year ending June 30, 1969 -- or an increase of more than 140 per cent in five years.

Indications are that the revenue growth from our sales and income taxes will continue at a healthy rate in the two years of the next biennium. However, it would be unrealistic to assume that the recent phenomenal rate will be sustained. Growth rarely continues over long periods at such rates of increase.

Consequently, my budget and related revenue estimates for the next biennium are calculated on a growth factor of approximately six per cent for each year in the sales tax revenues and growth factors of 15 per cent and 10 per cent respectively in the personal income tax revenues.

As a result of the economic growth of the past two years and its projected continuation, it is possible to do a reasonable job of meeting the ongoing needs of the state and to catch up with some of the accumulated needs of the past with existing revenue sources.

This budget, therefore, calls for no tax increases at this time.

In line with the philosophy expressed earlier in this message, it will be seen that I have recommended that our surplus be used primarily for capital needs appropriations and the maintenance of a safe and reasonable working balance of about $12.7 million in the state treasury.

PROPOSED EXPENDITURES

The budget I recommend to you today is a balanced budget with an average annual expenditure of $376.3 million. This is an increase over the previous biennium of more than $100 million per year. Substantial increases are provided for capital improvements, Board of Regents institutions, Board of Control institutions, Vocational Education, and local aids to schools. Also, funds are provided for other local credits by the state to replace or supplement existing local taxes.

It will be seen that the greatest area of increase is in education and related programs of state aid to local governments.

State support of education at all levels through operating funds and state aids, plus the homestead credit, agricultural land tax credit and other state funds that are channeled back to the local level comprise 61.4 per cent of my proposed budget. This amounts to $231 million -- $64 million more than for this biennium and $23 million more than the entire state budget for 1963-1965.

Specifically, my major budget recommendations for the next biennium are as follows:

Board of Regents

Enrollments continue to increase at our three state-supported institutions of higher learning. Competition for faculty and staff becomes more keen each year. To help meet these needs, I recommend an annual increase of $18 million in operating funds for the Board of Regents institutions, or a total for each year of $80 million. This is an increase of nearly 30 per cent over the present biennium, and represents the largest increase, both in dollars and percentage, in recent years.

Board of Control

I recommend an annual appropriation of $35.9 million for the Board of Control institutions, as compared to $28.8 million available for the current biennium.

Included in my recommendations are the funds needed to move all of the institutions toward the respective national standards in mental health and corrections. In some areas, large additional appropriations are needed to meet these standards -- particularly in mental retardation programs at Glenwood and Woodward -- while in other areas lesser increases are necessary.

In corrections, funds are provided for the operation of the Iowa Security Mental Health Facility at Oakdale to be completed during the coming biennium, and of the Pre-release Center at Newton.

Funds are provided in my recommendations for the Foster Care Program initiated during the present biennium at the Iowa Training School for Boys at Eldora, the Training School for Girls at Mitchellville, the State Juvenile Home at Toledo and the Annie Wittenmyer Home for neglected and dependent children at Davenport.

Within the central office budget of the Board of Control, funds are provided in my recommendations to expand the Board's Community Services Division, which provides child welfare and juvenile parole services in the larger cities and towns of Iowa.

Conservation Commission

Funds are provided for increased activity in the area of conservation and for further utilization of our natural recreational areas. A large step was taken by the Sixty-first General Assembly which nearly doubled the appropriation to the Conservation Commission's program. The amounts suggested in this budget recommendation continue the program adopted two years ago and also provide for additional conservation officers to staff the new recreational areas.

Health Department

Notable advancement in our public health programs has been made in the past two years as a result of the reorganization of the State Board of Health and our State Health Department.

Funds have been provided in my recommended budget to insure the continuance of the active and dedicated public health program now under way and to enable the Health Department to expand its activities in the area of local health services.

Social Welfare

I recommend to you that the budget of the Department of Social Welfare be increased to $33.8 million per year, or an increase of nearly 40 per cent. Also, as an integral part of this increase, I recommend the legislation necessary for the State of Iowa to participate immediately under the Medical Assistance Program of the Federal Government, commonly referred to as Title Nineteen of the Social Security Act, which provides medical benefits to welfare recipients.

With this legislation, and the funds I have recommended, we will be able to provide full subsistence payments in the categorical assistance programs, including principally Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children.

Further, I propose that the State assume a greater portion of the financial responsibility for the Foster Care Program now being borne by the counties in the Child Welfare Program. This amounts to approximately $750,000 each year of the biennium.

Public Safety

During the present biennium, 100 patrolmen were added to our Highway Patrol complement to cope with the explosive increase in traffic on our highways. We are still short of needed law enforcement. I am, therefore, recommending that an additional 30 patrolmen be added each year of the coming biennium. This would provide a total Highway Patrol force of 460 by July 1, 1968.

To help control the rising incidence of traffic accidents, I am recommending additional funds for research, statistics, information, and education programs of the Department of Public Safety.

Development Commission

The Iowa Development Commission has had a significant role in Iowa's unparalleled industrial growth of the past few years. Funds are provided in this budget to strengthen the Commission's operation with particular emphasis placed on additional staffing needs in export programs, state regional workshops and tourism.

Agricultural Products Promotion

An appropriation for Agricultural Products Promotion in the amount of $250,000 for each year of the biennium is recommended in this budget.

In any Budget Message, it is obvious that time does not permit detailing the specific recommendations for every department. Yet the operation of each department is so vital to meeting one or another phase of human needs that I hate to pass over any one of them. As I proceed with this message, I will simply touch upon a few high points to suggest the scope and diversity of the material you will find in the complete budget report. Among my remaining recommendations, for example, are the following:

Agriculture Department -- Increase in number of inspectors to enforce the Meat and Poultry Inspection law.

Civil Rights Commission -- Additional staff and budget to combat illegal discriminatory practices.

Commerce Commission, Utilities Division -- A substantial increase in staff and operating funds for regulation of public utilities in Iowa.

Higher Education Facilities Commission -- Appropriation for scholarships to Iowa students on a need basis.

Industrial Commission -- Provision for a Rehabilitation Division to provide services quickly and adequately for those injured in industrial accidents.

Bureau of Labor -- Further implementation of the program of the Employment Safety Commission for the prevention of industrial accidents.

Parole Board -- Five additional agents to more adequately rehabilitate parolees.

State Planning Office -- Funds to provide the state's share of our federally assisted comprehensive, long-range state planning program.

State Treasurer -- Funds to provide for full-time investment services of competent and expert staff.

District and Supreme Court Judges -- Funds for salary increases in keeping with duties and responsibilities of the judiciary.

Tax Commission -- Implementation of a more fully automated system in withholding collections and refunds.

Vocational Rehabilitation -- Expanded program in rehabilitation in conjunction with the Federal Programs. Also, Capital funds for replacement of older facilities.

Public Instruction Central Office -- Increase in staff for counseling with area vocational schools and junior colleges.

STATE AID TO SCHOOLS

Two years ago, I recommended and the legislature approved, substantial additions to the State Aid Programs, so that the state would participate in the rising costs on the local levels. The increase in school aids was approximately $18.1 million, plus $3.7 million in increased Agricultural Land Tax Credits.

My present recommendations for State Aid to Schools call for a total of $73.3 million per year, as compared to $48.2 million for the current biennium -- an increase of more than 50 per cent. Further, I recommend an increase of $4 million in the Agricultural Land Tax Credits, or a total of $19 million for each year.

Included also in the total state aids is the recommendation that the general school aids be divided equitably between the Community College -- Vocational School students and the elementary--secondary students.

LOCAL TAX CREDITS

As noted previously, I am recommending several local tax credits, for replacement of local taxes or for needed relief to certain groups of citizens.

First, I recommend that $1.5 million be appropriated annually to supplement the Moneys and Credits Replacement Fund created by the last General Assembly. This will provide that claims against the fund by the counties will equal the tax funds lost locally. It is not anticipated that this appropriation will be necessary subsequent to this General Assembly, as money raised by the surtax on taxable income over $9,000 will be increasing at a faster pace than the fixed claims.

Secondly, I propose an additional benefit to elderly persons with limited incomes who are in need because of costs resulting from property taxes or rents. This benefit, limited to $62.50 per year per household, would be based on gross income of the household and the assessed valuation of the homestead or the monthly rent paid.

Finally, I recommend that the state replace from its tax sources the local funds raised on the taxation of household goods -- approximately $5.3 million per year. All of us are familiar with the local problem of assessment and administration of this nuisance tax. To insure orderly elimination of the tax, I recommend the state reimburse the local governments for this loss in revenue, at least for the next two years.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

I recommend a total capital expenditure for new or remodeled building facilities, land and equipment in the next biennium of $69.2 million, as compared to $42.9 million in the present biennium -- an increase of 61 per cent.

Major areas of increase are as follows:

Board of Regents -- up $9 million to $30 million.

Board of Control -- up $3 million to $9 million.

Department of Public Instruction -- up $11.6 million to $17.6 million.

The Board of Regents capital recommendation will provide funds to continue and accelerate the construction of needed buildings on the campuses of the three state institutions of higher learning at Iowa City, Ames and Cedar Falls. Also included are funds for construction of a state law enforcement academy.

Included in the Board of Control recommendation are funds to complete the maximum security hospital at Oakdale and funds to commence the planning and initial construction phase of a new intermediate security corrections institution which will ultimately replace existing and obsolete facilities at Anamosa.

Of the capital recommendation for the Department of Public Instruction, $14 million is to build additional schools in the state area vocational-technical school system which was so well started with a $6 million appropriation from the last General Assembly.

Also recommended for the Department of Public Instruction is $3 million for the establishment of a communication service network for Iowa, embracing a statewide system of educational radio and television -- an area long overlooked, but with far-reaching potential.

For the Conservation Commission, I recommend $6 million in capital funds, to be used with federal funds for the purchase of land and the meeting of other capital needs in the area of conservation and outdoor recreation.

Finally, in the capital improvements budget, I recommend $4.5 million for completion of the State Office Building now under construction, and for another new structure of similar size. This additional building will insure that aged structures which presently house state offices and which have long been condemned by the fire marshal as unsafe, can be replaced and costly rentals for state office space scattered in various locations away from the Capitol grounds can be avoided.

STATE SALARIES AND FRINGE BENEFITS

Significant and important changes were made by the General Assemblies in the past two sessions relating to the 'employment environment' of state employees. The Sixtieth General Assembly provided changes in the Iowa Public Employees Retirement System which laid the framework for long-range retirement planning. I propose further changes within this framework now -- first, the removal of the ceiling on salaries subject to the system, and secondly, raising the contribution rate for both employees and employers to 3.75 percent.

As I stated in my Inaugural Message to you last week, these proposed changes will, on an actuarially sound basis, accomplish both higher pensions for those retiring subsequently, and also provide the funds to increase pensions of those presently retired under the system.

While there are other technical changes suggested in the retirement system to you in my budget, these are the two main improvements necessary to substantially upgrade the system at this time.

The Sixty-first General Assembly substantially raised the salary level of the executive group in state government, following an independent study. The purpose of the increases was to attract and keep competent people in public service. My budget proposal continues this policy of providing adequate, competitive salaries for key state administrators.

It was apparent to me during the course of the departmental budget hearings that while the basic salary structure for state employees is approaching a more competitive basis with business and industry, the state has not kept pace at all in the field of 'fringe benefits.' Accordingly, in addition to the proposed increases in the Iowa Public Retirement System, I recommend that funds be provided for an employees' life insurance group policy, to be paid fully by the state. While details are yet to be completed, it appears that a fair and equitable plan would be to provide for a $5,000.00 group policy for all full-time employees, with some lesser amount of paid-up insurance provided upon retirement.

Also, funds are provided in my budget recommendations to double the participation rate by the state in the hospital and major medical plan, raising the state participation to a maximum of six dollars per month.

Thus, with an improved retirement plan, adequate vacation and sick-leave policies now in existence, group life insurance, and increased participation in the hospital and medical plan, it is our hope that the loss of qualified state personnel because of lack of fringe benefits will be arrested.

I do not mean to slight the basic pay policies, or indicate to you that in every area of employment we have adequate pay scales. This would be far from the truth.

Pay scales in some areas are still inadequate as measured by the standards of the present day, although encouraging progress has been made in recent years. Moreover, there are some inequities within the governmental framework where a certain class of employees in one department or division may be drawing less than the same class of employment elsewhere. As you review the individual departmental budgets, you will see that I have made suggestions to eliminate such inequities.

It is obvious that one of the prime needs of the state is to attract and keep qualified personnel. Looking at this problem realistically, I have provided in this budget for increases of approximately four to five per cent annually to all employees, based on merit.

STATE MERIT SYSTEM

Competitive pay scales, working conditions and fringe benefits are all necessary if we are to get the quality of people we want in government service. But there is another imperative -- and perhaps it is the most important one of all.

We need a sound and fair merit system for all state employees, and funds for the development and administration of such a system are provided for in my proposed budget. A patronage system with its never-ending political hirings and firings does not meet today's demands for trained and dedicated personnel.

As I have stated before, I am willing to work with you on any reasonable and workable merit system plan that you can offer.

Ladies and Gentlemen, these are the general outlines of the budget.

You will note that it is a balanced budget without tax increases.

In drawing up this budget, I have not pre-supposed what the General Assembly will do regarding government reorganization.

However, consideration was given to the prospect of major reorganization as we went along, and the budget as transmitted can be adapted with no difficulty to a reorganization structure designed along the general lines of the Public Administration Service recommendations.

The state aids that I recommend in this budget represent far and away the greatest state outlays to local jurisdictions in Iowa's history.

Despite this fact, I do not pretend that even these sizable increases will reduce local property tax loads. This can only be accomplished, as we all know, by major revision of our entire assessment and state-local tax structure.

I have recommended some needed tax relief measures earlier in this message, but these are simply beginning steps toward major tax reform.

I will be communicating with you further in the days ahead on the subject of tax revision and I stand ready to discuss with any of you, individually or collectively, the problems relating to our present tax structure and possible changes in it. I have also advised the department heads involved in the over-all taxing structure, the administration of our taxes and the collection of our revenues, to be prepared to work closely with your committees upon request.

Despite the comparative affluence of the state at the present time, I am well aware that you and your constituents are deeply concerned about the inequities in our present tax system. Farmers and city dwellers alike carry a heavy burden of property tax. Older citizens on fixed, limited incomes find themselves hard-pressed. Businessmen and farmers pay a major part of the costs of government through the personal property tax. Industries show constant unease about local property tax rates in communities where their plants are located.

These inequities in our tax system need to be corrected and we are all aware that it will take a lot of doing. The present economic health of the state and the favorable fiscal condition of the state treasury afford us an opportune time to give basic tax reform the intensive consideration it must have.

In the meantime, it would be the sheerest folly to retrench at this point and to turn back from the path of progress we have, at long last, found. This would be to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. All of our bright hopes for progress, including tax reform, would go glimmering if we permitted this to happen.

Recently I read about some citizens in a city of another state who were petitioning to have the name of their street changed. The name they objected to was "High Tax Road." I am sure that none of us want to live on High Tax Road. We also don't want to live on Stagnation Avenue. We would like the street where we live and the state where we live to be subject to fair and reasonable taxes and to be provided with quality services of progressive government.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the tasks before you are very great. But the opportunities for constructive action are unparalleled.

I have the deepest faith in your ability, your determination and your integrity of purpose.

May the Good Lord help you make those decisions that will build a better Iowa for the good of all.

Governor Hughes was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Frommelt of Dubuque moved that the Joint Convention be dissolved.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

House Concurrent Resolution 3

Although the resolution has a certain amount of appeal, I opposed it for two reasons. First of all, I believe that the authority for spending tax moneys should rest with the level of government that has been vested with the responsibility for raising the taxes. Thus, a more reasonable alternative would be: asking Congress to reduce taxes; thus giving the states the opportunity to raise additional money. Second, if the intent of this resolution were to be realized, it seems to me that some states, including Iowa, would accept the tax rebates as tax relief from present taxing programs, and do nothing to strengthen their role in solving problems.

AL MEACHAM, Secretary

Caffrey of Polk offered the following concurrent resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 4

By: Caffrey of Polk

Whereas, President Johnson has said "The Savings Bonds Program is both prudent and patriotic. It is patriotic because it strengthens the economy of our country; it supports our fighting men in Viet Nam and the cause of freedom everywhere; it helps to preserve the buying power of our dollars. For all of these reasons, I believe U.S. Savings Bonds are the most important investment any American can make."; and

Whereas, President Johnson has also said "Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord--who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bonds Program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Viet Nam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share--in every way we can--to support our men in Viet Nam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bonds Program."; therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that all members of the Sixty-second General Assembly, their staffs and all other legislative personnel are hereby urged to purchase a United States Savings Bond each month that the General Assembly is in session so that they will by precept and example encourage all Iowans to do likewise.

Laid over under Rule 25.

JOINT STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE

Amend the joint standing rules of the Senate and the House to read as follows:

Rule 4

When a bill shall have passed both houses it shall be duly enrolled and the fact of its origin shall be certified by the endorsement of the secretary or clerk thereof.

Bills and joint resolutions shall be printed on good paper of pages 8 1/2" x 11" in size with type not less than 10 point in size and in form as provided by law and by rule. A substitute for a bill offered by a member or by a committee, where it is entirely or substantially a complete substitute for the particular bill, unless otherwise ordered, shall be printed as a substitute for the original bill and the caption shall so indicate, giving the substitute the same number as the original bill, but reciting "Senate (or House) substitute for Senate (or House) File _____", and such substitute bill shall, by the file clerk, be included in the bill file next to the original bill, and such substitute bill shall not be printed in the journals.

Legalizing acts of a local or private nature shall not be printed in the journal, but are to be printed in bill form only when the cost of such printing shall be deposited with the superintendent of printing at the rate of which shall be fixed under the current contract for legislative printing for the bills, and the newspaper publication of such bill shall be without expense to the state, and same shall not be published until the cost of same has been paid to the secretary of state.

Rule 14

All bills and joint resolutions introduced shall be of typewritten copy with titles, enacting clause and body of the bill as directed by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House. One copy of each bill shall be presented securely fastened in a bill cover and be accompanied by three correct copies thereof and by three copies of the title alone, on separate sheets.

Rule 19

The Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House are hereby authorized and directed to prepare a daily clip sheet covering all amendments filed or offered to any House or Senate bill. The written or printed lines of an amendment, except the last line of each paragraph, shall contain in spaces, characters, and letters approximately sixty (60). All amendments shall be arranged and numbered by line so as to compare exactly with the original copy of the amendment proposed.

TEMPORARY RULES OF THE HOUSE

Amend the temporary rules of the House to read as follows:

Rule 17 should be checked as possibly one of the rooms listed may be assigned to the House Majority Leader.

Rule 26

Every house bill shall be introduced by one or more members, by any standing or specially authorized committee of the house, or by the Legislative Research Committee. All bills and joint resolutions introduced shall be of typewritten copy with title, enacting clause, and body of bill as directed by the Chief Clerk of the House. One copy of each bill shall be presented in a bill cover and be accompanied by three correct copies thereof, and by three copies of the title alone on separate sheets of paper. No bill shall be introduced nor shall the Chief Clerk accept the same unless an adequate explanation thereof is included at the end of each bill; this provision shall not apply to appropriation bills for any agency or department of the state government.

Rule 29

All bills and joint resolutions to be introduced in the House shall be typed into proper form by the Legislative Research Bureau and shall be filed with the Chief Clerk not later than 4 o'clock on the preceding legislative day. When the time for introducing bills is reached in the regular order of business, the Chief Clerk will proceed in the same manner as if the bills were introduced from the floor. This rule does not deny a member the right to introduce a bill from the floor if the bill has previously been typed in proper form by the Research Bureau.

Every bill shall receive two readings but no bill shall receive its first and last readings on the same day.

Rule 30

Upon a first reading of the bill, the Speaker shall state that it is ready for commitment or amendment; and the Speaker shall commit it to the standing or select committee, or to a committee of the whole House. If to a committee of the whole House, the House shall determine on what day.

All amendments offered to bills on file or on the calendar shall be accompanied by three carbon or correct copies and shall be filed with the Chief Clerk.

Such amendments shall give the number of the bill sought to amend and the Chief Clerk shall designate each such amendment thus: Amendment to House File _____, or Senate File _____, by _____.

A new bill proposed by a standing committee of the House shall go directly to the Calendar unless it covers subject matter more properly within the jurisdiction of some other standing committee, in which case the Speaker shall commit it to such committee. However, it shall require two-thirds of the committee present and voting to authorize the introduction of a committee bill, except in the case of the appropriations committee.

Rule 39

Bills and joint resolutions shall be printed in form as provided by law and by rule. Each house may direct the printing of an additional number of its own bills. A substitute for a bill offered by a member or by a committee, where it is entirely or substantially a complete substitute for the particular bill, unless otherwise ordered, shall be printed as a substitute for the original bill (and the caption shall so indicate, giving the substitute the same number as the original bill, but reciting "substitute for" such bill), and such substitute bill shall by the File Clerk be included in the bill file next to the original bill and such substitute bill shall not be printed in the Journals.

Legalizing bills of a local or private nature shall be printed in bill form and placed in the files of the members, the same as other bills, in the order of their introduction. The cost of such printing shall be deposited with the superintendent of printing, in advance at a rate to be fixed by him, and the newspaper publication of the same shall be without cost to the state and the same shall not be published until the cost of same shall be paid to the Secretary of State. No legalizing act may be introduced until all of the provisions of law shall have been complied with.

BY: Bailey, Klein, Winkelman, Smith,
Hanson of Benton, VanNostrand,
Edgington, Nielsen, Hullinger,
Roe, Middleswart, Nelson, Mowry,
Van Drie, McNamara and McCartney

Whereas, recent decisions of the Supreme Court have construed the Fourteenth Amendment as requiring that the seats in both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis with representatives selected from districts of as nearly equal population as practicable; and

WHEREAS, since the founding of this country it has been customary for the states, and in accord with the structure of the Congress under the Constitution, to consider factors other than population alone in the apportionment of seats in one house of their respective legislative bodies;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring, of the Sixty-second General Assembly of Iowa that this legislature respectfully applies to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for the purpose of proposing the following article as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

“Article _____

“Section 1. Nothing in this Constitution shall prohibit any state which shall have a bicameral legislature from apportioning the membership of one house of such legislature on factors other than population, provided that the plan of such apportionment shall have been submitted to and approved by a vote of the electorate of that state.

Section 2. Nothing in this Constitution shall restrict or limit a state in its determination of how membership of governing bodies of its subordinate units shall be apportioned.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states within seven years from the date of its submission to the states by the Congress.”

Be It Further Resolved that if Congress shall have proposed an amendment to the Constitution identical with that contained in this resolution prior to June 1, 1967, this application for a Convention shall no longer be of any force or effect.

Be It Further Resolved that a duly attested copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States and to each member of the Congress from this state.

Laid over under Rule 25.

SPECIAL ORDER
HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTIONS 3 AND 4

The hour of 10:30 a.m. having arrived, Speaker Baringer announced the "special order" for the consideration of House Joint Resolution 3, a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa relating to the composition of the General Assembly, the basis of representation of the members thereof, and the establishment of congressional districts.

Gannon of Jasper asked for unanimous consent to substitute Senate Joint Resolution 5 for House Joint Resolution 3.

Objection was raised.

Gannon of Jasper moved that Senate Joint Resolution 5 be substituted for House Joint Resolution 3.

Van Nostrand of Pottawattamie raised the point of order that substitution of Senate Joint Resolution 5 for House Joint Resolution 3 was out of order because Senate Joint Resolution 5 had not passed the Senate.

The Speaker ruled the point well taken, and that substitution of Senate Joint Resolution 5 for House Joint Resolution 3 was out of order.

Van Nostrand of Pottawattamie moved to substitute Senate Joint Resolution 8 for House Joint Resolution 3.

Motion prevailed.

Maloney of Polk offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend Senate Joint Resolution 8 by striking all after the resolving clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the state of Iowa is hereby proposed:

Section six (6) of Article three (III), section thirty-four (34) of Article three (III) and the 1904 and 1928 amendments thereto, sections thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) of Article three (III) and the 1904 amendment to each such section, and section thirty seven (37) of Article three (III) are hereby repealed and the following adopted in lieu thereof:

"Section 6. The number of senators shall total not more than one-half (1/2) the membership of the house of representatives. Senators shall be classified so that as nearly as possible one-half (1/2) of the members of the senate shall be elected every two (2) years.

"Section 34. The senate shall be composed of not more than fifty (50) and the house of representatives of not more than one hundred (100) members. Senators and representatives shall be elected from districts established by law. Each district so established shall be of compact and conterminous territory. The number of senatorial districts shall be equal to the number of senators, and one (1) senator shall be elected from each senatorial district. The number of representative districts shall be equal to the number of representatives, and one (1) representative shall be elected from each representative district. The state shall be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts on the basis of population. However, the general assembly may provide by law for factors in addition to population, not in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, which may be considered in the apportioning of senatorial districts. No law so adopted shall permit the establishment of senatorial districts whereby a majority of the members of the senate shall represent less than forty (40) percent of the population of the state as shown by the most recent United States decennial census.

"Section 35. The general assembly, at its first session which begins after this amendment is ratified, and after each United States decennial census at its first session during which the necessary official population statistics for said census are available or become available, shall adopt an apportionment which shall specify the number of senators and representatives to be elected to the general assembly and establish senatorial and representative districts. The apportionment shall comply with all requirements of the Constitution and shall remain in effect until the next decennial apportionment hereunder. The general assembly shall complete the apportionment during said session. If the apportionment fails to become law during said session, the supreme court shall cause the state to be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts to comply with the requirements of the Constitution within ninety (90) days after adjournment of said session. The reapportioning authority may, where necessary in establishing senatorial districts, shorten and terminate the term of any senator. Any senator whose term is so terminated shall not be compensated for the uncompleted part of the term. In establishing senatorial districts, the reapportioning authority may temporarily attach any area to another senatorial district.

"Section 36. Upon verified application by any qualified elector, the supreme court shall review an apportionment adopted by the general assembly which has been enacted into law. Should the supreme court determine such apportionment does not comply with the requirements of the Constitution, the court shall within ninety (90) days adopt or cause to be adopted an apportionment which shall so comply. The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction of all litigation questioning the apportionment of the general assembly or any apportionment adopted by the general assembly."

Sec. 2. The foregoing proposed amendment to the Constitution of the state of Iowa is hereby referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election for members of the general assembly and the secretary of state is directed to cause the same to be published for three (3) consecutive months previous to the date of said election as provided by law.

Van Nostrand of Pottawattamie moved that Senate Joint Resolution 8 be deferred and retain its place on the calendar.

Roll call was requested by Gannon of Jasper and O'Malley of Polk.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 4

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa relating to the composition and apportionment of the general assembly, the basis of representation of the members thereof, and the establishment of congressional districts.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the state of Iowa is hereby proposed:

Section six (6) of Article three (III), section thirty-four (34) of Article three (III) and the 1904 and 1928 amendments thereto, sections thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) of Article three (III) and the 1904 amendment to each such section, and section thirty-seven (37) of Article three (III) are hereby repealed and the following adopted in lieu thereof:

"Section 6. The number of senators shall total not more than one-half (1/2) the membership of the house of representatives. Senators shall be classified so that as nearly as possible one-half (1/2) of the members of the senate shall be elected every two (2) years.

"Section 34. The senate shall be composed of not more than fifty (50) and the house of representatives of not more than one hundred (100) members. Senators and representatives shall be elected from districts established by law. Each district so established shall be of compact and conterminous territory. The number of senatorial districts shall be equal to the number of senators, and one (1) senator shall be elected from each senatorial district. The number of representative districts shall be equal to the number of representatives, and one (1) representative shall be elected from each representative district. The state shall be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts on the basis of population. However, the general assembly may provide by law for factors in addition to population, not in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, which may be considered in the apportioning of senatorial districts. No law so adopted shall permit the establishment of senatorial districts whereby a majority of the members of the senate shall represent less than forty (40) percent of the population of the state as shown by the most recent United States decennial census.

"Section 35. The general assembly, at its first session which begins after this amendment is ratified, and after each United States decennial census at its first session during which the necessary official population statistics for said census are available or become available, shall adopt an apportionment which shall specify the number of senators and representatives to be elected to the general assembly and establish senatorial and representative districts. The apportionment shall comply with all requirements of the Constitution and shall remain in effect until the next decennial apportionment hereunder. The general assembly shall complete the apportionment during said session. If the apportionment fails to become law during said session, the supreme court shall cause the state to be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts to comply with the requirements of the Constitution within ninety (90) days after adjournment of said session. The reapportioning authority may, where necessary in establishing senatorial districts, shorten and terminate the term of any senator. Any senator whose term is so terminated shall not be compensated for the uncompleted part of the term. In establishing senatorial districts, the reapportioning authority may temporarily attach any area to another senatorial district.

"Section 36. Upon verified application by any qualified elector, the supreme court shall review an apportionment adopted by the general assembly which has been enacted into law. Should the supreme court determine such apportionment does not comply with the requirements of the Constitution, the court shall within ninety (90) days adopt or cause to be adopted an apportionment which shall so comply. The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction of all litigation questioning the apportionment of the general assembly or any apportionment adopted by the general assembly."

"Section 37. When a congressional district is composed of two (2) or more counties it shall not be entirely separated by a county belonging to another district and no county shall be divided in forming a congressional district."

Sec. 2. The foregoing proposed amendment to the Constitution of the state of Iowa is hereby referred to the general assembly to be chosen at the next general election for members of the general assembly and the secretary of state is directed to cause the same to be published for three (3) consecutive months previous to the date of said election as provided by law.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

To the members of the 62nd General Assembly of the State of Iowa

Pursuant to Chapter 5 of the Code of Iowa, 1966, the Commission on Uniform State Laws herewith files its report on its activities.

At the present time the Commission is composed of Allan D. Vestal, Iowa City, George Lindeman, Waterloo, and E. W. McNeil of Montezuma. All of the present statutory members were appointed in 1964 by Governor Hughes. In addition, Mason Ladd of Iowa City and Carl Pryor of Burlington are life members of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

At an organizational meeting, the statutory commissioners selected Allan D. Vestal as chairman and E. W. McNeil as secretary.

In 1965 the annual meeting was held in Hollywood, Florida, in August, and was attended by Commissioners Vestal, McNeil and Lindeman, and by Life Commissioner Ladd. A number of matters were considered by the Conference and the following uniform acts promulgated:

- (1) Uniform Statutory Construction Act.
- (2) Revised Uniform Gifts to Minors Act.
- (3) Revised Uniform Post-Conviction Procedure Act.

The first two of these were approved by the American Bar Association at its meeting the following week.

In 1966 the annual meeting was held in Montreal, Canada, during August. This meeting was attended by Commissioners Vestal, McNeil and Lindeman. In addition Life Commissioner Carl Pryor of Burlington, Iowa, attended the meeting. A number of uniform acts were promulgated by the conference in this meeting. The Acts approved by a vote of the states were:

- (1) Uniform Land Sales Practices Act.
- (2) Model Anti-Discrimination Act.
- (3) Model Defense of Needy Persons Act.
- (4) Revised Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act.
- (5) Revised Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act.
- (6) Revised Uniform Federal Tax Lien Registration Act.
- (7) Revised Uniform Gifts to Minors Act (Second Revision).
- (8) Revised Uniform Post-Conviction Procedure Act.

The uniform acts approved in this meeting were then presented to the American Bar Association and approved at its meeting the following week.

The Uniform Commercial Code, promulgated by the conference in September, 1951, has now been enacted by 47 of the states, the District of Columbia and the Virgin Islands. This leaves only Arizona, Idaho and Louisiana as non-Code states. In addition Puerto Rico is ready to enact the Code.

The commissioners from the state of Iowa are urging that the attached Uniform Land Sales Practices Act be given careful consideration by the General Assembly at this session. We feel that it answers a need which has existed in this state for some time. Commissioner Lindeman was a member of the Committee which drafted this legislation and so is especially well versed concerning it. All of the commissioners stand ready to do anything that we can to assist the legislature in considering this particular Act.

The commissioners also feel that the revised Uniform Federal Tax Lien Registration Act should be given consideration and passed by this session of the legislature. This is important because of certain changes made in the federal law.

There are a number of other uniform acts which should be given consideration if there is a feeling that such legislation should be adopted in this state. These would include the following Acts:

Revised Uniform Gifts to Minors

Uniform Contribution Among Tortfeasors Act

Uniform Facsimile Signatures of Public Officials Act

Business Records as Evidence Act

Divorce Recognition Act

Acknowledgment Act as Amended

Fiduciaries Act

Foreign Depositions Act

Fraudulent Conveyance Act

Insurers Liquidation Act

Interstate Arbitration of Death Taxes Act
 Interstate Compromise of Death Taxes Act
 Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act Partnership Act
 Principal and Income Act
 Securities Act
 Simplification of Fiduciary Security Transfers, Act on Testamentary Additions to Trusts Act
 Veterans Guardianship Act
 Vital Statistics Act
 Voting by New Residents in Presidential Elections, Act for State Administration Procedure Act (Model Act)

The commissioners stand ready to cooperate with the General Assembly in the adoption of uniform legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

George Lindeman, Waterloo
 E. W. McNeil, Montezuma
 Allan D. Vestal, Iowa City
 Chairman

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SUPREME COURT

IN THE MATTER OF THE

REPORT OF
 OF
 THE STATE OF IOWA

TO THE SIXTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

I

The Supreme Court, on recommendation of its Advisory Committee on Rules of Civil Procedure, has prescribed and, pursuant to Section 684.19, Code of Iowa 1966, reports to you rules and amendments to existing rules as follows:

Rule 237 is revised to read:

237. On what claims. Summary judgment may be had under the following conditions and circumstances:

(a) For claimant. A party seeking to recover upon a claim, counterclaim, or cross-claim or to obtain a declaratory judgment may, at any time after the appearance day or after the filing of a motion for summary judgment by the adverse party, move with or without supporting affidavits for a summary judgment in his favor upon all or any part thereof.

(b) For defending party. A party against whom a claim, counterclaim, or cross-claim is asserted or a declaratory judgment is sought may, at any time, move with or without supporting affidavits for a summary judgment in his favor as to all or any part thereof.

(c) Motion and proceedings thereon. The motion shall be filed at least 10 days before the time fixed for the hearing. The adverse party prior to the day of hearing may file opposing affidavits. The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. A summary judgment, interlocutory in character, may be rendered on the issue of liability alone although there is a genuine issue as to the amount of damages.

(d) Case not fully adjudicated on motion. If on motion under this rule judgment is not rendered upon the whole case or for all the relief asked and a trial is necessary, the court at the hearing of the motion, by examining the pleadings and the evidence before it and by interrogating counsel, shall if practicable ascertain what material facts exist without substantial controversy and what material facts are actually and in good faith controverted. It shall thereupon make an order specifying the facts that appear without substantial controversy, including the extent to which the amount of damages or other relief is not in controversy, and directing such further proceedings in the action as are just. Upon the trial of the action the facts so specified shall be deemed established, and the trial shall be conducted accordingly.

(e) Form of affidavits; Further testimony; Defense required. Supporting and opposing affidavits shall be made on personal knowledge, shall set forth such facts as would be admissible in evidence, and shall show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein. Sworn or certified copies of all papers or parts thereof referred to in an affidavit shall be attached thereto or filed therewith. The court may permit affidavits to be supplemented or opposed by depositions, answers to interrogatories, further affidavits, or oral testimony. When a motion for summary judgment is made and supported as provided in this rule, an adverse party may not rest upon the mere allegations or denials of his pleading, but his response, by affidavits or as otherwise provided in this rule, must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. If he does not so respond, summary judgment, if appropriate, shall be entered against him.

(f) When affidavits are unavailable. Should it appear from the affidavits of a party opposing the motion that he cannot for reasons stated present by affidavit facts essential to justify his opposition, the court may refuse the application for judgment or may order a continuance to permit affidavits to be obtained or depositions to be taken or discovery to be had or may make such other order as is just.

(g) Affidavits made in bad faith. Should it appear to the satisfaction of the court at any time that any of the affidavits presented pursuant to this rule are presented in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court shall forthwith order the party employing them to pay to the other party the amount of the reasonable expenses which the filing of the affidavits caused him to incur, including reasonable attorney's fees, and any offending party or attorney may be adjudged guilty of contempt.

Rule 238 is revised to read:

238. Procedure. Motions and affidavits relating to any claim under rule 237 shall be filed and copies delivered as provided in rule 82 and hearing shall be had thereon as provided in rule 117.

Rule 240. Procedure.

Rule 240 is amended by striking from line three (3) the figure "238" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "237".

Rule 117. Motion day - disposition of motions.

Rule 117(d) is amended by inserting at the end thereof the words "and objections to interrogatories".

Rule 270. The action - pending probate.

Rule 270 is amended by striking from lines seven (7) and eight (8) the words "the notice of the administrator's appointment" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "the second publication of the notice of the appointment of the personal representative".

Rule 260. Levy on personality.

Rule 260(b) is revised to read:

(b) If the creditor or his agent first so requests in writing, the officer may view the property, inventory its exact description at length, and append such inventory to the execution, with his signed statement of the number and title of the case, the amount claimed under the execution, the exact location of the property and in whose possession and the last known address of the judgment debtor; and, if the property is equipment used in farming operations or farm products or consumer goods or if the judgment debtor is not a resident of this state, file with the County Recorder of the county where the property is located his certified transcript of such inventory and statement; and, in all other cases, file with the Secretary of State his certified transcript of such inventory and statement. Such filing shall be accepted by the County Recorder or the Secretary of State as a financing statement and shall be marked, indexed and certified in the same manner, and shall be constructive notice of the levy to all persons. Whenever the writ is satisfied or the levy discharged the officer shall file a termination statement with the County Recorder or Secretary of State. The fees normally charged by the County Recorder or Secretary of State for the filing of a financing statement and the filing of a termination statement shall be paid by the officer and shall be taxed by him as a part of his costs of the levy.

Rule 7 is revised to read:

7. Assignees-exception. In cases not governed by the Uniform Commercial Code the assignment of a thing in action shall be without prejudice to any defense, counterclaim or cause of action matured or not, if matured when pleaded, existing against the assignor in favor of the party pleading it.

Rule 216. Involuntary dismissal.

Rule 216 is amended by inserting after the word "him" in line three (3) the words "or for any appropriate order of court".

Rule 121 is revised to read:

121. Interrogatories-time-nature. In actions other than actions in Justice Court or Class B actions in Municipal Court, and after the general appearance of an adversary, any party may file in duplicate not over 30 numbered interrogatories to be answered by such party's adversary. After a special appearance, any party may file in duplicate not over 30 numbered interrogatories directed only to the issues raised on such special appearance to be answered by the party's adversary. Subject only to the limitations with reference to interrogatories directed to issues raised on a special appearance, interrogatories may relate to matters which can be inquired into under rule 143 and the answers may be used to the same extent as provide in rules 144 and 145 for the use of the deposition of a party.

Rule 199. Separation and deliberation of jury.

Rule 199(b) is revised to read:

(b) On final submission, the jury shall retire for deliberation, and be kept together in charge of an officer until they agree on a verdict or are discharged by the court, unless the court permits the jurors to separate temporarily overnight, on weekends or holidays, or in emergencies. During their deliberations, the officer in charge must not suffer any communication to be made to them, nor make any himself, except to ask them if they have agreed on a verdict, unless by order of court; nor communicate to any person the state of their deliberations, or the verdict agreed upon before it is rendered.

Rule 366 is revised to read:

366. Computing time - holidays. In computing time under these rules the provisions of Code section 4.1 subsection 23 shall govern.

II.

The Legislative Court Study Commission in Part I of its report dealing with Court Structure has recommended the creation of a unified trial court. The report recommends, as an essential adjunct to such unification, a simplified procedure for the enforcement of small claims. The legislature must act on certain recommended bills before a unified court can be established. However, the rules of procedure for a small claims action are the proper subjects of the rule making authority of the supreme court. The commission has set out, commencing on page 16 in Part I of its report, the small claims rules and has submitted them to the supreme court for action.

Section 684.19 of the 1966 Code of Iowa requires the supreme court to report any rules or forms which it may prescribe to the General Assembly within 20 days after the commencement of the regular session. While it is highly unlikely the legislature will have completed action on this important proposition within that time, it is essential that the small claims rules be effective if the legislature does act favorably on the proposition of the unified court during this session. Without expressing approval or disapproval of any of the report of the Legislative Court Study Commission, the supreme court has prescribed rules for the enforcement of small claims to be effective in the event the Sixty-Second General Assembly in regular session adopts legislation creating a unified trial court system. Pursuant to Section 684.19 Code of Iowa 1966 these rules, intended to constitute an additional division to the existing Rules of Civil Procedure, are reported to you as follows:

DIVISION XX

SMALL CLAIMS PROCEDURE: Rules 373 to 383, inclusive, shall take effect January 1, 1969.

Rule 373. Commencement, docket. Civil actions in which the amount in controversy in money or value is less than $300, exclusive of interest and costs, shall be known as small claims. All such actions shall be commenced by the filing of an original notice with the clerk and by the mailing by the clerk of a copy of same to each defendant at his last known address, as stated in the original notice, by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested. Instead of such mailing, the plaintiff may, after filing the original notice with the clerk, cause a copy of same to be served on all or some defendants in the manner provided in Division III of these rules, whereupon rules 48 and 49 shall be applicable as to the defendants to be so served. The clerk shall maintain a book known as the small claims docket, which shall contain as to small claims the matters contained in the combination docket as to the regular civil actions.

Rule 374. Original notice. The original notice must be mailed or otherwise served not less than 10 nor more than 20 days prior to the hearing date. The original notice and copies shall be signed by the plaintiff, either in person or by attorney, and shall be in substantially the following form:

*To be completed by Clerk of District Court

Plaintiff(s)

Rule 375. Function of Clerk. The clerk shall furnish forms of original notice. At the time of filing, the clerk shall enter on the original notice and the copies to be served the file number and the time and place of hearing, which shall be a time when small claims are scheduled to be heard not less than 10 nor more than 20 days after the date on which the notice will be mailed or otherwise served. The clerk shall mail a copy of the original notice to each defendant by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested, except for defendants whom the plaintiff wishes to serve under Division III of these rules. The clerk shall advise plaintiff of the time and place fixed for the hearing.

Rule 376. Fees, costs. Fees and costs shall be one-half of fees and costs in regular civil actions in district court.

Rule 377. Pleadings. Except as provided in rules 374 and 378, there shall be no written pleadings or motions unless the court in the interest of justice requires them, in which event they shall be similar in form to the original notice.

Rule 378. Joinder, counterclaim, cross claim, intervention.

(a) Division II of these rules and rule 75 shall be applicable to small claims actions, except that rule 29 shall not apply to actions originating as small claims actions.

(b) In small claims actions, if a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, the court shall (1) order the small claim to be heard under this division and dismiss the other claim without prejudice, or (2) as to parties who have appeared or are existing parties, either (a) order the small claim to be heard under this division and the other claim to be tried by regular procedure or (b) order both claims to be tried by regular procedure.

(c) In small claims actions, a counterclaim, cross claim or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be in writing and similar in form to the original notice, and shall be entitled Original Notice of Counterclaim, of Cross Claim, or of Intervention, as the case may be. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties may be brought in without order and shall be served with notice as provided in rules 373 and 374; and if notice is to be served by mail the clerk shall collect the cost of mailing before filing the pleading. The clerk shall furnish forms of such pleadings. No counterclaim is necessary to assert an offset arising out of the subject of the plaintiff's claim.

(d) In small claims actions, a counterclaim, cross claim or intervention in a greater amount than that of a small claim shall be in the form of a regular pleading. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties, when permitted by order, may be brought in under rule 34 and shall be given notice under Division III of these rules. The court shall either (1) order such counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention to be tried by regular procedure and the other claim to be heard under this division, or (2) order the entire action to be tried by regular procedure.

(e) In regular actions, when a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, regular procedure shall apply to both unless the court transfers the small claim to the small claims docket for hearing under this division.

(f) In regular actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be pleaded, tried, and determined by regular procedure, unless the court transfers such small claim to the small claims docket for hearing under this division.

(g) Pleadings which are not in correct form under this rule shall be ordered amended so as to be in correct form; but a small claim which is proceeding under this division need not be amended although in the form of a regular pleading.

(h) Copies of any papers filed by the parties which are not required to be served, shall be mailed or delivered by the clerk as provided in rule 82.

Rule 379. Proof of service. At the time for hearing the court or clerk shall first determine that proper notice has been given a party before proceeding further as to him, unless he has appeared or is an existing party, and also that the action is properly brought as a small claim.

Rule 380. Default. Unless good cause to the contrary appears, (1) if the parties fail to appear at the time of hearing the claim shall be dismissed without prejudice by the court or clerk; (2) if the plaintiff fails to appear but the defendant appears, the claim shall be dismissed with prejudice by the court or clerk; and (3) if the plaintiff appears but the defendant fails to appear, judgment shall be rendered against the defendant by the court, or by the clerk if the relief to be granted is readily ascertainable. The filing by the plaintiff of a verified account, or an instrument in writing for the payment of money with an affidavit the same is genuine, shall constitute an appearance by plaintiff for the purpose of this rule. At the request of either party, the court shall grant such party one continuance to a day certain.

Rule 381. Hearing. The time for appearance shall be the time for hearing, unless a continuance has been granted under Rule 380. The hearing shall be to the court, shall be simple and informal, and shall be conducted by the court itself, without regard to technicalities of procedure; but the decision must be based on substantial evidence. The court shall swear the parties and their witnesses, and examine them in such way as to bring out the truth. The parties may participate, either personally or by attorney. The court may continue the hearing from time to time if justice requires. The proceedings shall not be reported unless a party provides a reporter at his own expense or the parties by agreement cause the proceedings to be electronically reported, but there shall be no delay for such purpose.

Rule 382. Judgment, minutes.

(a) The judgment shall be entered in a space on the original notice first filed, and the clerk shall immediately enter the judgment in the small claims docket and district court lien book, without recording. Such relief shall be granted as is appropriate. The court may enter judgment for installment payments to be made directly by the party obligated to the party entitled thereto; and in such event execution shall not issue as long as such payments are made but execution shall issue for the full unpaid balance of the judgment upon the filing of an affidavit of default. When entered on the small claims docket and district court lien book, a small claims judgment shall constitute a lien to the same extent as regular judgments entered on the district court judgment docket and lien book; but if a small claims judgment requires installment payments, it shall not be enforceable until an affidavit of default is filed, whereupon it shall constitute a lien for the full unpaid balance of the judgment.

(b) Unless the hearing is reported, minutes of the testimony of each witness and of any stipulations of the parties shall likewise be entered on the original notice first filed; and the exhibits or copies thereof shall be attached to such original notice or be filed, until released by the court.

Rule 383. Other statutes and rules. Small claims shall be commenced, heard, and determined in district court in accordance with this division, but this division shall only be applicable to district court. Other statutes and rules relating to civil proceedings shall apply, but only insofar as not inconsistent with this division. Small claims on file for 90 days and not determined shall be dismissed without prejudice unless prior thereto a party secures an order of continuance to a date certain after notice and hearing, upon a ground stated in rule 215.1. Contested claims in an amount of a small claim may be heard and determined under this division and actions therefor may be commenced hereunder; if commenced as a regular civil action or under the statutes relating to probate proceedings, they shall be transferred to the small claims docket and proceed accordingly. Civil actions coming within this division but commenced as a regular action shall not be dismissed but shall be transferred to the small claims docket and proceed accordingly. Civil and probate actions not coming within this division but commenced hereunder shall be dismissed without prejudice except for defendants who have appeared, as to whom such actions shall be transferred to the combination or probate docket, as appropriate and proceed accordingly.

If the Sixty-second General Assembly fails to create a unified trial court system, the "small claims" rules appearing in this part II of the report to you shall be void and of no effect.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHIEF CLERK

Research Division Library,
House of Commons,
London, S. W. 1

Dear Sir,

I have read with interest the IBM publication on the Iowa General Assembly Legislative Reporting and Indexing with the IBM 1401. We are wondering--like libraries everywhere--whether we can profitably introduce machines into our procedures, and your own experience of a data processing system in a legislative context could be most valuable.

I wonder whether you may have any further reports available, for I notice that at the end of the IBM paper there is the suggestion that the form of your legislative index might be changed. Some details of the staff involved and of the size of the operation would also be of value. A last query is whether the system has been extended to any matters apart from legislative indexing?

I am sorry to take up your time with this inquiry, but any information you can send will be most gratefully received.

Yours faithfully,
J. PALMER

The Chief Clerk,
Iowa General Assembly,
Des Moines,
Iowa,
U.S.A.

EXPLANATIONS OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 1

The following remarks were delivered by Representative Van Nostrand of Pottawattamie.

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I filed the motion to reconsider Senate Joint Resolution 1 to draw attention to what I consider one of the real problems of legislative bodies. The members get so anxious to pay homage to some catch phrase that they shut off their minds and fail to scrutinize carefully each piece of legislation as it is offered.

That is exactly what I think happened here. I think the members of the 61st General Assembly were so mesmerized by the term "Home Rule" that they didn't do their homework. I am convinced that had this been an ordinary bill or resolution without the appealing term "Home Rule" in it, one of the houses in the 61st General Assembly would have done a more workmanlike job of draftsmanship than has been done in Senate Joint Resolution 1. I remind you that changes could have been made two years ago without slowing the measure down, and the sponsors of amendments to clean up the resolution could not have been accused of "obstructionism"--a crime which today is almost next to treason.

I have no strong feelings about "Home Rule" one way or another. I admit the term does not "grab" me the way it does some. I do, however, have strong feelings about the desirability and in fact the necessity of the legislature's stating precisely what it means in all acts and most especially in amendments to the Constitution of the State of Iowa.

It should be drawn to the attention of the members of this house that since its adoption in 1857, 110 years ago, the constitution of this state has only been amended 24 times, and such amendments should be acted upon carefully and with appropriate respect.

When I began to question Senate Joint Resolution 1, the home rule amendment, I soon became convinced it would take a legal mind to ascertain exactly what the measure did or did not do. So I asked a friend of mine, an attorney of considerable reputation in this state, and a man who has served in this general assembly in years past, to examine the proposal thoroughly. I would like to read you what he says:

"The language in Senate Joint Resolution 1 could invite considerable litigation if it is the intention of the Legislature to make such Amendment apply only to Cities and Towns. The term 'Municipal Corporations' as stated in Section 3 of Article XI of the Iowa Constitution can be and has been construed to apply to a county. See Wickey v. Muscatine County, 242 Iowa 272, where the question involved was whether or not revenue bonds issued by the county to pay for a county hospital violated said constitutional limitation and in determining the case the Court said:

'--Whether a debt contracted by a municipal corporation offends against a debt-limiting provision of the Constitution is a question for judicial determination.'

'Section 23.1 of the 1966 Code of Iowa defines the word 'municipality' to include 'counties, cities, towns, townships, school districts (now including area or regional vocational and community colleges) state fair board, state board of regents and the state board of control.'

"Section 24.2 of the 1966 Code of Iowa defines the term 'municipality' to include counties, cities and towns, school districts and all other public bodies or corporations that have power to levy or certify a tax etc."

"There are various other sections of the Code which use the term 'Municipal Corporations' interchangeably with the various governmental agencies, such as counties, school districts, cities and towns. See: Sections 368.2; 627.18.

"In the case of Hanson v. City of Cresco, 132 Iowa it is stated:

'--in common speech, the term municipal corporation is used to include all public or political corporations having corporate powers.'

"In Chas. Hewitt & Sons v. Keller, 223 Iowa 1372, the Iowa Supreme Court states:

'Counties and other municipal corporations are...the creatures of the legislature etc.'

"Another significant thing is that the 60th General Assembly (1963) in enacting the so-called home rule statute, Chapter 235 of the Acts of the 60th General Assembly, for cities and towns, expressly referred to 'cities and towns...and such Municipal Corporations,' thus inviting the interpretation by the Courts that Senate Joint Resolution 1 was intended to confer such broad powers upon counties, school districts, cities and towns etc. because the words 'Municipal Corporations' were used in the amendment instead of the words 'cities and towns' as used in the above statute.

"Therefore, if the amendment is only intended to apply to cities and towns it should clearly state so to avoid endless litigation as to the meaning of the term 'Municipal Corporations.'

"There is also another term in the amendment that is quite vague and ambiguous in its meaning and that is 'home rule power.' What does this term mean today, what will it mean 50 or 100 years from now? This is a constitutional amendment and is supposed to be enacted for unlimited time. If the term 'Home Rule' has the same connotation as the term 'home brew' in the prohibition era it then will be as strong or as weak as the maker desires it to be.

"The words 'home rule power' add nothing to the amendment. If the amendment provided 'Incorporated cities and towns are granted authority etc.' the above objects would be eliminated, the amendment clear and unambiguous, and, without doubt, much litigation avoided in years to come."

Now there are several things about Senate Joint Resolution 1 which I question. But the most serious of these is the use of the term 'Municipal Corporations' by the drafters. I will confine my arguments to that point.

I have been unable to find out why this term "Municipal Corporations" was used. It should be noted that in the explanation in the House versions, both in 1965 and in this session, the words "Cities and Towns" are used. Why, then, in heaven's name, is not "Cities and Towns" used in the body of the amendment? The term "Cities and Towns" is clearly definitive and especially when the word "incorporated" is added, leaves no doubt about the governmental subdivision affected by the resolution.

I asked Mr. Ed Hicklin, the gentleman from Louisa, to do some research on the subject. I would like you to hear his comments:

Statement of Hicklin of Louisa.

During the past week I have examined into the legal meaning of municipal corporations. I want to supplement on this point the opinion just presented by Mr. Van Nostrand, and at the same time answer the written statement of the League of Iowa Municipalities which was dated and distributed yesterday, Feb. 2, 1967.

For these reasons I have reduced my remarks to written form and will endeavor to confine myself closely thereto.

There are many cases on the subject and my search is by no means exhaustive. It is sufficient, however, to lead one to the conclusion that the question is not so simple as the League's statement indicates, and that there is a good chance that the court will interpret the term "municipal corporations" as used in the Home Rule Amendment to mean something more than cities and towns.

I have no quarrel with the home rule concept to which the first two and one-half pages of the League's statement is devoted. I know that people want it and I have no desire to delay it. I am not one of the opponents of home rule mentioned in the statement. Home rule is a broad term and a new concept in Iowa law. It will of course result in some litigation, but it has been in effect in other states and has been and can be defined. I do, however, feel that we as legislators, should be mindful of the possible application of this amendment because of its use of the term "Municipal Corporations."

The amendment has been presented as providing for home rule for cities and towns only, but the fact is there is substantial authority for the proposition that the words "municipal corporations" as they appear in the amendment could be interpreted by the court as including governmental bodies other than cities and towns.

The latter part of the League's statement is devoted to a defense of the use of the term "municipal corporations" in the Amendment. In support of this, Article XI, section 3 of the Iowa Constitution is cited. This is the article which provides the 5% debt limit and it starts out with the words "No county, or other political or municipal corporation" From this it is reasoned that there is a distinction between counties and municipal corporations. This section has been held to be applicable to cities and towns, counties and school districts. If the reasoning is sound this leaves school districts in the same category as cities and towns. More persuasive, I believe, is that the words "or" in the section are conjunctive and that counties and other political or municipal corporations are synonymous. Why else the use of the word "other"?

The League's statement does not mention Article VIII, section 4 of the Constitution which states "No political or municipal corporation shall become a stock holder in any banking corporation, ..." There are no cases construing this section, but it is interesting to note that here the word "county" is not separately stated, and I submit that "or" is also used here conjunctively and that the words include all municipal corporations in the widest sense.

The League's statement also cites two Iowa cases, Olson v. District Court of Dickinson County, 243 Iowa 1211, 55 N.W. 2d 339, and Hanson v. City of Cresco, 132 Iowa 533, 109 N.W. 1109. The Hanson case was decided in 1906 and after a long discussion of the historical meaning of the words "municipal Corporation" ends up holding that a township was a municipality for the purposes of the statute under construction. This case further quotes from Dillon Municipal Corporations, "A municipal corporation in its strict and proper sense, is the body politic and corporate constituted by the incorporation of the inhabitants of a city or town for the purpose of local government thereof," (emphasis supplied) I call your attention to the case of Wapello County v. Ward 136 N.W. 2d 249, decided in 1965 which states, "Municipal corporations in the broad sense are generally thought to be cities and towns." (emphasis supplied). This case, in holding a county to be a municipal corporation for the purpose of section 366.1 of the code which authorizes municipal corporations to make and enforce ordinances, further states:

"We conclude that the term 'quasi-municipal corporation' is to some extent a misnomer, in so far as its use implies that the governmental body to which it is applied may not have in some respects the status of a true municipal corporation. This means that a county, or school district, or township, or similar governmental creation is, in fact, a municipal corporation in carrying out the purposes, generally limited, for which it was formed, or with which it may be later endowed. It is the limited character of its powers which distinguishes it from cities and towns with their general governmental authorities."

"We have held that school districts may exercise legislative functions.....In so doing we have impliedly recognized that a school district, a form of 'quasi-municipal corporation', is in fact a municipal corporation so far as that it may legislate for the limited purposes for which it was created".

The Olson case, cited in the League's statement holds that a sanitary district was not a municipal corporation under section 362.11 of the code which provides for the discontinuing of such corporation. The court decided this case on the basis of legislative intent, reasoning that because the section had been in the code for many years during which time the code had been reenacted, and that at all times the section appeared in the title of the code devoted to cities and towns, and that because the remainder of the section and the following sections devoted to the same subject were specifically limited to cities and towns, and that the provisions wouldn't work if applied to sanitary districts, such districts were not municipal corporations for the purpose of the statute. The court further ascertained legislative intent from the title of the original act which specifically limited it to cities and towns.

Applying this reasoning to Senate Joint Resolution 1 would result in the conclusion that here something more than cities and towns is intended because the title of the resolution states that it "is to provide home rule for municipal corporations."

The League's statement suggests that legislative intent can be found from the explanation attached to House Joint Resolution 6, the House companion resolution.

Whether legislative intent has any application in constitutional law is questionable, but if it does, it should be born in mind that the Senate constitutes one half of the legislature, that it requires no explanation, and that none was included with the Senate's resolution. Certainly the House's explanation cannot be indicative of the intent of the Senate, and that the intent of one-half the legislature will not suffice.

Bear in mind that this statement is only an opinion. It is not an attempt to say what the court will rule, but only what it might rule. This also applies to the opinion of the Attorney General and to the statement of the League, and the experienced attorneys it mentions.

No one can be certain how the court will interpret the meaning of the words "municipal corporations" in the amendment. That the League is also not certain is indicated by the last sentence on page 4 of its statement where it says, "Finally, I am sure it will be agreed by all concerned that any major legislation of this type will be tested very soon by the courts. On the basis of the generally accepted connotation of municipal corporations as cities and towns and the explanation of the House version of the home rule amendment that specifically refers to cities and towns, there can be little doubt that the courts would construe the present measure to apply to cities and towns, as it was intended."

I too have little doubt that the courts would construe the present measure to apply to cities and towns. I have considerable doubt, however, that its application will stop there.

I am certain that had the term cities and towns been used instead of municipal corporations the meaning would have been clear, the intent of the League satisfied, and there would be no need for the test case on this question.

It is true, as the League says, that there is no measure that can come before the legislature that cannot be questioned on the basis of one legal detail, or another, but the question raised here as to what corporate bodies will be affected by this constitutional amendment is no small detail.

As I said at the outset, I have no desire to see this Home Rule Amendment defeated and for this reason I will not vote for the motion to reconsider.

My only purpose in making this statement is to alert the members of the House to the fact that the limitation of the application of the amendment to cities and towns, as it has been presented to us, is by no means a certainty.

In order to correct the problem and still allow the amendment to become law, which I predict it will when submitted to the vote of the people, I suggest that legislation be passed during this session of the general assembly to exclude from the operation of the amendment all corporate bodies except cities and towns and possibly counties. This can be done, for the amendment by its own terms is limited by the laws of the general assembly; and, I urge the sponsors of the amendment to join in the enactment of such legislation to manifest their good faith in believing that the amendment will have no broader application than they have expressed.

The following concluding remarks were by Mr. Van Nostrand:

I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen of this house, that if the General Assembly wanted to provide home rule only to cities and towns, that is what it should have said. And by the same token, if it means to provide home rule to counties, school districts, and other governmental subdivisions, it should say so. But to adopt a constitutional amendment which almost certainly will necessitate court cases to clarify the provision, the legislature is clearly abdicating its duties as a deliberative body.

It may be desirable to grant home rule to other governmental subdivisions in Iowa. I note that the 1966 Republican state platform recommends granting some measure of home rule to counties. But if that is what we want to do, we should do it directly, not by a failure to outline carefully what we mean in Senate Joint Resolution 1.

It is interesting to note that the first proposal introduced in the 1965 session which would grant home rule to cities and towns was Home Joint Resolution 3, sponsored by the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Grassley. His plan clearly referred to cities and towns. It would be interesting to know why this resolution, which in my estimation was much better and was written by the League of Municipalities for introduction in both 1963 and 1965, was ignored in favor of the present one.

I would hope that this assembly and assemblies in the future will not be trapped in a box like this again. I am referring to the creation of shibboleths to the point of closing the door to open discussion and necessary criticisms of any measure being considered. The glorification of pet phrases such as "home rule" to the level of motherhood, the national flag and free milk to orphans should be avoided.

In spite of my feelings about the subject, and my conviction that this legislature, by adding its approval to Senate Joint Resolution 1, is not performing its duties as it should, I believe we must be realistic. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask that my motion to reconsider Senate Joint Resolution 1 be withdrawn.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following Senate joint resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Joint Resolution 3 proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa relating to the election of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

AL MEACHAM, Secretary

The committee on roads and highways offered the following House concurrent resolution:

By the Roads and Highways Committee

WHEREAS, the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1956 and other federal statutes, created and established a program for the construction of a system of interstate and defense highways, and federal-aid primary and secondary highways with urban extensions in the State of Iowa and the several states of the nation; and

WHEREAS, the federal statutes have defined the sources of revenue and have dedicated the funds exclusively for the timely and orderly development of the highway system; and

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States, under the Highway Act of 1956, as amended, has specified that these funds SHALL be distributed; and

WHEREAS, for the past decade the federal government has urged the State of Iowa and this state's highway industry to step up construction, and Iowa has been most cooperative in this regard as is evidenced not only by the accelerated highway program but also by the training and establishment of a skilled work force, and by the large, long-term capital investments undertaken by contractors, subcontractors and material suppliers to meet this commitment; and

WHEREAS, the construction team of working men and equipment, of professional engineers and contractors, once developed and operating efficiently, cannot be sustained if the financing becomes spasmodic and unreliable; and

WHEREAS, it has been definitely demonstrated in Iowa that better highways save the time, lives and money of our citizens, and that the consequences of a reduction in highway improvements would adversely affect the well-being of our citizens and cause further suffering and tragic loss of lives; and

WHEREAS, the orderly development of these modern highway systems is essential to preserve the national defense by providing the means of moving expeditiously the critical weapons, materials and personnel, and of coping with the aftermath of natural disaster or nuclear attack; and

WHEREAS, the rapid and convenient transportation of field crops, dairy and food products, livestock, lumber and minerals from the farms, ranches, mines and mills to distant consumer markets is essential to preserve these basic industries in the State of Iowa, and to expedite the flow of commerce between the states.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Sixty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa, now in session, the Senate and House of Representatives concurring, that we respectfully petition the President of the United States, although justifiably concerned with the inflationary trends developing throughout the nation, to reconsider his decision to cut back on this most vital and necessary federal-aid highway program which, if not continued in an orderly fashion, will have lasting adverse effects upon the national defense and the economic stability of the State of Iowa and the several states.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa be hereby authorized and directed to forward certified copies of this Resolution to the President of the United States, to each member of the Iowa congressional delegation and to the leadership of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

Passed on file.

REPORT OF CONTEST COMMITTEE

(Fischer vs. Middleswart)

Kluever of Cass submitted the following report of contest committee:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SIXTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of the contest for the office of State Representative from Warren County in the General Election of November 8, 1966, between James Middleswart, Incumbent, and George D. Fischer, Contestant, submits herewith its report:

The committee was duly organized, adopted rules of procedure, heard oral statements from counsel for the contestant and incumbent, received written statements from counsel for the contestant setting forth specific objections on which the election contest was instituted and received written statement of objection to jurisdiction from counsel for the incumbent.

The committee finds that the Contestant served his Notice of Intent to Contest an Election on the Incumbent on December 22, 1966: that Section 59.1 of the 1966 Code of Iowa provides that the notice shall be served within 30 days after the incumbent is declared elected which shall be served with the notice of taking depositions relative to illegal votes, and if no deposition is taken, then 20 days before the first day of the Session; that no allegation of illegal votes was made and no depositions were taken; that the notice should have been served 20 days prior to the first day of the Session; that the notice was not served at least 20 days prior to the first day of the Session and thus said notice was not served within the prescribed time as required by Section 59.1 of the 1966 Code of Iowa.

In view of the foregoing findings, and pursuant to the Attorney General's Opinion which is made a part of this report and set out in full herein, the contest committee concluded that it does not have jurisdiction to hear this contest and unanimously recommended that the House of Representatives dismiss the contest of George D. Fischer for the seat of State Representative James I. Middleswart and that James I. Middleswart be declared to be duly elected as a member of the House of Representatives from Warren County, Iowa, and that the seating which took place on January 9, 1967, be confirmed.

Respectfully submitted,

Honorable Lester L. Kluever
Chairman, Elections Contest Committee
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Kluever:

This replies to your letter of January 30, 1967, in which you submitted the following questions concerning the election contest between George D. Fischer, contestant and James Middleswart, incumbent:

"1. Under Section 59.1, does the House have jurisdiction to decide this matter since the Incumbent was served with Notice on December 22, 1966, which would be less than twenty days prior to the Session.

"2. If it is your opinion that the House does not have the jurisdiction, does Section 57.5, overrule this and entitle the Contestant to have the ballots counted.

"3. Does the Notice of Contest comply with Chapter 57, as to grounds and stating sufficient facts to give the House jurisdiction and authority to decide the Contest."

In answer to question one, we advise that failure to file timely notice is fatal under Section 59.1, Code of Iowa, 1966, and no jurisdiction exists in the committee to entertain this contest. The language of the statute is mandatory that the contestant file his notice within thirty days after the incumbent is declared elected...and if no such deposition (of illegal votes) is taken then twenty days before the first day of the next session.

A study of the history of §59.1 shows that the provisions have remained substantially unchanged since the code of 1851 and that prior to that (Rev.St. 1843 Terr. Ch. 68 §20) a candidate had 35 days after the election to give notice of contest and the time fixed for taking depositions could not exceed 40 days from the date of election. It was also provided that if witnesses failed or refused to appear at the time specified in the notice, their testimony might be taken at any time before the next session by giving 5 days notice to the party whose election is contested.

The first code of the State of Iowa in 1851, §381, contains the cutoff of 20 days which is in the present statute, but the statute then read "20 days before the hearing." This language was carried into the 1860 Code and the present language appears in 1873 and thereafter. However, we have found no case which requires the House of Representatives or any other contest tribunal to take jurisdiction of a contest where the notice was not filed in accordance with the provisions of the statute.

The case of Marsh v. Huffman, 199 Iowa 788, 202 N.W. 581, can be distinguished on the facts, for there the contestant for the office of sheriff filed a notice accompanied by a bond within the prescribed statutory time and the contest court was held to have acquired jurisdiction of the subject matter because the contestant "had completed his duties under the statute." Ibid p. 583. In that case jurisdiction over the incumbent was also acquired because he participated in the trial and was held to have waived his complaint of want of proper notice.

In Haas v. Contest Court, 221 Iowa 150, 265 N.W. 373, the contest was over a judgeship and did not involve the 20 day cutoff provision of §59.1. However, after filing notice and bond before the canvass of votes, the contestant refiled in order to comply with the statute.

In support of the view that the contestant's failure to file timely notice precludes the Contest Committee from taking jurisdiction over this matter, we point out 18 Am. Jur. Elections §290 which states:

"The compelling of prompt action in hearing and disposition of election contests, to the end that a decision may be reached before the term has wholly or in a great part expired, seems to be the policy of the law. A provision for the commencement of the proceeding within a designated time is usually regarded as mandatory and must be complied with in order to confer jurisdiction of the case..." (Emphasis added).

In reply to question 2, it is our opinion that the provisions of §57.5 do not override a determination that the tribunal lacks jurisdiction to determine a contest so as to provide a recount of the ballots in spite of the contestant's failure to comply with the requirements of the statute as to the giving of notice of contest of the election.

Question 3 relates to the sufficiency of facts and grounds alleged in the statement filed by the contestant.

In the Haas case, supra, the court stated at page 155:

“The real purpose of the filing of this statement is to make of record the objections and complaints that the contestant has, and to make a showing of why the incumbent is not entitled to hold the office to which he has been declared elected.”

In our opinion, if the statement of intent to contest the election informs the incumbent of the grounds by reference to a subsection of §57.1, such notice, if it otherwise complies to §§ 59.1 and 62.5, would be sufficient.

Yours very truly,

ELIZABETH A. NOLAN
Assistant Attorney General

LINCOLN AND IOWA

(Remarks by George Mills, Register and Tribune Legislative Reporter, before the House of Representatives at the Lincoln's Birthday Observance, February 13, 1967.)

It is a much appreciated honor for a news reporter to be invited to appear before your honorable body on this observance of the 158th birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

It has been my privilege to work in this beautiful chamber, a nerve center of a great state, for more than one-third of a century. Addressing this honorable body, however, is an experience I have never had before.

This magnificent building is a product of a Lincoln-minded age of Iowans. A people proud of their state began this structure six years after the death of President Lincoln, while the sorrow of the generation over his passing was still very deep. The Statehouse came into use in 1884, or less than 19 years after the Lincoln assassination.

The traditions of the Civil War and of Abraham Lincoln are combined in Iowa. We are permeated with both.

It gives us a sense of history to recall that old John Brown drove a team of horses and a wagon loaded with corn stalks down Grand Avenue right outside the Statehouse. Under the corn stalks were fugitive slaves the doughty Brown was taking to freedom. Brown stopped at the home of Isaac Brandt, on the corner of East Twelfth and Grand Avenue, immediately east of the historical building. Brandt's home, a station on the underground railway, was located on the site now occupied by the funeral home.

You eastern Iowans also know how John Brown trained his tiny force in Cedar County before leaving for Virginia where he staged his ill-fated Harpers Ferry attack which inflamed the nation and may have quickened the coming of the Civil War.

The figures on the Civil War monument south of the Statehouse are not just nameless models. They represent brave men who fought to preserve the Union from 1861-1865. The four figures on horseback are Iowa Civil War Generals. The figures below also are taken from real life. To name one, the young smiling soldier on the northeast corner, standing, with a musket in one hand and a bouquet of flowers in the other, is Shelby Norman, 18, of Muscatine. He pictures the joy of the returning soldier being greeted by homecoming crowds. But Shelby Norman did not come home. He is reputed to have been one of the first Iowans killed in the Civil War. A sniper's bullet got him in the line of march to the battlefield in Missouri.

Six Iowa Governors served as chief executives of this state after service in the Union armies of the Civil War. Four of these Governors were wounded. Two of these wounded Governors took their oaths of office on this rostrum many years after the war. One was Buren Sherman of Vinton, who became Governor in 1884, and the other was Francis Drake of Centerville, who became Governor in 1896. Francis Drake's name is perpetuated in Drake University.

The Civil War traditions of this Legislature are tremendous. Fully half the members of the 1862 session went into the armed forces after adjournment. Some were killed in action and some died of illnesses. Years later, the observation was made that the 1862 session had not produced as many leaders, such as Governors, to Iowa public life in the postwar years. To which one observer, who had visited their graves in military cemeteries in the south, commented: "They are greater than Governors."

I do not believe it necessary to comment on the depth of the Lincoln tradition that all of us have known since childhood. No columnist can ever hope to erase the veneration that we feel for this great American.

Mr. Lincoln is a proud part of our Iowa history. He owned land in Tama and Crawford Counties, land given to him for his service as a captain in the Black Hawk war.

The Tama tract consisted of 40 acres in Howard township six miles north and west of Toledo. The Crawford tract consisted of 120 acres in Goodrich township some five miles northwest of Denison.

Mr. Lincoln never visited either piece of land. However, he did see 17 town lots and a 10 acre prairie he acquired in the Council Bluffs area. That land had been posted as security for a $3,000.00 loan he made to a Chicago railroad attorney.

Mr. Lincoln visited Iowa three times. During the Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858, he came to Burlington to help out the Republicans. When he stepped off a Mississippi River boat for an overnight stay, his luggage consisted of a clean shirt wrapped in a newspaper. He spoke to a crowd of 1,200 for about two hours. That was not necessarily a long speech for the times. Occasionally an orator spoke three or four hours. One wonders how our system of government ever survived.

The big issue at the time was the proposed extension of slavery into the territories. Lincoln firmly opposed such extension. Stephen A. Douglas, his opponent, wanted the people of the territories to decide for themselves whether to allow slavery or to prohibit it. A type of local option on slavery, so as to speak.

In the spring of 1859, as an attorney for the Illinois Central, Mr. Lincoln briefly visited Dubuque. He stayed at the old Julien House.

In August of 1859, he stayed three days in Council Bluffs. He had no intention of remaining that long. But the Missouri river steamer on which he traveled got stuck on a sand bar.

Mr. Lincoln made another speech for the Republican cause in Council Bluffs. More important, he conferred with General Grenville Dodge and other leading Council Bluffs citizens about a marvelous project, the construction of a railroad all the way to the Pacific. Council Bluffs residents took their visitor up on a bluff and pointed westward along the proposed route of the railroad. Naturally, the Council Bluffs people, Dodge in particular, urged that Council Bluffs be designated as the eastern terminal of the railroad. Mr. Lincoln made that very designation after he became President. The great Union Pacific was built, and to this day the eastern terminal is in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

That railroad was given the Union Pacific name for a special reason. California, also known as the "Pacific" in everyday language, was far removed from the rest of the Union. The railroad would serve to bind the Union to the Pacific. Hence, Union Pacific.

Lincoln was an important figure in another Iowa-Illinois event. In the 1850's, the Rock Island railroad built a railroad bridge across the Mississippi between Rock Island and Davenport. A river boat, the Effie Afton, was wrecked against a bridge abutment. The boat owners sued. Mr. Lincoln was a principal attorney for the railroad in the final trial of that case in Chicago. The railroad won and established the right to construct rail bridges across the big river.

Mr. Lincoln's friendships and contacts with Iowans were numerous. One particularly good friend was U. S. Senator James Harlan of Mount Pleasant. The President, in the final weeks of his life, nominated Senator Harlan to be Secretary of the Interior. The Lincoln and Harlan families went driving together in Washington.

Robert Lincoln, son of the President, married Mary Harlan, the Senator's daughter. Mr. Lincoln's three grandchildren lived at times in Mount Pleasant and played on the streets there.

Senator Harlan escorted Mrs. Lincoln at the Second Inaugural. The Senator was at the mortally wounded President's bedside on April 14, 1865. The shaken Harlan was among those who sought to console the family after death came to the President.

Mr. Lincoln appointed Samuel Freeman Miller of Keokuk to the United States Supreme Court. Judge Miller served with distinction on the high court for 28 years.

John Kasson of Des Moines, who led the fight in this House for construction of the Golden-domed State house---and what a battle it was---joined with Horace Greeley in the final writing of the 1860 Republican national platform. After his election, Mr. Lincoln appointed Kasson, one of the all time great Iowans, to the position of first assistant Postmaster General.

Mr. Lincoln also appointed Alvin Saunders of Mount Pleasant to the post of Governor of the Territory of Nebraska. Saunders later was U. S. Senator from Nebraska.

There is even an Ann Rutledge angle to Iowa history. You all recall the tragic story of Ann Rutledge, the young lady whom legend has it Abraham Lincoln wanted to marry but who died at New Salem. Her family emigrated to Iowa later. Robert Rutledge, who may have been Ann's brother, was Van Buren County Sheriff. The Rutledges are buried at Birmingham.

The word of Annie Wittenmyer of Keokuk was one of Iowa's most merciful contributions to the nation in the dark days of the Civil War. She dedicated herself to the welfare of wounded and ailing soldiers. She was instrumental in collection of considerable sums of money for sanitary supplies which were sent into battle areas and hospitals. She called on Mr. Lincoln. He gave full support to her plan of establishing diet kitchens for the purpose of providing suitable food for patients in military hospitals. Thousands of lives undoubtedly were saved thereby.

Any Iowa roundup of Lincoln lore also should include James F. Wilson of Fairfield, a Congressman and Senator. He too was a close friend of the President, and he was the author of the emancipation amendment adopted to the federal Constitution.

Mr. Lincoln sought constantly to discourage his generals from executing spies and saboteurs.

Maj. General Grenville Dodge of Council Bluffs was in charge in Missouri in 1865 when a guerilla was convicted of murder. The guerilla's mother went to see Mr. Lincoln to plead for her son's life. She returned to Dodge with a card on which Mr. Lincoln had written: "My Dear General Dodge: Is it possible for you to do anything for this poor woman who is in so much trouble?"

Dodge was of a mind not to accept the President's plea. If one guilty guerilla was spared, others still free might be encouraged to continue murders and depredations. Dodge planned to proceed with the execution. Then Dodge reports: "That night about midnight I received a dispatch from the war department notifying me of Mr. Lincoln being shot."

Dodge said the mother called the next day to request return of the President's card. She had abandoned hope for her son's life. But the grieving Dodge, ordinarily one of the toughest of the Civil War generals, did not have it in his heart to carry out the execution. He commuted the sentence to imprisonment.

Dodge was ordered to proceed to Springfield, Illinois, with his staff and troops for the Lincoln funeral.

"It was the saddest day of my life," the General wrote. "The streets were lined with thousands and thousands of people in great distress and sorrow. At every step we could hear the sobs of the sorrowing crowd.....There was hardly a person not in tears and when I looked around at my troops, I saw many of them in tears."

The nation was stunned. Dodge said the streets in St. Louis were deserted for two days after the assassination. Everything came to a complete halt in Iowa cities and towns when the appalling news of the President's death came over the telegraph wires. No business was transacted in Des Moines that Saturday, April 15, 1865. Men gathered in little groups on the streets, in stores, in business establishments, in the capitol, and talked in low tones. The capitol was quickly draped in mourning. Thousands from all over Polk County gathered Sunday afternoon for an impressive memorial service at the Polk County courthouse square.

The fact that a memorial observance such as this is being held in the Iowa capitol 102 years after his death attests to the deep reverence with which Mr. Lincoln is, and always will be, held.

Many of Mr. Lincoln's writings are immortal. The most famous are well-known to almost all Americans. Here are two which are less well-known but which are timeless in their appeal and their understanding to persons such as ourselves. On November 20, 1860, after his first great Presidential victory, he said in Springfield:

"In all our rejoicings, let us neither express nor cherish any hard feelings toward any citizen who by his vote has differed with us. Let us remember at all times that all American citizens are brothers of a common country, and should dwell together in bonds of fraternal feeling."

While he was President, he said:

"I desire to so conduct the affairs of this administration that if, at the end, when I come to lay down the reins of power, I have lost every other friend on earth, I shall have at least one friend left, and that friend shall be down inside me."

Deeply moving is this little talk to the people of Springfield which he gave just before the train left in 1861 on his first trip to Washington to be inaugurated:

"My friends: no one, not in my situation, can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century, and have passed from a young to an old man.

"Here my children were born, and one is buried. I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return, with a task greater before me than that which rested upon Washington. Without the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him, I can not succeed. With that assistance, I can not fail.

"Trusting in Him, who can go with me and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers he will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

The beating of that warm human heart will continue to be felt throughout all human history. I thank you.

Amend House Joint Resolution 10 by striking all after the resolving clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. The General Assembly, in compliance with recent rulings of the state and federal judiciary in the matters of subdistricting and equal representation, respectively, and in order to reduce the size of both houses of the General Assembly to a more efficient and orderly number in the interim period before a constitutional amendment becomes effective, hereby determines that the following sections shall apply in the apportionment and composition of the Sixty-third (63rd) and subsequent general assemblies of the state of Iowa.

Sec. 2. The number of senators in the general assembly shall not exceed fifty (50). Each senator shall be elected from a single member senatorial district. Each district shall be of compact and contiguous territory and shall have a population in proportion to every other senatorial district in the state to conform to the guidelines of the Constitutional requirement of one-man one-vote. To the maximum extent practicable, county lines shall not be crossed in forming senatorial districts. Where necessary in establishing senatorial districts, the redistricting authority may shorten the term of any senator prior to completion of the term. Sec. 3. The number of representatives in the general assembly shall not exceed one hundred (100). Each representative shall be elected from a single member representative district. Each district shall be of compact and contiguous territory and shall have a population in proportion to every other representative district in the state to conform to the guidelines of the Constitutional requirement of one-man one-vote. To the maximum extent practicable, neither county lines nor senatorial district boundaries shall be crossed in forming representative districts.

Sec. 4. A commission of ten (10) members is hereby created within ten (10) days after the effective date of this Act. Five (5) members shall be appointed by the state chairman of the political party whose candidate for the office of governor received the largest number of votes cast for that office in the last general election. Five (5) members shall be appointed by the state chairman of the political party whose candidate received the next largest number of votes cast for that office in the last general election. If either state chairman fails to comply with the provisions of this section, the chief justice of the supreme court shall immediately make the appointments on behalf of the chairman. Any vacancy by death or resignation of a commissioner shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

Sec. 5. Commissioners shall receive forty (40) dollars per diem and shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties. The commission shall choose a chairman from its membership and adopt rules for the conduct of its proceedings.

It may hold public hearings, consult with representatives of minority political groups, and employ staff personnel and retain expert technical assistants. The commission shall have access to all public records and shall be given the cooperation of all public officials. It shall have power of subpoena.

Sec. 6. The commission shall, no later than April 15, 1967, file in the office of the secretary of state an apportionment plan complying with the provisions of this Act. No plan filed shall be valid unless signed by at least seven (7) members of the commission.

Sec. 7. The general assembly shall consider the plan submitted and, no later than May 15, 1967, shall by statute either adopt the plan as submitted or modified or adopt a plan of its own. Any plan adopted shall be filed and validly signed.

Sec. 8. If the general assembly fails to adopt an apportionment plan as required under this Act, the supreme court shall adopt or cause to be adopted a plan conforming

Sec. 9. In addition to its other duties under this Act, the commission shall, no later than April 15, 1967, file in the office of the secretary of state an alternate apportionment plan complying with section thirty-seven (37) of article three (III) of the Iowa constitution as interpreted by the supreme court of Iowa. The alternate apportionment plan shall also comply with the other provisions of this Act to the maximum extent possible in view of the requirements of section thirty-seven (37) of article three (III) of the Iowa constitution. No plan filed shall be valid unless signed by at least seven (7) members of the commission.

SENATE AMENDMENT CONSIDERED

Amend House File 93 as follows:

By striking from line 13 of subsection 2, section 4, the words and figures "five thousand dollars ($5,000.00)" and substituting in lieu thereof the words and figures "six thousand dollars ($6,000.00)".

By inserting at the end of paragraph d, subsection 1 of section 5 the following: "In no event, however, shall eligibility standards or qualifications established pursuant to section four (4) or by the state board preclude persons receiving or eligible to receive old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the disabled and aid to the blind from receiving medical assistance under this Act."

By adding to subsection 5, of section 5 the following: "For each council meeting, other than those held during the time the general assembly is in session, each legislative member of the council shall be reimbursed for actual traveling and other necessary expenses and shall receive a per diem of forty (40) dollars for each day in attendance, as shall the public representative, regardless of whether the general assembly is in session."

By striking all of section 9 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 9. Records; report of recipients. The general assembly finds and determines that the use and disclosure of information as provided in this section are for purposes directly connected with the administration of the plan established by this Act and are essential for the proper administration of said plan.

All applications, investigation reports, information, and records concerning any applicant or recipient of medical assistance under this Act shall be held confidential except as otherwise provided in this section.

The use thereof by, and the disclosure thereof to, persons authorized by law in connection with their official duties relating to financial audits, legislative investigations, and other purposes directly connected with the administration of said plan, shall be permitted.

Release and the use of information of a general nature which does not identify a particular individual or individuals shall be provided as needed for adequate interpretation or development of the program. Such information includes but is not limited to: total medical assistance expenditures; number of recipients; statistical and social data used in connection with studies; and reports or surveys on health and welfare problems.

The county board of social welfare shall prepare and file in its office on or before the thirtieth (30th) day of each January, April, July and October a report showing the names and last known addresses of all recipients receiving assistance under this chapter, together with the amount paid to or on behalf of each recipient during the preceding quarter. Each report so filed shall be securely fixed in a record book to be used only for such reports made under this chapter and chapters two hundred thirty-nine (239) and two hundred forty-one (241). The record book shall be and the same is hereby declared to be a public record, open to public inspection at all times during the regular office hours of the respective county boards of social welfare. Each person who desires to examine said records, other than in pursuance of official duties as hereinbefore provided, shall sign a written request to examine the same, which shall contain an agreement on the part of the signer that he will not utilize any information gained therefrom for religious, commercial or political purposes.

It shall be unlawful for any person, body, association, firm, corporation or any other agency to solicit, disclose, receive, make use of or to authorize, knowingly permit, participate in or acquiesce in the use of any lists, names or other information obtained from the reports above provided for, for religious, commercial or political purposes.

Violations of this section shall be punishable as a misdemeanor.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 3

I voted "No" on the amendment to Senate Joint Resolution 3 requiring that the Governor and the Lt. Governor shall be elected for four-year terms as a "team" from the same political party.

I object to the Speaker's derogatory remarks in connection with the Resolution. The presiding officer of a large assembly, in my opinion, should be chosen solely for his ability to preside. The action by the Speaker in this regard today is most unfortunate. The Lt. Governor is not allowed to leave the Chair and speak on a question under debate.

It is my belief that the passage of this damaging amendment was further enhanced by the Speaker's appointing on the same day the powerful steering committee.

VINCE STEFFEN, Chickasaw

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON THE MOTION TO EXPUNGE THE STATEMENT OF REPRESENTATIVE STEFFEN FROM THE JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

This statement is entered on the Journal as a matter of right pursuant to the Constitution of the State of Iowa, which provides:

“Every member of the General Assembly shall have the liberty to dissent from, or protest against any act or resolution which he may think injurious to the public, or an individual, and have the reasons for his dissent entered on the Journals
Article III, Section 10.

It was pursuant to this provision of the Constitution that Representative Vincent Steffen entered on the Journal of The House, March 1, 1967, at Page 470, the reasons for his dissent to the amendment to Senate Joint Resolution 3. Representative Steffen's statement was explicitly entitled, ‘Explanation of Vote’, and thus was squarely within the provisions of Article III, Section 10.

The member from Chickasaw sought no favor of the House, he invoked a Constitutional right. Whether his reasons for dissent were vapid and silly or learned and profound bears in no way upon his RIGHT to enter them on the Journal.

That right belongs to every member of the General Assembly. To uphold that right I voted against the motion to expunge Representative Steffen's statement. I voted against an action that would place in the precedents of the House the proposition that a member's right to record the reasons for his dissent is merely the right to record such reasons as may be acceptable to a majority of the House.

There is no such limitation in the Constitution of Iowa. The great charter of our State does NOT provide that a member may enter the reasons for his dissent on the Journal, only if his reasons are --- in the opinion of a majority --- sound, relevant, logical and in good taste.

Concerning this motion to expunge, it was declared that the House makes its own rules. And so it does. But who could possibly contend that the House can make rules, enter orders or expunge the Journal in gross and direct contravention of the Constitution itself?

The House cannot lawfully diminish the prerogative of its members established by the Constitution, which every member is sworn to uphold and defend.

For the reasons here set forth, I voted against the motion to expunge.

GANNON of Jasper
JOHNSTON of Polk
COFFMAN of Iowa
DODERER of Johnson

Dear Harold:

I am happy to forward to you a compilation of the social security laws. Titles IV, X, XIV, XVI, XIX deal with the problem which you raised in your letter of February 22.

In particular, I call your attention to footnote 5 on page 3 in which it is definitely stated that Federal funds may not be withheld solely because of state legislation prescribing conditions under which public access may be had to records of disbursements of these funds.

I hope this information will be of assistance to you in your attempt to reinstate your amendment to the social welfare bill.

If I can be of further assistance to you, please do not hesitate to write.

Sincerely yours,

WILEY MAYNE

By: Buren and Murray

WHEREAS, federal interstate highways provide untold benefit to the social and economic welfare of both states and the nation; and are an essential part of our national defense system; and

WHEREAS, the state of Iowa has for all practical purposes completed construction of Interstate 80 through the state but is experiencing delay in the construction of Interstate 35; and

WHEREAS, there has been considerable controversy and changing of plans over the routing of Interstate 35 north; and

WHEREAS, the State Highway Commission and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads have changed the routing of Interstate 35 from a point parallel to U.S. 69 north to a route diagonally eastward to a point just west of U.S. 65 and Mason City, Iowa; and

WHEREAS, this change in routing has caused considerable controversy between the State Highway Commission and property owners in the area of the diagonal and has been a matter of concern to all citizens of the state; and

WHEREAS, it is common knowledge that the change in plans will result in more expense in construction and maintenance than the original routing; and

WHEREAS, a greater majority of the citizens of the state would be served to a greater extent if the original routing were followed with the diagonal constructed from Garner, Iowa to Clear Lake, Iowa rather than as presently planned; and

WHEREAS, the State Highway Commission and Federal Bureau of Public Roads have refused to reverse their decision on constructing Interstate 35 parallel by passing Mason City; now therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE HOUSE CONCURRING, that the matter of constructing U.S. 35 in Iowa be brought to the attention of the Congress of the United States and that members of Congress give serious consideration to:

1. Reviewing the general policies of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in regard to locating and constructing interstate highways within the states.

2. Comparing the policies followed in other states in locating and constructing interstates with the policies followed in the locating and constructing of Interstate 35 in Iowa.

3. Reversing the decision of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in locating and constructing Interstate 35 in Iowa along the Mason City routing and so that the route will be parallel to U.S. 69.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the following: The presiding officer of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, the Secretary of Commerce of the United States, the Chief Highway Administrator of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the Iowa delegation of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, and the chairman of the Iowa Highway Commission.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 20

By: Coleman and Kruck

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE HOUSE CONCURRING: That the commissioner of public safety be instructed to approve containers or holders for vehicle registration certificates, similar to those issued prior to the containers issued for the 1967 vehicle registration certificates.

A communication was received announcing that on March 9, 1967, the Governor approved the following bills: House Files 43 and 60; and on March 10, 1967, Senate Files 12, 17, 25, 51, 146, 151 and 206.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Petersen of Dallas, from the committee on tax revision, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker: Your committee on tax revision, to whom was referred Senate File 101, a bill for an act providing for a deduction not to exceed one hundred (100) dollars for contributions to a recognized political party or parties of the taxpayers choice in computing taxable income, begs leave to report it has had the same under consideration and has instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass.

Amend Senate File 101 as follows:

1. Amend section one (1), line three (3), by striking the word "subsection" and inserting the word "paragraph".

PETERSEN of Dallas

AMENDMENTS FILED

Amend Senate File 126, Section 1, by inserting after the word "deer" in line 3, the words "with firearms".

OSSIAN of Montgomery

Amend House File 188 as follows:

1. By adding after Section 1 the following new section:

"Nothing in this Act shall affect proposed rights of way which parallel existing diagonal rights of way, such as railroads, rivers, or existing highways."

2. By renumbering the remaining sections.

CONKLIN of Black Hawk
STORY of Black Hawk

Amend House File 273, Section 2, by adding thereto the following:

- "3. By striking from line ten (10) the words 'or preventing conception'".

JOHNSTON of Polk

Amend House File 289 by striking all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. Section four hundred nineteen point nine (419.9), Code 1966, is hereby amended by striking all of said section following the word "shall" in line three (3) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "conduct a public hearing on the proposal to issue said bonds. Notice of intention to issue the bonds, specifying the amount and purpose thereof and the time and place of hearing, shall be published at least once not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the date fixed for the hearing in a newspaper published and having a general circulation within the municipality. If there is no newspaper published therein, the notice shall be published in a newspaper published in the county and having a general circulation in the municipality. At the time and place fixed for the public hearing the governing body of the municipality shall give all local residents who appear at the hearing an opportunity to express their views for or against the proposal to issue the bonds and at the hearing, or any adjournment thereof, shall adopt a resolution determining whether or not to proceed with the issuance of the bonds."

Sec. 2. Section four hundred nineteen point thirteen (419.13), Code 1966, is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The provisions of sections twenty-three point twelve (23.12) to twenty-three point sixteen (23.16) inclusive, Code 1966, and of chapter four hundred eight A (408A), Code 1966, shall not apply to bonds issued under the provisions of this chapter."

BY COMMITTEE ON STATE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT

EXPLANATION

The principal and interest of all bonds issued under Chapter 419 (Municipal Support of Industrial Projects) are payable solely from the revenue received by the municipality in leasing the project so financed. The bonds do not constitute an indebtedness of the municipality, are not a charge against its credit or taxing powers, no tax revenue is to be used in maintaining the bonds and thus the citizens and property owners of the municipality are not to be taxed to support them. Therefore there is no need for an election as there is no general obligation of the municipality involved. This bill provides for a full public hearing to be held after published notice at which all residents will have an opportunity to express themselves instead of an election. The present law defeats its purpose of bringing in new industry by limiting the number of industries that may come into a community under it. This bill corrects this situation.

Amend House File 131 by striking lines 4 through 9 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

“Provided that any person who has an apprenticeship certificate and serves as a barber in the armed forces during his apprenticeship period may, upon verifying satisfactory proof thereof to the examining board, have such service time credited toward the necessary eighteen (18) months apprenticeship.”

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHIEF CLERK

THE UNDER SECRETARY OF COMMERCE
FOR TRANSPORTATION

WASHINGTON, 25, D.C.

Honorable Maurice E. Baringer
Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa
Des Moines, Iowa

Dear Mr. Baringer:

President Johnson has asked that I acknowledge and thank you for the House Resolution of the State of Iowa, concerning the current reduction in Federal highway funds for fiscal year 1967.

You will be pleased to learn that based upon the experience in the highway construction cost-price index as well as other economic indicators in our economy, we have come to certain policy and program conclusions and decisions as follows:

1. Examination and careful consideration of the need for an additional $400 million deferral in highway construction obligations show that such action is not now necessary.

2. A total of $175 million of deferred funds was released on February 28 for preliminary engineering and right-of-way acquisition
 - . . . to take care of safety and other pressing problems, and
 - . . . to enable the States to move ahead rapidly with construction once the deferred funds are released.
3. A full annual program level of $4.4 billion will be put into effect with the start of the new fiscal year on July 1.
4. Additional amounts of the deferred funds will be released as soon as the economic situation warrants. If the moderation in economic activity and in price trends--including highway prices--which has characterized the past several months continues, additional funds can be released this fiscal year.

Please be assured that our overall review of the highway program will continue and we hope as you do that further relaxation of the present restrictions on Federal funds will be permitted at an early date.

Sincerely yours,

LOWELL K. BRIDWELL
Acting Under Secretary
for Transportation

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 25

By Denman, Kibble, Dodds and Mills

WHEREAS, there is mutual agreement between the House and the Senate that for the best interests of the people of Iowa a just decision must be reached this session on the matter of reapportionment; and

WHEREAS, it is the obligation of individual members of the Iowa Senate and House to indicate their position on reapportionment; and

WHEREAS, it is the obligation of the Democratic and Republican members of the Iowa House and Senate acting as representatives of their respective political parties to express the position of their respective parties on future action affecting legislative apportionment in Iowa,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE HOUSE CONCURRING:

That those members of the Iowa House and Iowa Senate casting an affirmative vote for this resolution pledge themselves as individuals and as representatives of their political parties to support the following:

(1) That the Iowa House of Representatives and the Iowa Senate in passing the "1965 Permanent Apportionment Plan" and in passing for the first time a constitutional amendment requiring mandatory single member districts do not, by inference or intent, modify or amend Article I, Section six (6), of the Constitution of Iowa but rather seek to support and to conform with the decision of the Supreme Court of Iowa in the case of Kruidenier vs. McCulloch, dated April 15, 1966. It is specifically understood and agreed that Article I, Section six (6), of the Constitution of Iowa requires and will continue to require that each legislator be elected from a single member district after the "1965 Permanent Apportionment Plan" becomes effective.

(2) That the members of the Iowa Senate and Iowa House acting both as individuals and as spokesmen for their respective political parties, hereby pledge themselves to support the passage of the "1965 Permanent Apportionment Plan" when submitted to the people for ratification at the 1968 general election.

(3) That the members of the Iowa Senate and the Iowa House acting both as the individuals and as spokesmen for their respective political parties, hereby pledge themselves to support a reapportionment plan in the 63rd General Assembly that will conform with the "1965 Permanent Apportionment Plan" if the permanent apportionment plan is approved and ratified by the people of Iowa. In any event, they further pledge themselves to support a reduction in the size of the legislature, to no more than fifty (50) Senators and no more than one hundred (100) Representatives, effective for the nomination and election of legislators in 1970.

(4) That the members of the Iowa Senate and the Iowa House acting both as individuals and as spokesmen for their respective political parties, hereby pledge themselves to support second passage of the constitutional amendment requiring mandatory single member districts in the 63rd General Assembly, and support its passage when submitted to the people for approval and ratification at a special election in 1969.

(5) That the 62nd General Assembly shall enact a temporary plan which subdivides multi-member districts into single member districts based on present size of the general assembly and preserving current terms, and such plan shall be valid only for the 1968 General Election and any special election necessary to fill a vacancy in the 63rd General Assembly, if the "1965 Permanent Apportionment Plan" is approved and ratified by the people. A commission shall be created to submit such a plan to this General Assembly at the earliest possible date.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHIEF CLERK

AMERICAN JUSTICE ASSOCIATION
(A.D.C. Incorporated Non-Profit Organization)

Defense Highway
Gambrills, Maryland
21054

March 18, 1967

To All Members of the Iowa State Legislature,
State Capitol,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

A few years from now, (we hope far less), it will not be uncommon for an act so gracious as your recent gesture on behalf of Mrs. June Franklin and her husband, to be newsworthy simply because of its racial implication. We believe it is ALWAYS newsworthy whenever the legislators of our states, the legislators of our Federal government, OR AVERAGE AMERICAN citizens go out of their ORDINARY ROUTINE to show a little EXTRA kindness, courtesy and consideration for ANY of their fellow human beings, be they plumbers, truckdrivers, stevedors, doctors, lawyers, or legislators!

Thank God, that after years and years, Americans in every walk of life are at last recognizing the fact that when there is an opportunity to do GOOD for someone, regardless of who they are, it is IMPORTANT that we DO IT, whether we get public notice, or not! In this instance, I am thankful that no matter what "implications" prompted the item in today's Washington Post about your kindness and sincerity toward Mr. and Mrs. Franklin, by helping finance their trip to Washington, you DID IT!

And for the benefit of the world, I hope your action will be noted in every legislature in the country!

Sincerely,
Marshall B. Goding-Director.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 8

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa relating to the composition of the General Assembly, the basis of representation of the members thereof, and the establishment of congressional districts.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa is hereby proposed.

Section six (6) of Article three (III), section thirty-four (34) of Article three (III) and the 1904 and 1928 amendments thereto, sections thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) of Article three (III) and the 1904 amendment to each such section, and section thirty-seven (37) of Article three (III) are hereby repealed and the following adopted in lieu thereof:

"Section 6. The number of senators shall total not more than one-half (1/2) the membership of the house of representatives. Senators shall be classified so that as nearly as possible one-half (1/2) of the members of the senate shall be elected every two (2) years.

"Section 34. The senate shall be composed of not more than fifty (50) and the house of representatives of not more than one hundred (100) members. Senators and representatives shall be elected from districts established by law. Each district so established shall be of compact and contiguous territory. The state shall be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts on the basis of population. The general assembly may provide by law for factors in addition to population, not in conflict with the constitution of the United States, which may be considered in the apportioning of senatorial districts. No law so adopted shall permit the establishment of senatorial districts whereby a majority of the members of the senate shall represent less than forty (40) percent of the population of the state as shown by the most recent United States decennial census.

"Section 35. The general assembly shall in 1971 and in each year immediately following the United States decennial census determine the number of senators and representatives to be elected to the general assembly and establish senatorial and representative districts. The general assembly shall complete the apportionment prior to September 1 of the year so required. If the apportionment fails to become law prior to September 15 of such year, the supreme court shall cause the state to be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts to comply with the requirements of the constitution prior to December 31 of such year. The reapportioning authority shall, where necessary in establishing senatorial districts, shorten the term of any senator prior to completion of the term. Any senator whose term is so terminated shall not be compensated for the uncompleted part of the term.

"Section 36. Upon verified application by any qualified elector, the supreme court shall review an apportionment plan adopted by the general assembly which has been enacted into law. Should the supreme court determine such plan does not comply with the requirements of the constitution, the court shall within ninety (90) days adopt or cause to be adopted an apportionment plan which shall so comply. The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction of all litigation questioning the apportionment of the general assembly or any apportionment plan adopted by the general assembly."

"Section 37. When a congressional district is composed of two (2) or more counties it shall not be entirely separated by a county belonging to another district and no county shall be divided in forming a congressional district."

Sec. 2. The foregoing proposed amendment, having been adopted and agreed to by the Sixty-first (61st) General Assembly, thereafter duly published, and now adopted and agreed to by the Sixty-second (62nd) General Assembly in this Joint Resolution, shall be submitted to the people of the State of Iowa at the general election in November of the year nineteen hundred sixty-eight (1968) in the manner required by the Constitution of the State of Iowa and the laws of the State of Iowa.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT

I voted against the conference committee report on House Joint Resolution 10 for the following reasons:

It delays the reduction in the size of the General Assembly until 1970.

It continues the present system of malapportionment which has existed in Iowa since adoption of "Temporary Reapportionment" by the 60th extra-ordinary session of the legislature.

DON E. BAKER

ON

AND

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 8

I voted "Nay" on Senate Concurrent Resolution 25 and Senate Joint Resolution 8. As a representative of the people of the County of Black Hawk, I cannot accept an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa that makes sub-districting permissive rather than mandatory.

W. CHARLENE CONKLIN

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT

We voted against the Conference Committee Report on House Joint Resolution 10 for the following reasons:

1. It requires a commitment on future members of the Iowa General Assembly, none of which have been elected at this time.

2. It does not guarantee any conformity to recent Supreme Court decisions on reapportionment.

3. It compounds inequities by requiring equal representation in multi-member districts, but does not in any way equalize the population of single member districts.

4. It will be for Iowans a costly approach to the one-man, one-vote principle by requiring two redistricting commissions, and this is based on the premise that the people adopt the 1965 reapportionment at a special election in 1968.

5. Finally, if we are truly sincere in giving the people of Iowa fair and equal representation then the most efficient method would have been to have enacted a temporary reapportionment act which would require that it be done in time for the general election of 1968.

SENATE AMENDMENT CONSIDERED

(HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 3)

Story of Black Hawk called up for consideration House Concurrent Resolution 3, a concurrent resolution urging the Congress of the United States to inaugurate a program of tax-sharing with the States whereby the local government may have the necessary resources to solve local problems unhampered by restrictions imposed by legislators not familiar with the particulars involved in each community, amended by the Senate, and moved that the House concur in the following Senate amendment:

Amend House Concurrent Resolution 3 by substituting in lieu thereof the following:

WHEREAS, the mobility of individuals and the free flow of commerce have placed unforeseen demands upon state and local governments in our federal system; and

WHEREAS, the vigor and responsiveness of state and local governments are essential elements of our governmental system; and

WHEREAS, existing categorical federal aid programs in many instances impede state and local governments from meeting priority public needs in a manner effectively suited to the varying problems and needs of individual state and local governments; and

WHEREAS, the principle of tax sharing would allow state and local governments more adequate revenue sources, NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE OF THE 62ND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA, THE SENATE CONCURRING:

That the Legislature of the State of Iowa urge that the federal government adopt new federal intergovernmental fiscal policies which reflect a basic change in emphasis, giving more discretion and responsibility to state and local governments and moving away from the over-reliance on national controls under the very large number of existing categorical federal grant-in-aid programs; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Legislature of the State of Iowa specifically endorses the principle of tax sharing and the principle of block grants, consolidating existing federal categorical grants-in-aid, to partially or wholly offset federal categorical grant-in-aid programs which now exist or may be developed in the future.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to each of the members of the Iowa delegation in Congress.

JOINT CONVENTION

TO HONOR PIONEER LAWMAKERS

In accordance with law and House Concurrent Resolution 10 duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Fulton presiding.

President Fulton announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

President Fulton extended his personal welcome to the Pioneer Lawmakers and presented to the joint convention Senator George O'Malley of Polk, who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the Senate with the following remarks:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association, Members of the Joint Convention and Guests:

The time has arrived when we can again with sincerity say that it is a distinct privilege to extend to the Pioneer Lawmakers a very hearty welcome from the Sixty-second General Assembly and particularly the Senate. I am pleased to see so many back here greeting old comrades with enthusiasm and telling how they did it in the days of yore.

I'd like to say that the time is fast approaching and it won't be too long until I will be eligible to become a Pioneer Lawmaker and, the Lord willing, I hope to attend many of your future meetings in the days to come.

I think you will find that the legislative processes are as stimulating today as they were in the past when you were the leaders and when you were the protagonists on one side or the other. However, I can assure you the speeches are not any shorter.

Two years ago I mentioned the revolutionary change as to confirmations by the Senate being open. It has worked well. This very day in less than one hour we confirmed nine appointments.

Certainly one of the most cherished honors that can come to any citizen in this state is to have had the privilege to serve in the legislature and observe the dedication which the members display in considering various pieces of legislation.

It is a privilege of the highest degree to represent the people of Iowa in any General Assembly and I know it is one of the most cherished traditions that you veterans have to reminisce about.

We, the lawmakers of today, commend you, the lawmakers of yesterday, for the work you have done in the passing of legislation which you considered to be in the public interest. It appears that you came to grips with many problems of your day such as the ever present one of taxes, and of course we have the same problems this session, but in a greater degree, in addition to the matter of governmental reform and hoping once and for all, laying to rest, if possible, the matter of reapportionment.

It is encouraging to see so many of you here and I hope that you all will be available to return to the next lawmakers meeting two years hence.

Thank you.

President Fulton presented to the joint convention Representative Lester L. Kluever of Cass who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the House with the following remarks:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Pioneer Law-makers Association, Members of the Joint Convention and Guests:

For and on behalf of the House I welcome the Pioneer Lawmakers.

It is nice to have you meet with us. We know, or know of, many of you for your services to our State in former years.

Your interest in returning to the scene of your former official duties testifies to the satisfaction one gains from an honest and sincere desire to serve our State. It gives us hope that we who are presently serving will some day have that pleasure.

Your continued interest in the affairs of our State is assurance that your counsel and advice can be of great benefit to us.

We are happy you have such an organization, hope you have a profitable meeting and we hope to join you in the not too distant time.

Good health and happiness to all of you.

President Fulton presented to the joint convention the Honorable DeVere Watson, former member of the Senate from Pottawattamie County, and now President of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association of Iowa, who introduced Don Reid, Managing Director of the Iowa Press Association.

Mr. Reid briefly addressed the convention.

The Honorable DeVere Watson introduced to the joint convention the Honorable M. F. Hicklin, former member of the House from Louisa County, President of the Pioneer Lawmakers for the coming year.

ANDERSEN of Woodbury

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENT

The purpose of H.F. 272 is to permit wood construction of three-story multiple dwelling in accord with modern practice. This bill was checked by building officials of several cities operating under the state housing law and the principle was endorsed except that the bill was incomplete, thus failing its purpose of permitting such three-story structures in the manner of nationally recognized building codes. A phone call with the building inspector of Sioux City resulted in the proposed amendment ideas which have been reviewed by those other building departments affected and deemed acceptable from the fire safety standpoint, which the bill as introduced was not. With the amendment the bill will permit three-story structures using one-hour fire-resistive construction rather than the unnecessarily restrictive fire-resistive construction now required by existing law.

One-hour fire-resistive construction is achieved by using 5/8" gypsum board facing of wood frame construction. The present law requires brick, tile or concrete construction with only a little wood trim permitted on the three story structures for which this bill was written.
